WATKINS BELL TOWER (1934)

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY COLLEGE

Hampden-Sydney College is a liberal arts college for men now enrolling 970 students. In continuous operation since November 1775, the College is the tenth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States in terms of its founding date and the oldest of the country's few remaining all-male colleges. The College is affiliated with the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

Hampden-Sydney is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and is a member of the Association of Virginia Colleges, the Association of American Colleges, the Southern University Conference, the College Entrance Examination Board, the American Chemical Society, and the College Scholarship Service.

Hampden-Sydney is a lively community seeking "to form good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning," as the original announcement of the College stated.

The College aims to instill in its students a commitment to sound scholarship through studies in the natural sciences, the humanities, and the social sciences; to cultivate qualities of character and moral discernment rooted in the Judeo-Christian tradition; to develop clear thinking and expression; to promote an understanding of the world and our place in it; to impart a comprehension of social institutions as a basis for intelligent citizenship and responsible leadership in a democracy; to prepare those with special interests and capacities for graduate and professional study; and to equip graduates for a rewarding and productive life.

There are 81 members of the full-time teaching faculty, highly motivated and dedicated to teaching, for a student-faculty ratio of about 13:1. Nearly half of the graduating seniors enter graduate or professional school.

Part of the 820-acre campus, picturesquely set in Virginia's historic Southside, 70 miles southwest of Richmond, has been designated a National Historic Preservation Zone. Farmville, a town of 6500, is seven miles north. None of the eighteenth-century buildings survives, but the Federal architecture first used in 1817 has been maintained as the dominant style for the campus.

As of 31 March 1997 the endowment portfolios had a market value of approximately $77.5 million. The operating budget for 1997-98 is $25.9 million.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY BEGAN as the southernmost representative of the "Log College" form of higher education established by the Scotch-Irish Presbyterians in America, whose academic ideal was the University of Edinburgh, seat of the Scottish Enlightenment.

The founders, at the suggestion of Dr. Witherspoon, the Scottish president of The College of New Jersey (now Princeton University), chose the name Hampden-Sydney to symbolize their devotion to the principles of representative government and full civil and religious freedom which John Hampden (1594-1643) and Algernon Sydney (1622-1683) had outspokenly supported, and for which they had given their lives, in England's two great constitutional crises of the previous century. They were widely invoked as hero-martyrs by American colonial patriots, and their names immediately associated the College with the cause of independence championed by James Madison, Patrick Henry, and other less well-known but equally vigorous patriots who composed the College's first Board of Trustees. Indeed, the original students eagerly committed themselves to the revolutionary effort, organized a militia-company, drilled regularly, and went off to the defenses of Williamsburg and of Petersburg, in 1777 and 1778 respectively. Their uniform of hunting-shirts—dyed purple with the juice of pokeberries—and grey trousers justifies the College's traditional colors, garnet and grey.

The College, first proposed in 1771, was formally organized in February 1775, when the Presbytery of Hanover, meeting at Nathaniel Venable's Slate Hill plantation (about two miles south of the present campus), accepted a gift of one hundred acres for the College, elected Trustees (most of whom were Episcopalian), and named as Rector (later President) the Rev. Samuel Stanhope Smith, valedictorian of the Princeton class of 1769, who had been actively promoting the idea of establishing a college in the heavily Scotch-Irish area of south-central Virginia since he began his ministry there in 1774. Within only ten months, Smith secured an adequate subscription of funds and an enrollment of 110 students. Intending to model the new college after his own alma mater, he journeyed to Princeton to secure the founding faculty, which included his younger brother, John Blair Smith. On that 1775 trip he also visited Philadelphia to enlist support and to purchase a library and scientific apparatus. Students and faculty gathered for the opening of the first winter term on 10 November 1775. The College has never suspended operations.

Early fund-raising efforts were varied (they included a state-sanctioned lottery) and vigorous; despite war-time inflation and other economic dislocations, financial support of and general interest in the College were sufficient guarantees of its viability that in 1783 the General Assembly granted by statute a charter of incorporation, partly written by Patrick Henry.

In its first fifty years the College prospered and gained the respect of the public and of the educational world. As early as the 1790s its influence was being felt elsewhere, as alumni and former presidents and faculty members began founding or organizing other institutions, including Union College, New York (1795), by ex-President J. B. Smith; Princeton Seminary (1812), by ex-President Archibald Alexander; and the University of Virginia (1819), by Joseph Carrington Cabell, class of 1800. The Medical College of Virginia was established (1838) at Richmond as the medical department of Hampden-Sydney; Union Theological Seminary of Virginia (1822) was founded at Hampden-Sydney and occupied the south end of the present campus for some seventy-five years before its relocation in Richmond.

The College matured physically and academically through the first half of the nineteenth century, enjoying the services of some remarkably gifted leaders. Jonathan P. Cushing, a Dartmouth man and the first layman and first non-Presbyterian to be president, oversaw during his fourteen-year tenure (1821-1835) the abandonment of the College's original buildings in favor of the handsome Federal architecture which still distinguishes the campus; his greatest physical monument, Cushing Hall, which once housed the entire College operation, is currently undergoing renovation. The world-renowned chemist, Dr. John W. Draper, who built the first camera to photograph a living person, was professor at Hampden-Sydney from 1836 to 1839.

Religious controversy, the nation's and Virginia's economic troubles, and the Civil War and its aftermath were for two generations the testing-fires of Hampden-Sydney as a stronghold of academic quality. Fortunately for the College, the longest-tenured of its presidents, the able and dedicated J. M. P. Atkinson, served from before the War through Reconstruction (1857-1883); he performed the remarkable feat of keeping the College solvent, while insistently upholding both disciplinary and academic standards. Once again, at the outset of war the student body organized a company, with the president as captain. These men, officially mustered as Company G, 20th Virginia Regiment, "The Hampden-Sydney Boys," saw action in the disaster of Rich Mountain (10 July 1861), were captured, and were paroled by General George B. McClellan on the condition that they return to their studies.

During the presidencies of Dr. Atkinson and his eminent successor, Dr. Richard McIlwaine, many features of current student life were introduced—social fraternities, sports, and student government, for example; other student activities flourished at their highest level, such as the literary, or debating, societies and musical clubs. In addition, in 1898 the Seminary moved to Richmond and a most generous alumnus, Major R. M. Venable, class of 1857, bought its buildings and gave them to the College, doubling the physical plant. Academic offerings were expanded, strengthening the coherent tradition of liberal education which had become the hallmark of the College.

The twentieth century has seen the College expand its academic offerings, while adhering to its liberal arts curriculum. The Rhetoric Program, with its emphasis on ensuring that all graduates write clearly, cogently, and grammatically, has been recognized generally as a major enhancement of the academic program. The Honors Program, which has doubled the number of its participants in recent years, has attracted to the College outstanding students from across the country. Offerings in the Fine Arts have been expanded, and there is now a major in Fine Arts. Most recently, the College established the Center for Leadership in the Public Interest, which involves students, faculty, and the community in a wide variety of public-service and civic-education programs. Included is the Public Service Certificate Program, in which students combine courses in ethics, economics, and political science in preparing for significant roles in government. In addition, the Hampden-Sydney Music Festival, with its combination of public performances by professional musicians and coaching sessions for budding artists, has achieved national renown. A series of major symposia, beginning with one on the Vietnam War, which brought to the campus major figures in the war—both civilian and military—was instituted in the early part of the current decade. The College has also seen considerable building and other developments that have provided the facilities and personnel to continue its distinguished program. In recent years major projects involving renovation of older buildings and construction of new buildings—the latter including dormitories and a dining hall—have resulted in a modern campus that combines the beauty of the rural setting and the Federal architectural style with modern conveniences and up-to-date technology. The College provides an ideal living and learning environment for young men preparing for the 21st century.

Academic, social, and cultural programs of the College continue to be enriched, and Hampden-Sydney looks ahead with a wholesome optimism, bred of a sober integrity of mission coupled with a history of sound development, and made possible by an extraordinary succession of leaders and benefactors of rare ability, commitment, and vision.

Academic Program

In keeping with the original announcement of the College, Hampden-Sydney seeks "to form good men and good citizens in an atmosphere of sound learning." The College is committed to the development of humane and lettered men and to the belief that a liberal education provides the best foundation not only for a professional career, but for the great intellectual and moral challenges of life. In an age of specialization, Hampden-Sydney responds to the call for well-rounded men who are educated in world cultures and can bring to bear on modern life the wisdom of the past. The College seeks to awaken intellectual potential in a search for truth that extends beyond the undergraduate experience. The College encourages each student to develop clarity and objectivity in thought, a sensitive moral conscience, and a dedication to responsible citizenship.

The liberal education offered at Hampden-Sydney prepares the student for the fulfillment of freedom. It introduces the student to general principles and areas of knowledge which develop minds and characters capable of making enlightened choices between truth and error, between right and wrong. The mere facts about a subject do not speak for themselves. They must be interpreted against a background of ideas derived from an understanding of the nature of logic, language, and ethics. The individual who is educated in these areas and in the basic disciplines is able to confront any event with true freedom to act, outside the constraints of prejudice and impulse. Thus Hampden-Sydney's curriculum is directed toward the cultivation of a literate, articulate, and critical mind through the study of the sciences, the humanities, and the social sciences. It provides both breadth and depth in learning and encourages independent programs of study. Believing that education should be a liberating experience emancipating men from ignorance, Hampden-Sydney strives to make men truly free.

CAREER PREPARATION

Because liberal education stresses breadth of learning rather than narrow specialization, Hampden-Sydney students are prepared for a variety of career choices. Those students who wish to enter graduate school or one of the professions requiring training beyond the undergraduate level will find appropriate educational opportunities, academic programs, and guidance at Hampden-Sydney.

GRADUATE STUDY

Students who plan to pursue graduate work maintain close liaison with members of the faculty in the area in which they plan to continue their education. To gain admission to graduate school, an applicant is expected to have done undergraduate work of high quality. A reading knowledge of at least one modern foreign language is usually required for the Ph.D. degree, and the applicant must score well on the Graduate Record Examination. For more specific requirements, students should consult the catalogues of graduate schools to which they are interested in applying.

BUSINESS

Liberal education at Hampden-Sydney establishes a strong and broad educational foundation appropriate to later work in business. Whatever a student's major department may be, he learns the skills essential to working in any business and develops an understanding of his society and the people with whom he deals.

Hampden-Sydney graduates have entered the fields of business from every major program of the College. Many prepare for business careers by electing a major in Economics, especially in the Management Economics program. Some, from Economics and other disciplines, continue their education in Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) graduate programs. Students interested in careers in business or study in an M.B.A. program should contact the chair of the Department of Economics, Professor Gibson.

THE CHRISTIAN MINISTRY

Hampden-Sydney provides an excellent foundation for those who wish to become Christian ministers. Theological seminaries do not specify particular courses as prerequisites for admission, but instead urge those who contemplate entering the Christian ministry to take a broadly based selection of courses in the humanities and in the social and natural sciences. While not requiring Hebrew and Greek for admission, many seminaries recommend that a prospective minister acquire in his undergraduate training a working knowledge of those languages.

ENGINEERING

Hampden-Sydney's programs in the natural sciences, mathematics, and computer science offer exceptional preparation for careers in engineering. The College fosters successful dual-degree programs with Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University and the University of Virginia. The College offers a solid core of subjects that provide a foundation for many engineering specialties. Hampden-Sydney's small classes and opportunities for close student-faculty contact strengthen that foundation.

Students interested in a career in engineering should see Professor Cheyne in the Department of Physics or Professor Porterfield in the Department of Chemistry early in their freshman year.

GOVERNMENT

The academic program of the College is ideal for preparing students for public service. Students from all majors have entered careers in government or other public arenas. One path to such a career is the Public Service Certificate Program, a part of the Center for Leadership in the Public Interest (below), which combines course in ethics, economics, and political science, as well as an internship, in preparing students for significant roles in government.

LAW

Students planning a career in law are encouraged to follow a broad, liberal course of study. In fact, the Association of American Law Schools recommends liberal education because "many of the goals of legal education are also the goals of liberal education." A program of study in which students develop the habits of thoroughness, intellectual curiosity, logical thinking, analysis of social institutions, and clarity of expression is strongly recommended. Those skills are employed throughout the liberal arts curriculum in the study of ethics, history, rhetoric, literature, politics, mathematics, the sciences, and languages.

At Hampden-Sydney, the Pre-Law Society guides and assists students in preparing for law school and the legal profession. The Society disseminates information about admission to law schools and about preparation for the Law School Admission Test (LSAT); it also brings to the College guest speakers to discuss legal issues, sponsors visiting lecturers, and arranges trips to visit courts in session. Students interested in a law career should get in touch with Professor David Marion in the Department of Political Science.

MEDICINE AND DENTISTRY

A liberal arts education such as that offered by Hampden-Sydney is excellent preparation for those students who wish to pursue medical training and careers in the medical professions. According to recent editions of Medical School Admissions Requirements (MSAR), published by the Association of American Medical Colleges, all medical schools "recognize the importance of a broad education—a strong foundation in the natural sciences (biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics), highly developed communication skills, and a solid background in the social sciences and humanities."

A majority of medical and dental applicants major in science, though the choice of major of itself has no influence on chances for acceptance by a medical school. Again according to MSAR, "The medical profession seeks individuals from diverse educational backgrounds who will bring to the profession a variety of talents and interests." Students with strong interests in two fields sometimes elect a double major.

Whatever his major and choice of electives, the student should choose each semester a challenging curriculum that assists in his rapid development and builds a strong record for admission. Virtually all U.S. medical and dental schools require at least two semesters each of basic courses, with laboratories, in biology, chemistry, and physics. A candidate's performance in these courses generally carries more weight in the admissions process than that in other courses, particularly for the non-science major who has less additional science work for consideration. Certain medical and dental schools list additional required or recommended courses in such fields as mathematics and Rhetoric or English. Students should consult MSAR for the particular requirements of each institution to which they may apply.

Every U.S. medical school requires applicants to take the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) and every dental school the Dental Admissions Test (DAT). The MCAT, given twice a year at Hampden-Sydney, and the DAT, given twice a year in Richmond, are normally first taken in the spring of the junior year.

The Health Sciences Committee of the Faculty advises students on their preparation for medical and dental schools and assists them in the application process. On request, the Committee prepares recommendations for transmittal to all institutions to which the student has applied. Students planning a career in medicine or dentistry should contact the chair of the Committee no later than the spring semester of their freshman year.

SECONDARY-SCHOOL TEACHING

A broadly based liberal education, with a strong major in the field to be taught and supporting courses in related areas, provides an excellent preparation for the individual who wishes not merely to qualify for, but to excel in, teaching at the secondary level. Courses needed to satisfy the certification requirements of the State may be taken at Hampden-Sydney, at Longwood College (through the cooperative program), or at an exchange institution (see page 32). Students who wish to earn full certification should consult Professor Mossler of the Department of Psychology.

EDUCATIONAL SUPPORT FACILITIES AND SERVICES

EGGLESTON LIBRARY AND FUQUA INTERNATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS CENTER

Eggleston Library is an integral resource in the education offered by Hampden-Sydney, with a collection that supports the College's liberal arts curriculum and a staff trained and eager to aid students in its use. The ability to use an academic library with confidence is one of the distinctive marks of an educated person. By means of formal and informal instruction in research methods and bibliography, students are encouraged to progress from the heavy reliance on textbooks and assigned readings characteristic of the freshman to the independent work of the graduate scholar who has learned how to discover and gain maximum benefit from library resources.

Containing more than 200,000 volumes, 785 periodical titles, an extensive media collection, and government documents, the collection is arranged in open stacks accessible by all students. Open 103 hours per week, the Library provides a pleasant environment for study and research. The public-services staff provides assistance weekdays and most evenings, and conducts classes on library research methods. Through the College's centralized computer network, users can access the Library's on-line catalogue, as well as a variety of national and international indexes and databases. Access is available via computers located in the Library itself, in dormitories, and in academic buildings.

The Fuqua International Communications Center (FIIC), located in the lower level of Eggleston Library, houses an extensive collection of sound (audio compact discs, records, books on tapes) and video resources (videotapes and laser discs) for use in the Center or for loan. In encouraging students and faculty to make appropriate use of media, the FIIC meets their particular needs through such services as circulating audio/visual resources, consulting on projects involving instructional technology, and aiding in the production of educational media. Digital image scanning, multimedia production, videotape production/editing, audio/videotape duplication, and satellite video-conference reception are available.

In addition to five small multimedia rooms, the Center houses the Jessie Ball duPont Classroom for use by faculty and students wishing to present media formats (including satellite reception) to larger groups. The Center also provides seven Macintosh computers for general use.

COMPUTING

John Brooks Fuqua Computing Center

Located in the lower level of Johns Auditorium, the John Brooks Fuqua Computing Center contains a variety of computer systems for students to use during their stay at Hampden-Sydney. Two Digital Equipment Corporation Alpha minicomputers serve the college's primary computing needs: One minicomputer runs UNIX to support the library's on-line public catalogue, and the other runs VMS (a type of operating system) to support administrative functions. Current on-line hard-disk storage is 14 gigabytes. In addition, 30 gigabytes of research material is accessible on CD-ROM storage.

Complementing Hampden-Sydney's primary computing systems are two network servers. A Windows NT file server (Gateway Pentium 166) provides access to DOS and Windows applications. An Apple PowerPC 8150 workgroup server provides Macintosh users with application and file support. The college maintains an extensive collection of publicly available software as well as current campus information. These servers are the hub of the campus network. An integrated data-switching center handles the network traffic over fiber-optic cabling which reaches most of the buildings on campus. The local area networks of most buildings are wired on Ethernet topology; others run on LocalTalk. With certain limitations and depending upon the type of computer owned, students can access the network from their dormitory rooms or by using one of the computing laboratories on campus.

The Center can serve 45 students simultaneously with a combination of Apple Macintoshes and PowerPCs, IBM compatibles, and computer terminals. Peripherals include color monitors, laser printers, dot matrix printers, text and graphic scanners, and CD-ROM readers.

Other Computing Laboratories

Smaller laboratories are located in Bagby Hall, Eggleston Library, Gilmer Hall, and Morton Hall. The Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Economics, Mathematics and Computer Science, Philosophy, and Physics and Astronomy, and the Rhetoric Program regularly use computers in their programs of instruction and require students to do assignments on computers. Several of these departments have their own computing facilities.

Software

A variety of software packages to complement all courses is available for the minicomputer and personal computer. ClarisWorks is the standard software package for the Macintosh and includes word processing, spreadsheet, database, and graphics functions. Spreadsheet software available for IBM computers includes Lotus 1-2-3 and Quattro Pro. Presentation and graphics software, as well as discipline-specific software, is also available.

Networking

Hampden-Sydney currently runs three primary networking protocols over a fiber-optic backbone. AppleTalk, IPX, and TCP/IP link Hampden-Sydney internally and to the world. One of the more frequently used features of the college's network is electronic mail (e-mail). Students and faculty have access to e-mail services from any networked computer on campus.

In addition to campus networking, the College is connected to the Internet (a worldwide network connecting over 30,000,000 users) by way of leased lines. Students can access a variety of Internet services directly from any networked computer. Students who live off campus can access the campus network and the Internet by dialing in through PPP (point-to-point protocol) over modems with speeds up to 28.8 BAUD.

The campus network links users with the following Internet services:

On-line library catalogues at university sites throughout the world are instantly available on the Internet.

Databases and research archives are accessible by either World Wide Web or Gopher searches.

Discussion groups provide Internet users forums to discuss topics of common interest. There are thousands of discussion groups from which to choose.

Training

In order to enhance learning at Hampden-Sydney and augment job skills in later years, training in computing is offered. The training begins during freshman orientation with a one-hour session devoted to familiarizing freshmen with various computing and network services. Additional workshops are held as needed to enable students to access the many electronic information resources available to them. Many course assignments requiring the use of computers serve to reinforce computer skills learned during orientation.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

CENTER FOR LEADERSHIP IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

Inaugurated in 1997, the Center for Leadership in the Public Interest focuses campus-wide efforts to motivate and prepare students, alumni, and the people of Southside Virginia to function in an increasingly complex and internationalized world community in a manner that fits with the democratic-republican principles of this country.

The James Madison Concentration in Public Service

One of the programs of the Center for Leadership in the Public Interest is the James Madison Concentration in Public Service for students interested in careers in government. Those who successfully complete the Concentration receive the Public Service Certificate and have their participation noted on their transcripts. Full-time students who wish to take this Concentration are required to complete Interdisciplinary Studies 375 by the end of their junior year. The other courses required for the Concentration are Interdisciplinary Studies 376, and at least three of the following: (1) Economics 231, (2) Philosophy 304 or Religion 309, (3) Political Science 230, (4) Psychology 306 or 311, and (5) Rhetoric 210. In extraordinary circumstances, a student whose project can better be accomplished through pure research can petition the Public Service Program Committee to pursue research in the place of Interdisciplinary Studies 376.

Those who wish to be considered for participation in the Concentration should have a GPA of at least 2.7 and must submit an application, including an essay, to the Director of the Public Service Program, Professor David Marion of the Department of Political Science, by April 1 preceding the fall in which they wish to begin the program. For additional information, students should get in touch with Professor Marion.

THE HONORS PROGRAM

The Honors Program is designed for the student who has given evidence of a high degree of intellectual curiosity, independence of thought, excitement about learning, and appreciation of knowledge—for the student who brings out the best in his fellow students and his teachers alike. Participants in the program are encouraged to take an active role in the learning process, entering into dialogue with their professors and their classmates.

With its small classes and excellent faculty, Hampden-Sydney provides a first-rate learning environment for such active, engaged students. Participation in Honors work is limited to recipients of merit scholarships and to other demonstrably superior students who apply for membership in the program. Entrance into any phase of the program is subject to the approval of the Honors Council. Interested students should contact the Director of the Honors Council, Professor Frye.

The program includes the following components, each an independent entity:

Honors 101-102, Introductory Honors:

Seminars for freshman merit scholars, consisting of one course per semester for two semesters. The cross-disciplinary Honors seminar is taught jointly by two instructors normally drawn from two of the College's three divisions (Humanities, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences). Four-fifths of the student's course work in the freshman year is taken in the broader curriculum of the College.

Student Summer Research Program: Research grants awarded to rising sophomores, juniors, or seniors who show exceptional promise as independent researchers. Application is made to the Honors Council.

Departmental Honors: Departmental Honors promotes independence, self-reliant study, and appreciation of the relationship between the particular concerns of an academic discipline and the broader spectrum of the liberal arts. Qualified juniors and seniors may apply to pursue Departmental Honors within the department of their major. If a student is pursuing a double major, he may devise a Cross-Disciplinary Honors project that draws on his work in both disciplines. Ordinarily, a student who wishes to pursue Departmental Honors or Cross-Disciplinary Honors must have achieved an overall academic average of at least 3.0 with an average of at least 3.3 in the department(s) of his major(s).

Departmental Honors work includes from six to twelve credit hours in specially designed courses and independent study. Credit is given for laboratory work. Like students pursuing Honors within a single department, students undertaking a Cross-Disciplinary Honors project may receive credit for specially designed courses and independent study, which may be located in a single department or officially registered under the rubric of Interdisciplinary Studies. Credit hours will reflect the extent of the interdisciplinary work undertaken. (Note: A three-hour independent study housed in one of the student's majors will not also count as a three-hour course in the other major. If a student pursuing Cross-Disciplinary Honors wishes to earn six hours of course credit, he must devise an independent study that is worthy of six hours' credit.) Specific requirements and eligibility are established by individual departments, in conjunction with the Honors Council.

Interested students should consult the Chair(s) of the appropriate department(s) or the Director of the Honors Program, Professor Frye.

Senior Fellowship: The Senior Fellowship is intended to be a cross-disciplinary course of study not easily housed within a single major and not easily accomplished through a sequence of regular courses in several majors. The Senior Fellowship emphasizes breadth as well as depth of study and thus is different from departmental honors projects housed within a major.

In the spring of their junior year a group of men is selected to be Senior Fellows for the following year. These men must demonstrate the maturity, intellectual competence, and imaginative curiosity to warrant their pursuit of a program of independent study contributing to their own enrichment and that of the College. The Fellows are permitted the maximum amount of freedom consonant with the satisfactory development and completion of their personal projects. That freedom can include the waiving of conventional upper-division requirements in the Fellow's major or majors, though applicants for the Senior Fellowship must complete all proficiency and distribution requirements in the curriculum. The strongest applicants for the Senior Fellowship will have completed most, if not all, such requirements by the end of the junior year. Each Senior Fellow will work closely with an advisor in executing his program of study. The essence of the Senior Fellowship program is responsible individualism. Within a reasonable academic framework, the student is offered an unexcelled opportunity for personal intellectual fulfillment.

As a necessary part of the Senior Fellowship program, students enroll in Honors 499-500, in which they undertake at least six and at most fifteen hours of independent research during each semester of the senior year (for a year's total of between twelve and thirty hours).

Each Senior Fellow is supervised by an advisory committee comprised of the advisor and chair of the committee, an instructor in the student's major who works closely with the student and who is responsible for convening regular meetings of the committee; possibly a second instructor in the student's major or second major; an instructor from a discipline pertinent to the student's work; and a member of the Honors Council.

Selection of the Fellows, who normally must have earned a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.5, is made by the President on the recommendation of the Honors Council. The Council will provide general supervision of all programs and may prescribe certain requirements for the Fellows. Also, the Council must certify at year's end that the program of study undertaken has been successfully completed.

Members of the junior class may become candidates for Senior Fellowships by individual application or on nomination by any member of the faculty. Each candidate must file his application with the Director of the Honors Program during the first few weeks of the second semester. Senior Fellows pay full tuition.

AREA CONCENTRATION IN INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Students with a particular interest in international studies may elect to follow, in addition to the regular academic major, a coherent pattern of internationally oriented courses and related requirements leading to a Certificate in International Studies. Requirements include (1) a minimum of ten courses from a broad list drawn from the humanities and the social and natural sciences, selected from a minimum of four departments, with no more than three of the ten from any single department; (2) a "capstone" course consisting of an independent study project and a one-credit-hour interdisciplinary seminar for all students involved in capstone projects, wherein participants will give frequent reports on their research; and (3) a summer, semester, or year of foreign study. Students should normally declare their intention to undertake this program by formal application at the end of the sophomore year. Interested students should consult the chair of the International Studies Committee of the Faculty.

INTERNSHIPS

Students may receive academic credit for internships related to their academic fields of study. Internships combine work done normally in the summer before the student's senior year with ongoing course work and the production of a substantial research paper on a related issue. See under Course Offerings: Special Topics, Independent Study, and Internships.

MAY TERM

Hampden-Sydney conducts a one-month May Term starting one to two weeks after Commencement. One of its purposes is to provide students with an opportunity to take courses which are experimental in content or presentation, particularly those which require extensive time off campus. These special summer courses carry regular academic credit. In addition, certain courses offered during the regular session are also offered during the May Term so that students can accelerate progress toward graduation, meet requirements ahead of schedule, or repeat courses. The maximum load that a student may carry during the May Term is two courses (with any corequisite laboratories). Fees are charged by the course-hour. Students may live in Hampden-Sydney dormitories, and all College facilities are available for their use.

Students who are in good standing at Hampden-Sydney or other colleges are eligible for admission to the May Term; those on academic suspension from Hampden-Sydney or another institution are not eligible. Admission to the May Term in no way assures admission to a degree program at Hampden-Sydney College.

Credits earned during the May Term are applicable to degree programs and are transferable to other institutions. For Hampden-Sydney students, grades and quality units will be calculated in the cumulative average after completion of a subsequent full semester. Acceptance of May Term credits by other institutions depends on the policy of those institutions.

The application deadline is usually May 1. Other information and the schedule of courses is available early in the spring semester from the Associate Dean of the Faculty, Professor Pelland.

THE RHETORIC PROGRAM

To ensure that all graduates of the College are able to write clearly, cogently, and grammatically, the faculty in 1978 established the Rhetoric Program. In order to be graduated from the College, a student must satisfy all aspects of the Rhetoric proficiency requirement.

Rhetoric 100, 101, and 102: For students who need intensive training in basic writing and reading skills, the program is a three-course sequence, Rhetoric 100, 101, and 102; for other students, the program consists of a two-course sequence, Rhetoric 101 and 102. If a student performs exceptionally well in Rhetoric 100, he may be exempted from Rhetoric 101 with the consent of the Director of the Program. Entering students who write particularly well may be exempted from Rhetoric 101. Exemption from 102 is granted only to students who have scored four or five on the English Language and Composition examination of the College Board (see pp. 46-47) or transfer students who have earned six hours of credit in writing courses in another college and who pass the Rhetoric Proficiency Examination upon entering Hampden-Sydney College.

Rhetoric Proficiency Examination: Each student must write the proficiency examination in Rhetoric at the end of his sophomore year. The examination is a three-hour timed essay; the completed essays are evaluated by readers drawn from the faculty at large. Those students whose essays are judged unsatisfactory have two additional opportunities to write a satisfactory essay.

Rhetoric 200: Proficiency Tutorial: If a student has not passed the timed Rhetoric Proficiency Examination after three attempts or has completed the equivalent of six semesters of enrollment without passing the examination, he will be enrolled during his next semester in a three-hour, non-credit course, Rhetoric 200: Proficiency Tutorial. In Rhetoric 200 a student writes three essays (8-10 pages each) under the tutelage of an instructor in the Rhetoric Program. A panel of readers drawn from the faculty at large evaluates the finished essays. If the essays are judged adequate, the student has satisfied the College's requirement of proficiency in writing. If the essays are judged inadequate, the student must enroll in the course again.

Any student unable to demonstrate proficiency in writing either by passing the timed essay examination or by successfully completing the requirements of Rhetoric 200 will not be graduated from the College.

This requirement applies equally to all students, whether transfer students or not. Transfer students who expect to receive six credit hours for composition courses taken elsewhere must take and pass the proficiency examination at the beginning of their first semester of residence.

COOPERATIVE PROGRAMS

APPLIED CHEMISTRY COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Students interested in careers in chemical engineering and/or applied chemistry may apply to participate in the Applied Chemistry Cooperative Program of Hampden-Sydney College and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. In the Program, a student spends his first three years majoring in chemistry at Hampden-Sydney and his senior year in the Department of Chemical Engineering at VPI & SU. Upon satisfactory completion of the Program, the student is awarded the B.S. in chemistry by Hampden-Sydney and is then eligible to begin study for the M.S. in chemical engineering at VPI & SU, upon approval by that institution, in a program requiring two summers and one academic year. Students interested in this cooperative engineering program should contact Professor Porterfield in the Department of Chemistry.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM IN ENGINEERING

Hampden-Sydney College offers students interested in a career in engineering the opportunity to earn a Bachelor of Science degree from the College and a Master of Nuclear Engineering, Materials Science and Engineering, or Engineering Physics from the University of Virginia in approximately five years.

After three and one-half years at the College, a student who has completed at least 111 semester hours of work, including all distribution requirements and requirements for a major in Physics, with an overall average of B and a B average in mathematics and science courses, may apply for admission to the School of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Virginia as a conditional graduate student. After completing at least 15 semester hours at the University with a B or better average and scoring at least 1000 on the Graduate Record Examination, the student may be admitted unconditionally to the graduate program.

Fifteen semester hours of work at the University with a grade of C or better will be accepted as transfer credit by Hampden-Sydney; such credit, with the 111 hours already completed at the College, will satisfy the requirements for a bachelor's degree from Hampden-Sydney.

The graduate portion of the program normally requires 12 months of work to obtain the Master of Engineering degree from the University. A Master of Science degree, which requires the writing of a thesis, normally takes one and one-half years. In some instances, the master's degree may be bypassed if a student proceeds to the doctorate.

Interested students should get in touch with Professor Cheyne of the Department of Physics.

EXCHANGE

Hampden-Sydney College participates with Hollins College, Randolph-Macon College, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Sweet Briar College, Mary Baldwin College, and Washington and Lee University in a program known as EXCHANGE: A College Consortium. This program, designed primarily for juniors, enables students of the College to study for a semester or academic year at one of the other schools. The program is intended to broaden the educational opportunities of students and to provide a different campus environment. The eligibility of students to participate in EXCHANGE is determined by the home institution. Interested students should apply to the Registrar.

FOREIGN STUDY

In addition to the College's own academic study-abroad programs, Hampden-Sydney students are eligible to participate and earn academic credits in approved foreign-study programs sponsored by other colleges or educational organizations. These programs offer a variety of opportunities for study in Europe, Central and South America, South and East Asia, and the Middle East.

Students in full-year or semester programs should have earned a minimum of 45 hours with a grade-point average of 2.5 at the time of undertaking foreign study. Ordinarily full-year or semester programs of foreign study are approved from the second semester of the sophomore year through the junior year. Students may participate in summer programs of foreign study at any point in their academic careers as long as they are in good standing at the College.

Grades in courses taken by modern language majors in fulfillment of their major requirement for foreign study are computed as part of their grade-point average. Grades in courses taught in a foreign country by Hampden-Sydney professors and courses offered in a program in which Hampden-Sydney College has policy-making and administrative oversight (e.g., the Virginia Program at Oxford) are also computed in the grade-point average. Hampden-Sydney students will be able to transfer credit hours for all passing work completed at programs endorsed by the International Studies Committee. All other foreign-study courses are considered for transfer credit on an ad hoc basis. Any student who studies abroad is responsible for providing the Registrar's Office with transcripts of the work promptly on completion of the foreign study.

Students should make foreign-study plans in consultation with their academic advisor and the Coordinator of International Study, Ms. Prell. Students should contact the Office of Financial Aid to consider the impact of foreign study on their financial aid. Some financial aid may be available to eligible Hampden-Sydney students wishing to study abroad. Information about foreign-study programs is available from the Office of International Study (Bagby 315).

To encourage and facilitate foreign study, the International Studies Committee of the Faculty approves foreign-study programs in three categories:

Endorsed programs: This is a select list of semester and academic-year programs chosen for their compatibility with the College's goals and curriculum, students' living and classroom status at the host institution, and the location of the programs. Students are expected to take at least one course in the language (where the dominant language is not English) and the culture of the host country. These programs are the principal foreign-study programs recommended to Hampden-Sydney students. Courses in these programs must be approved in advance by the chairs of the academic departments involved. The current listing of endorsed programs is available from the Office of International Study (Bagby 315).

Programs for Modern Language Majors: The Department of Modern Languages endorses certain programs for the purpose of satisfying the foreign-study requirement by its majors. These programs are endorsed for modern language majors and are not necessarily suitable for other students. Students should consult with Professor Woodard of the Department of Modern Languages about these programs.

Supplementary Programs: Interested students arrange individually for approval of participation in programs not specifically endorsed by the College. The burden of demonstrating that a specific program fits the College's goals and is important to the student's educational program lies with the student. Students should contact the Chair of the International Studies Committee of the Faculty prior to applying to any program which is not on the current list of endorsed programs. Students must establish course equivalence with departments on an individual basis. College-administered financial aid is not available for these programs.

Virginia Program at Oxford

Among the endorsed programs is the Virginia Program at Oxford, a six-week summer program at St. Anne's College, Oxford University. Students earn six hours of course credit studying Tudor-Stuart History and Literature the Oxford way, in small tutorials with British faculty supplemented by lectures from many of the best historians and literary scholars in England. Students from Mary Baldwin, Roanoke, and Sweet Briar Colleges, Virginia Military Institute, and Washington and Lee University also participate in the program. For more information, contact Professor Schiffer of the Department of English.

LONGWOOD COLLEGE COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

The variety of courses available to Hampden-Sydney students has been increased by a cooperative arrangement with Longwood College, a state institution in nearby Farmville, under which full-time students at either institution may enroll in certain courses at the other institution without added expense. A list of approved Longwood courses is maintained by the Registrar. Application for a Longwood course is made through the Registrar at Hampden-Sydney, preferably during the Add period at the beginning of each semester. Students are admitted to courses on a space-available basis.

Reserve Officers Training Corps

As part of the Longwood College Cooperative Program, Hampden-Sydney students may enroll in the Reserve Officers Training Corps program. Application for Military Science courses is made through the Registrar at Hampden-Sydney, just as for any other course at Longwood. Such courses are recorded on the student's transcript. However, Military Science courses do not count as hours toward graduation, nor are grades earned in them computed in the student's grade-point average. The ROTC courses offered at Longwood are:

Military Science 101. Introduction to the Military. A general introductory course which will broaden the student's knowledge of military structure and operation, customs and courtesies, rank structure, weaponry, threat structure, and maneuvers. No prerequisite.

Military Science 102. United States Military History. An historical analysis of the United States Army and its development from the colonial period through contemporary times. Emphasis is placed on the principles of war which provide common guidelines for the examination of America's wars and the unique contribution of military leadership to success or failure on the battlefield. No prerequisite.

Military Science 201. Leadership I. An introduction to the basic concepts and skills required to become an effective leader of small groups. The case-study approach is emphasized in analyzing leadership in military, business, and other situations. No prerequisite.

Military Science 202. Leadership II. An introduction to the concepts and skills required to lead large groups and organizations effectively. Emphasizes the case-study approach of analyzing leadership in military, business, and other environments. No prerequisite.

Application for acceptance into the Advanced Course requires the nomination of the President of Hampden-Sydney College and acceptance into the Course by the Officer in Charge.

Scholarships of varying amounts are available for participants in ROTC. (See p. 105.)

MARINE SCIENCE EDUCATIONAL CONSORTIUM

Students who are preparing for careers in the marine sciences, or who have a strong interest in oceanography, may apply to train at a marine facility through the Marine Science Educational Consortium (MSEC) of the Marine Laboratory of Duke University. Through MSEC the students have priority access to formal courses and supervised research in the marine sciences.

Enrollment in the academic term-in-residence program is limited; admission is made on the basis of the student's ability to complete the course of study. All students will be eligible for Duke University course credit. For further information, including the Marine Laboratory Bulletin with its complete description of facilities, faculty, and opportunities, see Professor Anderson of the Department of Chemistry or Professor Werth of the Department of Biology.

WASHINGTON SEMESTER AND WORLD CAPITALS PROGRAMS

Hampden-Sydney College is one of approximately 100 colleges and universities whose students are eligible to participate in the Washington Semester and World Capitals Programs of American University in Washington, D.C.

The Washington Semester Program is designed to afford qualified students an opportunity to study American government in action through courses in the School of Government and Public Affairs and through direct discussion with major public officials, political figures, lobbyists, and others active in national government. In addition to the regular Washington Semester, the arrangement with American University includes programs in Urban Affairs, Foreign Policy, Criminal Justice, Economic Policy, American Studies, and Science and Technology.

The World Capitals Program offers semester-long academic work in such cities as Beijing, Brussels, Buenos Aires, London, and Vienna.

Each program has three components:

The Seminar (8 credit hours) consists of both required readings and discussions among students, faculty, and invited speakers.

The Internship (4 credit hours) provides each student with an opportunity to gain first-hand experience as a member of the staff of an organization directly involved in the area of study.

The Research Project (4 credit hours) gives students latitude for independent research in subjects and issues of personal interest.

Applicants must be seniors, juniors, or second-semester sophomores at the time of their participation in the Program. They must have earned a cumulative grade-point average of 2.5 or above. Successful applicants pay tuition and fees to Hampden-Sydney. They are considered by both institutions to be registered at Hampden-Sydney, and the semester's work at American University becomes part of the Hampden-Sydney transcript for degree credit.

Application procedures are announced twice a year. Interested students should contact Professor David E. Marion of the Department of Political Science for further information.

COURSE OF STUDY

The course of study at Hampden-Sydney College offers to students opportunities for both breadth and depth in learning and encourages independent study. The requirements for a bachelor's degree fall into three areas: Proficiency Requirements, Distribution Requirements, and Major Requirements. In addition, there is the opportunity to take elective courses that are not required but may enhance the education of the student.

Students must earn 120 semester hours of credit with a cumulative grade-point average of at least 2.0 and be in residence at the College at least two academic years, including the last year preceding graduation, in order to graduate. (See below.)

A member of the Faculty is assigned to advise each entering student during his first three semesters. Freshmen normally take a Rhetoric course and a course in a foreign language. The rest of the schedule may include a science and/or a mathematics course and courses in other areas that satisfy one of the distribution requirements, and in areas in which students may consider majoring. Students are encouraged to complete many of the proficiency and distribution requirements during their first two years so that in the last two years they can concentrate on their majors and electives. In the second semester of the sophomore year, students are asked to select a major and then are assigned to an advisor in the department of the major.

Every student who completes the following requirements in ten or fewer semesters will receive a Bachelor of Arts or, for a student majoring in the natural sciences who requests it, a Bachelor of Science degree. It is solely the responsibility of the student to make sure that he meets all of the stated requirements for his degree.

PROFICIENCY REQUIREMENTS

There are two proficiency requirements, in Rhetoric and in a foreign language. Students may demonstrate proficiency in Rhetoric by passing Rhetoric 101 and 102 (unless exempted) and passing the Rhetoric Proficiency Examination or Rhetoric 200. Students may demonstrate proficiency in a foreign language by passing 201-202 of the language; or by passing any one course at the 300-level in a classical language or either 301, 302, or 305 in a modern language. Both proficiencies are required.

DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS

Students may use any appropriate courses, unless otherwise stated, to satisfy both the distribution requirements and major requirements. In addition, students may use foreign-language literature courses (300-level and above) to satisfy the Humanities distribution requirement in Literature as well as the proficiency requirement in a foreign language; otherwise, courses taken to satisfy proficiency requirements may not be used to satisfy distribution requirements.

Only courses worth at least three semester hours of credit may be used to satisfy the following distribution requirements:

A. Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Four Courses)

1. Natural Sciences: two courses, chosen from two departments, including at least one (with corequisite laboratory) from among Biology 101, Chemistry 110, Astronomy 105 or 106, Physics 131.

2. Mathematics: one course from among Mathematics 121, 130, 140, 141, 142, 222, 231, 242, 243.

3. One additional course outside the department of the major.

B. Social Sciences (Three Courses)

1. History and Political Science: one course from among History 101, 102, 111, 112; Political Science 101, 220. (If used to satisfy the History and Culture requirement, History 101 and 102 may not be used to satisfy the Social Sciences requirement.)

2. Economics, Psychology, Sociology: one course from among Economics 101; Psychology 101/151, 102; Sociology 201.

3. One additional course outside the department of the major.

C. Humanities (Seven Courses)

1. History and Culture: Humanities 101-102 or History 101-102 (two-course sequence required). (History 101 and 102 may not be used to satisfy the History and Culture requirement if one of them is used to satisfy the Social Sciences requirement.)

2. Philosophical and Religious Thought: one course from among Philosophy 201, 202, 301, 302, 304; Religion 101, 102, 103.

3. Literature: one course from among Classical Studies 203, 204; English literature courses; Classical and Modern Language literature courses at the 300-level and above.

4. Fine Arts: one course from among Fine Arts 103, 105, 110, 111, 207, 302.

5. Two additional courses outside the department of the major. 100-level courses in foreign languages taken as preparation for the foreign-language proficiency do not fulfill this requirement.

MAJOR REQUIREMENT

The major affords students the opportunity to study a particular subject in depth. It is intended to complement the broad education provided by proficiency and distribution requirements and electives. Students must successfully complete a major in one of Hampden-Sydney's academic departments in order to be graduated from the College. Ordinarily a student selects his major during his fourth semester at the College and notifies the Registrar of his choice. If his interests change, a student may change his major while he is an upperclassman.

The College offers majors in the following disciplines or groups of disciplines:

|---------------------|-------------------------|
| Applied Mathematics | Latin |
| Biology | Interscience |
| Chemistry | (Biology-Chemistry, |
| Classical Studies | Biology-Physics, |
| Economics | Mathematics-Physics, |
| Economics with | Mathematics-Natural |
| Mathematics | Science) |
| English | Management Economics |
| Fine Arts | Mathematics |
| Fine Arts with a | Mathematics and |
| concentration in | Computer Science |
| Music, Theatre, or | Philosophy |
| Visual Arts | Physics |
| French | Political Science |
| German | Psychology |
| Greek | Religion |
| Greek and Latin | Religion and Philosophy |
| History | Spanish |
| Humanities | |

The requirements for each of these majors may be found in the section on Course Offerings.

CREDIT HOURS REQUIREMENT

Students meet the credit hours requirement by the successful completion of enough course work to total 120 semester hours of credit. A semester hour of credit is authorized for a class which meets 50 minutes per week for the semester or for a laboratory which meets two and one-half hours per week for the semester.

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT

Students must be in residence at the College a minimum of two academic years, including the last year preceding graduation, in order to graduate. A minimum of sixty hours of credit (of the 120 hours required for graduation) must be earned in courses taught at Hampden-Sydney. Following termination of the last semester of residence a student may receive no more than eight semester hours of credit for work done elsewhere.

QUALITY REQUIREMENT

In order to graduate from the College, a student must have a grade-point average of 2.0 or better on work taken at Hampden-Sydney or in cooperative programs. The grade-point average is calculated by dividing the total quality points earned in Hampden-Sydney and cooperative programs by the total hours attempted therein. (See the explanation of quality points on p. 38.)

PART-TIME ENROLLMENT

A student is considered a full-time degree candidate in each semester if he is enrolled in courses with a minimum of 12 credit hours. With the permission of the Dean of the Faculty, students who are degree candidates may enroll on a part-time basis and take fewer than 12 hours of academic credit in a semester. Part-time students are not normally permitted to live on campus. A student who begins a semester as a full-time degree candidate enrolled in 12 or more hours of classes and who subsequently reduces his enrollment to fewer than 12 hours is not entitled to part-time status or fees. Further information about part-time status may be obtained from the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

With the permission of the Dean of the Faculty, students who are not candidates for degrees may enroll for academic credit. Except under unusual circumstances, special students may enroll for no more than 7 hours of credit. Enrollment as a special student does not constitute or imply admission to the College as a candidate for a degree. Credits earned by special students may be applied to degree candidacy once the student has been admitted to the College through the normal admissions procedure. A student who begins a semester as a full-time degree candidate enrolled in 12 or more hours of classes and who subsequently reduces his enrollment to fewer than 12 hours is not entitled to special-student status or fees. Further information about special-student status may be obtained from the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

REQUIREMENTS FOR A SECOND BACHELOR'S DEGREE

Anyone who has earned a bachelor's degree at Hampden-Sydney or at another accredited institution may seek to earn a second bachelor's degree at Hampden-Sydney. The candidate for the second degree must be admitted through the regular admissions process. Granting of the second degree requires the completion of two semesters of residence at Hampden-Sydney and of at least 30 hours of academic credit during that period. In addition, fulfillment of the present core requirements through courses taken in the original four-year program and/or courses taken in the fifth year, and similarly the fulfillment of the course requirements for an academic major distinct from the major of the original bachelor's degree, are required. The student's proposed fifth-year program must also be approved for overall coherence and quality by the Dean of the Faculty and the chair of the second major department.

THE ADVISING SYSTEM

A faculty advisor is assigned to each entering student well before the student arrives on campus in order to aid him in setting his first-semester schedule of courses. On entering the College, students take an advising seminar conducted by their advisors with the assistance of student peer advisors. The purpose of the seminar is to introduce to the student life at a liberal arts college and the free discussion of ideas. The student meets regularly with his advisor and peer advisor in the seminar, at other times as the student's academic or personal situation demands, and occasionally for social events. In other semesters the advisor and student continue to meet, though not in a regularly scheduled seminar. After the student has selected his major, ordinarily in the second semester of his sophomore year, an advisor in the department of that major is assigned to him for subsequent advising and planning a coherent program for the junior and senior years.

Students consult their advisors before registering for classes each semester, and they are urged to seek consultation whenever an academic or personal problem warrants counsel.

Advisors supervise students' fulfillment of proficiency, distribution, and major requirements, provide help in understanding academic policies and grades, recommend and approve course selections appropriate to the students' background and educational interests, and, in general, oversee their academic program. Advisors may give guidance in the choice of graduate study or vocational opportunities.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

The heart of all academic and social conduct at Hampden-Sydney is the Honor System, and the heart of the Honor System is individual responsibility. It presumes that every student is a gentleman who will conduct himself in a trustworthy and honest manner; it assumes further that every student is concerned with the strict observance of those principles for his own sake, for the sake of his fellow students, and for the sake of the College. Students, faculty members, and administrators place the highest value on integrity and honesty, and all support the Honor System.

The Honor System is administered by students elected to office by the student body. In the orientation of freshmen and transfer students, Honor Court members explain the Honor Code. Before formally matriculating at the College, a student must sign a statement acknowledging that he understands the Honor System and that an infraction is punishable by dishonorable suspension or dismissal. The Honor System pledge, which students write on their tests and other college work, is "On my honor I have neither given nor received any aid on this work, nor am I aware of any breach of the Honor Code that I shall not immediately report."

Infractions of the Honor Code are cheating; plagiarism; lying; stealing; forgery; intentionally passing a bad check; knowingly furnishing false information to the College; failing to report Honor Code violations; altering or using College or other documents or instruments of identification with intent to defraud or deceive; taking a book or other library materials out of the library without checking it, or them, out at the desk; removing any section of library materials, such as tearing or cutting out a page, or parts of a page; and unauthorized access to or use of College computer files, including attempts to gain unauthorized access or use. Suspected violations are investigated by student officers; trials are conducted by the Student Court.

Students convicted of an infraction of the Honor Code that involves a course will receive the grade of F in that course.

The aim of the Honor System is to instill and emphasize the highest standards of character and conduct, and to maintain community trust. A student's obligation under the Honor System does not stop at the limits of the campus but applies in all places at all times.

Further details about the Honor System and the Code are published in The Key, Hampden-Sydney College Student Handbook.

HAMPDEN-SYDNEY ATHLETICS

Mission Statement

The athletic program is important at any college, but is particularly important at Hampden-Sydney because of the overwhelming interest of our students in athletics; approximately 30% of the student body participates in intercollegiate athletics and over 80% in the intramural program.

Athletics, quite simply, is vital to the wholeness of the College. Essentially, the program can be divided into several components: intramurals, intercollegiate athletics, lifetime sports, physical fitness, and recreational programs.

As indicated, intramurals constitutes an important element within the athletic program, especially given the large percentage of students who actively participate at this level.

A lifetime sports and recreational program gives students an opportunity to keep physically fit while learning a new athletic skill that can be beneficial later in life.

Intercollegiate athletics plays a significant role at this college, not only because it provides an important outlet for so many students, but also because such competition is good for participants. The varsity intercollegiate program can be and is a true character-building experience. One learns from winning, one learns from losing, and one learns from playing the game. One learns something about coping with pressure, commitment, loyalty, self-discipline, sacrifice, and pain—what it takes as well as what it means to compete. When one considers that 50% of all incoming freshmen intend to participate in the intercollegiate programs, then one realizes what athletics means to the College. Many of the best students at Hampden-Sydney are also varsity athletes, young men who come to this college in part to engage in intercollegiate athletics.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

Each student who enrolls at Hampden-Sydney is expected to become familiar with the regulations and practices set forth in the following section. Academic rules, regulations, practices, and procedures are fundamental to the total educational program at the College. Questions regarding these regulations may be directed to the student's advisor, the Registrar, or the Office of the Dean of the Faculty.

GRADES AND QUALITY POINTS

Course work is evaluated in the following terms:

| Grades | Quality Point per semester hour |
|----------|--|
| A | Excellent 4 |
| A- | 3.7 |
| B+ | 3.3 |
| B | Good 3 |
| B- | 2.7 |
| C+ | 2.3 |
| C | Fair 2 |
| C- | 1.7 |
| D+ | 1.3 |
| D | Poor 1 |
| F | Failure 0 |
| W | Withdrew or Withdrawn 0 |
| WF | Withdrew Failing or Withdrawn Failing 0 |
| I | Incomplete 0 |

GRADE REPORTING

At the end of every semester a grade report is sent to each student.

INCOMPLETES

Grades of Incomplete (I) must be removed by a date determined by the instructor, but no later than five class days after the beginning of the semester following the semester in which the Incomplete is given. Incompletes that have not been removed by the end of this period will be converted to permanent grades of F.

A student who receives a grade of Incomplete for the spring semester, who, as a result, is potentially subject to suspension, and who wishes to enroll in May Term, has until the fifth day of May Term to complete the work for which he has received the grade of I (Incomplete). If such work has not been completed by the fifth day, or if the work is completed and the resulting cumulative academic record warrants suspension, the student shall be withdrawn from any May Term courses in which he is enrolled and any tuition paid will be refunded.

DEAN'S LIST

The Dean's List is compiled at the end of each semester. It lists those students who have earned at least a 3.3 grade-point average that semester, for at least 15 credit hours of work.

GRADUATION WITH HONORS

Graduation with honors shall be accorded to students who meet the following requirements:

summa cum laude—a grade-point ratio of 3.7;

magna cum laude—a grade-point ratio of 3.5; cum laude—a grade-point ratio of 3.3.

DEFICIENCY REPORTS

If at mid-semester a student, in the judgment of his instructor, is doing unsatisfactory work, the instructor may send him a deficiency report. The report includes a statement of the student's grade at mid-term, as well as reasons why his work is unsatisfactory. Copies of the report are sent to the parents of freshmen and first-semester sophomores, their advisors, and the Dean of the Faculty. A student who receives a deficiency report is expected to consult his advisor and the instructor who issued the report, and to take action to improve his academic performance.

GOOD ACADEMIC STANDING

A student is in good academic standing if at the end of any semester he has an accumulated grade-point average of at least 2.00 and the credit hours listed below; a student who falls below the 2.00 average or the number of credit hours listed below is not in good academic standing:

| | | | | | | | |
|----------|----|----|----|----|----|----|-----|
| Semester | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 |
| Hours | 12 | 26 | 41 | 57 | 73 | 89 | 105 |

STANDARDS GOVERNING ACADEMIC PROBATION AND SUSPENSION

1. A student whose cumulative grade-point average falls below the following standards will be placed on academic probation:

|---------------------------------|-----|-----|-----|------|------|-----------|
| Effective Semester in College | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 or more |
| Accumulated Grade-Point Average | 1.2 | 1.5 | 1.7 | 1.85 | 1.95 | 2.00 |

2. A student who is subject to continuing probation at the end of any probationary semester will be suspended from enrollment, unless he shows, in the judgment of the Executive Committee of the Faculty, marked improvement in his academic performance or evidence of an honest effort at improvement.

3. A student on academic probation who falls below the following standards will be suspended

|-------------------------------|---|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|
| Effective Semester in College | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 |
| Grade-Point Average | — | 1.2 | 1.3 | 1.4 | 1.5 | 1.6 | 1.7 | 1.8 | 1.9 |

from enrollment:

4. A student who receives a grade of F in more than 50% of the hours he has attempted in any one semester will be suspended from enrollment.

5. A student who returns to Hampden-Sydney after an academic suspension or other absence and whose academic record justifies his being on probation at the time of his return will be placed on academic probation. A student who returns after an academic suspension will ordinarily be held accountable to the standards pertaining to probation and discretionary suspension (as described in regulations 1 and 2 above) applicable to the semester at the end of which he was suspended, thus dropping back one semester relative to the requirements specified in those standards. This status will not be changed by transfer credit of up to ten hours earned between suspension and readmission. However, the standards pertaining to mandatory suspension (as described under regulation 3 above) will remain as stated.

6. The semester standing of a transfer student with respect to academic probation regulations will be determined by the sum of hours transferred from other institutions and hours attempted at Hampden-Sydney.

ACADEMIC COUNSELING

A student on academic probation is required to enter the Study Skills Program as a condition of continuing enrollment in the College.

READMISSION STATEMENT

If a student is dismissed from the College or if he withdraws voluntarily, he must make formal application for readmission. He should contact the Admissions Office for the proper forms and for information regarding readmission. The student's application will be considered by the Faculty Admissions Committee, which will review his academic record and citizenship at Hampden-Sydney (and in some cases his secondary school record) as well as his activities during the period of his separation from the College. Each decision is made on an individual basis, and it is up to the applicant for readmission to demonstrate convincingly that he should be readmitted. The Admissions Committee is in no way obligated to readmit any student, no matter what the circumstances of his withdrawal or the terms of his suspension.

AUDITING COURSES

A student who desires to audit a class may do so with the permission of the instructor. The student will receive no credit for an audited course, but he will earn a grade of "AU" if all requirements specified by the instructor for auditing are met. With the permission of the instructor, students may change an audit course to a credit course before the end of the drop period.

REPEATING COURSES

A student may repeat once any previously passed course. The student, however, will receive credit for the course only once. The grade from the first time the course was taken will remain on the student's permanent record. Hours attempted and quality points earned will be counted for both times the course is taken and will be included in the computation of the student's cumulative grade-point average. (A student may repeat a course previously failed until he passes it.)

TRANSFER CREDIT

Students may receive credit hours for college courses taken at another institution if they earn a grade of C or higher. The grade and hours earned are entered on the student's transcript, but no quality points are given and the grade-point average is unaffected. Students receive credit only for courses which are equivalent to those available at Hampden-Sydney and which are not being presented toward a degree at any other institution. Students receive no credit for correspondence courses. Students may use credit hours earned at another institution to satisfy distribution, major, or elective requirements of the Hampden-Sydney curriculum, provided that authorization is granted by the appropriate Hampden-Sydney department chair. Any student who wishes to transfer credit is responsible for providing the Registrar's Office with transcripts of the work promptly on completion of the study.

SUMMER SCHOOL CREDIT

Subject to departmental approval, students may receive credit hours for courses taken in summer school at a four-year accredited institution if they earn a grade of C or higher. The grade and hours earned are entered on the student's transcript, but no quality points are given and the grade-point average is unaffected. Departmental approval should normally be obtained before a student enrolls in the course. Any student who wishes to receive credit for such courses is responsible for providing the Registrar's Office with transcripts of the work promptly on completion of the study.

REGISTRATION

Each new student, in consultation with his advisor, registers for first-semester courses during the summer before he enrolls and sends a list of requested courses to the Registrar. Subsequently, he consults with his advisor to register for each following semester.

ADDING AND DROPPING COURSES

Once a student has registered:

1. He may add a course, in consultation with his advisor and with the permission of the instructor, only during the first week of classes in any semester.

2. In consultation with his advisor and instructor, a student may drop a course without penalty during the first seven weeks of the semester. Courses dropped during the first week of classes will not appear on the student's permanent record. Students may drop courses without charge during the first five days of each semester. A $5.00 fee will be charged students for each course dropped after the fifth class day of each semester.

3. A student hopelessly deficient in one subject may, with the permission of the instructor, advisor, and Registrar, drop that course after the deadline for withdrawing. The grade for the semester will be recorded as WF.

4. Specific deadlines for withdrawing from courses are given in the Academic Calendar.

COURSE-LOAD REGULATIONS

Every student needs to carry a course load of 15-16 hours each semester in order to make satisfactory progress toward the 120 hours required for graduation.

Every student must carry a minimum course load of 12 hours each semester. To take fewer than 12 hours the student must receive the permission of his advisor and the Dean of the Faculty. For further information, see the section on PART-TIME ENROLLMENT, on page 36. No student may take more than 19 hours in any semester without special permission of the Executive Committee of the Faculty.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Freshmen are permitted one unexcused absence from class for each credit hour earned by passing the course. Instructors will inform upperclassmen at the beginning of each semester what attendance is expected of them.

When a professor believes that a student's absences are damaging his work, he may have the Dean of Students notify the student by mail. This notice constitutes a final warning. If the student continues to miss classes, the professor may have the student removed from the class, and the student may receive a grade of WF for the course.

More detailed information about class attendance policies and practices may be found in the current edition of The Key: Hampden-Sydney College Student Handbook.

EXAMINATIONS

Final examinations are held at the end of each semester. Final examinations may be given only during the regularly scheduled examination period unless one of the following exceptions applies:

- If a student has two final examinations scheduled at the same time, he should reschedule one examination in consultation with the instructors.
- If a student has more than two final examinations on any two consecutive days, he may reschedule afternoon examinations to the study days or to other days acceptable to the instructors involved.
- When more than one section of a course is taught by the same professor, students may take the examination with any section the professor approves. Approval, however, must be obtained before the beginning of the examination period.

- A professor may move an examination to an earlier period in the examination schedule if all the students in the course agree. No final examination may be given before the first day of the examination period (with the exception of examinations in Rhetoric courses).

- A student who desires to take a final examination outside the regularly scheduled period for some reason other than those specified above must obtain the permission of the Dean of the Faculty.

RE-EXAMINATIONS

A senior who has been doing passing work in a course prior to examination week of his final semester but who fails the final examination in that course may, upon the recommendation of the instructor concerned and the approval of the Dean of the Faculty, be allowed to take a re-examination. The re-examination stands in lieu of the regular examination and must be averaged with all other grades used in the computation of the final grade, which may be no higher than D.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COLLEGE

Before a student may withdraw from the College, he must have the approval of the Dean of the Faculty and the Dean of Students. A student resigning on or after December 1 in the first semester or April 15 in the second semester will receive a grade of WF in all courses. He is not ordinarily eligible to return the next semester.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

A student who has been at Hampden-Sydney for at least a semester can apply to the Office of the Registrar for approval of a leave of absence. Students who are granted such leaves will be guaranteed readmission, provided that they confirm re-enrollment and pay a reservation deposit of $500 by April 1 (for the fall term) or November 1 (for the spring term). Candidates for leave of absence may not be on academic probation, nor have any disciplinary or honor proceedings pending against them. Deadlines for applying for such leaves are December 1 during the fall term and April 15 during the spring term. The maximum leave will be one year. Students who do not comply with the conditions governing leave of absence will be obliged to reapply for admission through the Admissions Office.

EXCLUSION FROM COLLEGE

College authorities reserve the right to exclude at any time a student whose conduct or academic standing they regard as unacceptable; in such a case fees will not be refunded or remitted, in whole or in part.

LEARNING DISABILITIES

Hampden-Sydney is sensitive to the needs of its learning-disabled students. Before matriculating at Hampden-Sydney, a student with a learning disability or perceptual handicap should make himself known to the Associate Dean for Academic Support and supply him with documentation of the particular disability. Subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty, the Associate Dean for Academic Support, together with the student's advisor, will help the student design an academic program that will fit his aptitudes and skills as well as meet the College's requirements. The policies relating to learning disabilities may be obtained from the Dean of the Faculty or the Associate Dean for Academic Support.

Note: These academic regulations may be modified in individual cases by action of the Executive Committee of the Faculty.

Course Offerings

DIVISIONS OF STUDY

The academic departments and courses of instruction are grouped according to the following three divisions:

HUMANITIES, including Classics, English, Fine Arts, Humanities, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Religion, and Rhetoric.

NATURAL SCIENCES, including Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and Computer Science, and Physics and Astronomy.

SOCIAL SCIENCES, including Economics, History, Political Science, and Psychology.

COURSE CLASSIFICATION

Each course listed in this catalogue is identified by the name of the department which offers it and a course number. (Courses which include significant content from more than one discipline are listed under Interdisciplinary Studies rather than under one of the academic departments.) At the right of the course number are parentheses which contain the credit hours per semester granted for passing the course. There are two variations. For example, Biology 108 (3) meets for one semester only and carries three semester hours of credit. French 201-202 (3-3) comprises two semesters of work, each earning three hours of credit, and the student may take one or both semesters.

SPECIAL TOPICS, INDEPENDENT STUDY, AND INTERNSHIPS

Courses with the following numbers, titles, and credit are offered in every department:

185, 285, 385, or 485. Special Topics (1, 2, or 3 hours).

An organized course of study in an area other than one described in the course listings. All -85 courses must be approved by a majority of the voting members of the department. If the course/topic is offered more than once, it must be approved by the faculty and assigned a number not ending with 85, 90, or 95.

376. Internship (1, 2, or 3 hours).

Combines work done normally in the summer before the student's senior year with ongoing course work and the production of a substantial research paper (no fewer than ten pages) on a related issue. This paper and a daily journal recording the internship experiences and the student's reactions to them must be approved by at least two faculty readers.

To qualify, a student must have a grade-point average of at least 2.7 at the time of application and must have taken at least nine hours of courses which are clearly connected with the internship before the internship begins.

Any regular, ongoing program of internships must be approved by the Academic Affairs Committee and the Faculty at large. An individual student proposal which does not fall within an approved program of internships must be approved by the Honors Council at least two months before the internship is to begin. No student will receive more than three hours of academic credit for all such internships unless otherwise authorized by the Honors Council.

490. Directed Reading (1, 2, or 3 hours).

Reading related to a particular course or topic in which the student is interested, the reading to be done under the supervision of a faculty member who will assist in designing the student's program.

495. Independent Study (1, 2, or 3 hours).

Research in which the student works independently under the supervision of a faculty member; the project will ordinarily lead to a paper in which the student describes his work and summarizes his findings. For juniors and seniors only.

For directed reading (490) and independent study (495), a written proposal, designating hours of credit and describing the subject under investigation and the methods to be utilized, must be approved by the professor supervising the study, the chair of the department, and the student's faculty advisor.

A student may take no more than two 490/495 courses per semester.

Ordinarily, a student may take no more than two 490 and two 495 courses during his tenure at Hampden-Sydney. If additional independent work is desired, a written proposal must be submitted to the Honors Council for approval. Students who wish to do extensive independent work are encouraged to pursue Departmental Honors.

Departments may specify prerequisites and minimal grade-point averages for taking 490 and 495 courses.

BIOLOGY

*Professors Gemborys, Lund, Shear, Turney;
Associate Professor Devlin; Assistant Professor Werth*

Chair: Anne C. Lund

The diverse preparation necessary for graduate Biology programs in different institutions often necessitates tailoring the undergraduate major to suit the particular needs of the student. All students interested in majoring in Biology are requested to see a representative of the Department of Biology during their freshman year to discuss their future programs of study. The requirements for a major in Biology are 33 hours, including Biology 101-102 and 151-152 (to be taken during either the freshman or the sophomore year). The balance of the major consists of appropriate electives with at least one course in each of the following three areas:

- 1. Molecular/Cellular Biology (Biology 215, 220, 311, 331, or 332);*
- 2. Organismic/Systematic Biology (Biology 242, 243, 244, 321, 322, 337, or 338);*
- 3. Ecology/Population Biology (Biology 108 and 158, 251, 253, 260, 270, 275, 315, 316, or 376). Biology 250 may not be counted towards the Biology major.*

In addition, Chemistry 110, 120, 151, and 152 are required.

Note: Many graduate schools require courses in physics, mathematics through calculus, organic chemistry, statistics, computer science, physical chemistry, and electronics by way of preparation for certain biology majors. The Department of Biology recommends that all students planning to pursue graduate or professional studies in the biological sciences investigate the prerequisites for their particular field of study by the fall semester of their junior year so that these may be incorporated into their undergraduate program.

BIOLOGY 101-102. (3-3)

INTRODUCTION TO BIOLOGY. An introduction to the basic topics of the biological sciences. Prerequisites: none for 101; 101 prerequisite for 102. Corequisites: Biology 151 and 152, respectively. Offered: 101 each semester; 102 in the spring semester.

KEY TO FACULTY LEAVE STATUS:

L = On leave, 1997-98.

F = On leave fall semester only.

S = On leave spring semester only.

BIOLOGY 108. (3)

ENVIRONMENTAL BIOLOGY. A consideration, based on basic biological concepts, of the processes leading to the degradation of our environment.

The course will include discussions of such topics as environmental pollution by pesticides, industrial by-products, and radioactive materials; the historical background and future prospects of the population explosion; and the need for preservation of our natural resources. Students offering Biology 108 for major credit must also have taken Biology 158. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

BIOLOGY 151-152. (1-1)LABORATORY IN INTRODUCTORY

BIOLOGY. Laboratory work associated with Biology 101 and 102. Prerequisites: none for 151; 151 is prerequisite for 152. Corequisites: Biology 101 and 102, respectively. Offered: 151 each semester; 152 in the spring semester.

BIOLOGY 158. (1)LABORATORY IN ENVIRONMENTAL

BIOLOGY. A laboratory experience designed to demonstrate the interactions between plants and animals and their environment and to acquaint the non-science-oriented student with techniques and methods used in the measurement of environmental parameters. Consideration will be given to such topics as the thermal and chemical stratification of lakes and ponds and how this phenomenon affects aquatic organisms, a comparison of the chemical and physical characteristics of natural and polluted streams, and the effects of logging and fire in local forest ecosystems. Prerequisite or corequisite: Biology 108. Offered: each semester.

BIOLOGY 215. (4)

CELL BIOLOGY. An introduction to cells in terms of structure and function. Major emphasis in lecture sessions includes descriptions of cell organelles and their functions, the mechanics of cell division, and basic molecular genetics. Laboratory will be experimentally based and involve analysis and presentation of data. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: fall semester.

BIOLOGY 220. (4)

MICROBIOLOGY. This course deals mainly with the biology of viruses and prokaryotic microbes, although fungi, protozoa, and eukaryotic algae are considered briefly, especially in the laboratory. The structure, energy-harnessing mechanisms, ecology, and genetics of bacteria are considered, along with the structure and genetics of viruses. There is a general survey of the microbes with some emphasis on those that cause human disease. There is extensive laboratory work (two laboratory periods per week) focusing on skills and practices recommended by the American Society for Microbiology, featuring opportunities for students to work independently and in small groups to sample the environment, identify unknowns, and develop microscopy skills. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: fall semester.

BIOLOGY 242. (4)

BOTANY. An intensive study of the anatomy, morphology, taxonomy, physiology, and ecology of plants, fungi, and algae. The commercial and medicinal uses of plants will be considered. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: spring semester of even years.

BIOLOGY 243. (4)

ENTOMOLOGY. An intensive study of insects as representatives of the phylum Arthropoda. Lecture topics will include insect physiology and behavior, insect morphology and classification, social insects, methods of insect control, and insect ecology. Laboratories will consist primarily of work on the local insect fauna. A collection will be required and will form a major part of the student's grade. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: fall semester of even years.

BIOLOGY 244. (4)

INVERTEBRATE ZOOLOGY. A study of the diversity of the animal kingdom, excluding vertebrates, taught from a phylogenetic perspective. The major species of each phylum will be discussed, including ecology and systematics. Representatives of the major phyla will be examined and dissected in the laboratory. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

BIOLOGY 250. (3)

BIOETHICS. Examines the growing field of problems lying at the interface between advancing technological expertise in the health fields and the related moral and ethical problems which are being raised by such advances. An attempt will be made to place man in his proper biological perspective and to provide students with the mental tools and outlooks with which they can make intelligent judgments in bioethical matters and then live with their decisions. No laboratory. This course does not provide credit for a biology major. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester.

BIOLOGY 251. (4)

BIOECOLOGY. A consideration of physical and biotic factors of the environment and how these factors affect both plant and animal life. The laboratory will include an intensive study of these relationships as illustrated in both aquatic and terrestrial communities. Field trips will be made.

Prerequisite: Biology 101 or consent of instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

BIOLOGY 253-254. (4-1)

PLANT ECOLOGY. A consideration of the interrelationships between plants and their environment. These relationships will be observed through study of the major plant communities of Virginia. Emphasis will be placed on the role of succession and environment in the development of plant associations. Three lectures and one laboratory per week, first semester; one laboratory per week, second semester. Field trips are required. The work in the second semester will consist of directed study of a problem of interest to the student and will be based on the principles and methods studied in the first semester. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: 253 in the fall semester of even years; 254 in the spring semester of odd years on demand.

BIOLOGY 260. (4)

TROPICAL BIOLOGY. A consideration of the biology of plants and animals, including man, living in a tropical environment. Special emphasis will be given to the study of the structure and function of a typical coral reef and to the study of the ecology, physiology, and taxonomy of other locally important marine forms. Laboratory included. Course presented on the Hampden-Sydney campus and at a tropical marine biology laboratory. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

BIOLOGY 270. (4)

ECOSYSTEMS OF THE MIDATLANTIC AND NORTHEASTERN UNITED STATES. A survey of the significant vegetation types of the Eastern United States, ranging from the longleaf pine forests of Virginia to the alpine tundra formations of New Hampshire. Consideration will also be given to the effects of climatic, geologic, and edaphic influences on the development of these ecosystems. Quantitative methods of vegetation sampling and statistical techniques will be employed. Laboratory included. Duration: 3 weeks. Prerequisite: none. Offered: May Term on sufficient demand.

BIOLOGY 275. (4)

VERTEBRATE PALEONTOLOGY AND EVOLUTION. Reviews the major steps in vertebrate history (including physical anthropology), with emphasis on significant ecological and structural transitions, as well as the broader evolutionary framework of origins and extinctions. Laboratories and field trips develop geological and geographical principles of paleontology and provide for examination of fossil vertebrate specimens. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

BIOLOGY 311. (4)

GENETICS. Principles of heredity and variation as developed from the morphological, physiological, and biochemical levels of gene action. Laboratory exercises include work with classical material such as Drosophila as well as more recent activity involving phages and DNA annealing. Some laboratory work and many lecture demonstrations utilize Macintosh computers to model molecular phenomena, perform Mendelian crosses, study population genetics, and statistically analyze data. Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: spring semester.

BIOLOGY 315. (3)

EVOLUTIONARY THEORY. An introduction to evolutionary thinking and the modern synthetic theory. Mathematical models of population phenomena will be derived and tested through problem-solving. The process of speciation will be examined, and basic biogeographical principles will be studied. Some discussion of the history of evolutionary biology and the lives of its major contributors will also take place. Prerequisite: Biology 311 or permission of instructor. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

BIOLOGY 316. (3)

HISTORY OF THE EARTH AND LIFE. A course presenting some fundamentals of historical geology, including rock types and structure, sedimentary environments, and plate tectonics, using this information to reconstruct past environments and past geographies. The development of life on earth will be reviewed from an historical perspective, emphasizing faunal and floral changes, the processes of extinction and recovery, and the phylogeny of major groups of organisms. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered spring semester of even years.

BIOLOGY 321. (4)

DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY. Developmental Biology is a survey course that examines the processes involved in the transformation of a single cell into a complete multicellular organism. The course is organized to contain a mixture of traditional animal morphogenesis as well as the molecular mechanisms of cell and tissue differentiation. Laboratories will involve the experimental manipulation of embryos from a number of different Phyla. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered; spring semester of even years.

BIOLOGY 322. (4)

HISTOLOGY. Histology involves both the examination of the characteristics of the four basic tissue types and the structure and organization of organs and organ systems. The course material will be approached from both a structural and a functional perspective. Histology involves such diverse fields as embryology, cell biology, anatomy, and physiology to explain the relationship of individual tissues to the structure and functioning of the body as a whole. The laboratory will involve the examination of prepared slides and electron micrographs of the tissues discussed in lecture. In addition, all students will prepare their own slides of various tissue types. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

BIOLOGY 331. (4)

BIOCHEMISTRY-MOLECULAR BIOLOGY. A structural and functional study of the cell with emphasis on the biochemical and ultra-structural aspects of cell metabolism and information processing. A substantial portion of the text and lecture time is devoted to molecular genetics. Laboratory exercises include problems in enzyme kinetics, enzyme isolation, electrophoresis, ion-exchange chromatography, and spectrophotometry. Three lectures and one laboratory or problem session per week. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152; Prerequisite or corequisite: Chemistry 210. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSIOLOGY. A continuing treatment of the cell's structure and function with emphasis this semester on muscle contraction, nerve conduction, cell division, and differentiation. Supplemental lectures on the cellular basis for homeostasis are included with specific treatments of circulatory physiology, respiratory physiology, and renal physiology. Three lectures per week. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152. Biology 331 is a desirable antecedent to Biology 332. Consult the instructor if you have not had Biology 331. Offered: on demand.

BIOLOGY 334. (1)

ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY. A laboratory course investigating the problems of enzyme purification, intermediary metabolism, and protein synthesis. The exercises involve refinements of the techniques learned in Biology 331 with some additional work utilizing manometric techniques, differential centrifugation, and radioactive tracers. Prerequisite: Biology 331. Offered: spring semester.

BIOLOGY 337. (4)

COMPARATIVE VERTEBRATE ANATOMY. An intensive study of vertebrate structure and evolution, from materials and tissues to organs and organ systems, including chordate systematics and diversity. Laboratories involve comparative dissection, gross and microscopic examination of vertebrate tissues, and experimental methods in functional morphology. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152, or consent of instructor. Offered: fall semester of even years.

BIOLOGY 338. (4)

COMPARATIVE VERTEBRATE PHYSIOLOGY. An intensive study of the physical and metabolic functions of vertebrates, including humans. Emphasis is placed on physiological ecology and adaptation to the environment. Laboratory experiments investigate the function of structural tissues and internal organ systems utilizing advanced instrumentation and computer software. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152, or consent of instructor; Biology 337 recommended. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

BIOLOGY 376. (4)

AQUATIC ECOLOGY. A study of the physical, chemical, and biological characteristics of the world's major aquatic ecosystems. The laboratory experience is designed to give the student first-hand knowledge of the methods used in studying aquatic organisms and environments. It will include regular assigned exercises as well as an independent study project. Field trips will be made. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, 151, and 152, or consent of instructor. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

CHEMISTRY

Professors Anderson, Porterfield^s, Sipe; Associate Professors Dunn, Mueller

Chair: Herbert J. Sipe, Jr.

The requirements for a major in Chemistry are:

1. All courses from the techniques track (except honors) and the following courses from the concepts track: 110, 120, 210-211, 310-311, 411, and one of the following three groups of additional courses:
 - (a) 410 and one Chemistry elective at the 300- or 400-level, or
 - (b) for ACS accreditation in Chemistry, 320, 410, and 420, or
 - (c) for ACS accreditation in Biochemistry, Chemistry 320 and 420, Biology 331, and one additional course in Biology, chosen from Biology 215, 220, 311, 321, and 332.
2. Satisfactory completion of Mathematics 141-142, Physics 131-132, and Physics 151-152.

CONCEPTS TRACK

CHEMISTRY 103. (3)

CHEMICAL CONCEPTS IN A TECHNOLOGICAL SOCIETY. A topical study of the impact of the chemical practices of our technological culture on our society, with a concurrent examination of the philosophical basis on which scientific judgments can be soundly formed in societal applications. This course is intended for students with primary interests outside the sciences, and will not satisfy prerequisite requirements for any other chemistry course. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: none. Chemistry 151 laboratory may be taken concurrently or in a later semester if desired. Offered: each semester if staff permits.

CHEMISTRY 105. (3)

TOXIC CHEMICALS IN SOCIETY. An introduction to selected topics in toxicology, pharmacology, and medicinal chemistry that are essential to an understanding of the role of chemicals in modern society and their impact on us as individuals and as a civilization. Considered in this course will be the risks and consequences of contact with chemicals both intended and unintended, e.g., the use of pharmaceuticals and exposure to hazardous chemicals from industrial wastes. This course is intended for students with primary interests outside the sciences and will not satisfy prerequisite requirements for any other chemistry course. Prerequisite:

None. Offered: spring semester if staff permits.

CHEMISTRY 110. (3)

CHEMICAL CONCEPTS. A survey of the basic concepts of physical chemistry as a foundation for either systematic study of descriptive inorganic chemistry or continuing study of bonding theory in the context of organic chemistry. Some mathematical facility desirable. Prerequisite: none.

Corequisite: none. Students electing Chemistry 110 to fulfill the laboratory science distribution requirement should also take Chemistry 151. Entering freshmen intending majors or careers related to chemistry should take Chemistry 110 and 151 in their first semester. Prerequisite: None. Offered: fall semester.

DESCRIPTIVE INORGANIC CHEMISTRY.

A survey of the chemistry of the elements: their natural occurrence, extractive methods, physical forms, laboratory reactions and uses, and commercial and industrial uses, with some economic interpretation of the latter. Some attention will be given to the abundance and exhaustion of resources and to ways in which current and future chemical research can alleviate expected scarcities. Prerequisite: Chemistry 110. Offered: spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 210-211. (3-3)

CHEMICAL BONDING AND ORGANIC CHEMISTRY.

An examination of the qualitative principles of covalent bonding as an introduction to an integrated study of the aliphatic and aromatic compounds of carbon with emphasis on reaction mechanisms, stereochemistry, and conformational analysis. Prerequisite: Chemistry 110. Corequisites: Chemistry 251-252. Offered: 210 in the fall semester; 211 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 220. (3)

CHEMICAL AND BIOCHEMICAL TOXICOLOGY.

An introduction to selected topics in toxicology, the science of poisons. Considered in this course will be the chemical and biochemical modes and sites of action of toxicants. Examples will be drawn from pharmaceutically and environmentally important compounds. Additional topics that may be considered include risk assessment, epidemiological investigations, and the relative risks of "natural" and synthetic toxicants. Prerequisites: Biology 102 and Chemistry 210, or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester, staff permitting.

CHEMISTRY 310-311. (3-3)

PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY I, II. The theoretical principles of chemistry are developed and used to explain selected chemical phenomena. Chemistry 310 considers thermodynamics, statistics, and kinetics; Chemistry 311 considers introductory quantum mechanics and statistical mechanics. Prerequisites: for Chemistry 310, Chemistry 110 and Mathematics 142; for Chemistry 311, Chemistry 310. Corequisite: for Chemistry 310, Physics 131. Offered: 310 in the fall semester; 311 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 312. (3)

PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY III. The quantum mechanics introduction of Physical Chemistry II is extended to molecular systems and used in the prediction of chemical and spectroscopic properties. The theoretical basis of spectroscopic techniques is examined. Prerequisite: Chemistry 311. Offered: spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 318. (3)

MEDICINAL CHEMISTRY. A study of pharmacologically active compounds with emphasis on chemical structure, mode of action, and the relationships of these factors to therapeutic effects in humans. The major classes of drugs discussed are various central and autonomic nervous system agents, cardiovascular agents, diuretics, antibiotics, and antineoplastic agents. Prerequisite: Chemistry 211 or consent of the instructor. Offered: staff permitting.

CHEMISTRY 320. (3)

BIOCHEMISTRY. An introductory survey. Emphasis is placed upon the application of basic principles of chemical structure, conformational analysis, mechanism, and dynamics to molecules and reactions of importance in living systems. The principal focus is at the molecular level. Proteins are covered extensively, and attention is also given to carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids. Prerequisite: Chemistry 211 or consent of the instructor. Offered: fall semester.

CHEMISTRY 330. (3)

ORGANIC CHEMISTRY III. An extended examination of the concepts introduced in the first two semesters of organic chemistry. Emphasis will be placed on the relationships between structure and mechanism. Articles from chemical journals will be used to show the interaction of experiment and theory in the formulation and development of reaction mechanisms. Prerequisite: Chemistry 211. Offered: spring semester of odd-numbered years.

CHEMISTRY 410-411. (3-3)

CHEMICAL INSTRUMENTATION AND ANALYSIS. Principles of instrumental chemical investigation and analysis. Topics include basic concepts of electronics applied to chemistry; introduction to analog and digital signal enhancement techniques; computer-assisted acquisition, manipulation, and presentation of data; survey of spectroscopic, electrochemical, mass spectrometric, and chromatographic methods of analysis. Prerequisite: Chemistry 311 or consent of the instructor. Offered: 410 in the fall semester; 411 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 420. (3)

ADVANCED INORGANIC CHEMISTRY. Basic theoretical concepts of inorganic chemistry applied to the principles of inorganic synthesis, and introductory organometallic and bioinorganic topics. Prerequisite: Chemistry 310. Offered: fall semester.

TECHNIQUES TRACK

CHEMISTRY 151-152. (1-1)

TECHNIQUES OF CHEMISTRY. An extended project involving the independent synthesis and analysis of a coordination compound, requiring the use of library facilities, volumetric and gravimetric techniques of quantitative analysis, and introductory spectroscopic techniques. Two second-semester projects will identify unknown compounds using chemical and spectroscopic techniques. Breakage deposit: $35.00. Prerequisite: Chemistry 151 for 152. Corequisite: Chemistry 103 or 110. Offered: 151 in the fall semester; 152 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 251-252. (1-2)

INTERMEDIATE LABORATORY. A series of individualized laboratory projects and related studies designed to continue the student's growth as an independent scientific investigator. The focus is on the design of experiments and interpretations of results. Projects and techniques are drawn largely from analytical, synthetic, and physical organic areas. The design of synthesis procedures and separation schemes is emphasized, and rate studies are correlated to mechanisms. Analytical techniques applied include gas and liquid chromatography, infrared spectroscopy, UV-visible spectrophotometry, nuclear magnetic resonance, and mass spectrometry. Breakage deposit: $35.00. Prerequisite: Chemistry 150. Chemistry 251 is prerequisite to Chemistry 252. Corequisites: Chemistry 210-211. Offered: 251 in the fall semester; 252 in the spring semester.

ADVANCED LABORATORY I. Individual one-semester projects are drawn from the fields of analytical, inorganic, organic, and physical chemistry. Projects involve advanced synthetic techniques in organic and in inorganic chemistry, chemical analysis and structure determination by instrumental methods, computer acquisition, and reduction of data. Projects include literature searches and journal-style research reports. Weekly seminars include several speakers from regional academic and research organizations. Each student gives at least one research seminar per semester. Chemistry 351-352 and 451-452 form a four-semester sequence in which students work each semester with a different member of the department. Breakage deposit: $35.00. Prerequisites: Chemistry 252 for 351; Chemistry 351 for 352, or consent of the instructor. Offered: 351 in the fall semester; 352 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 362. (1)

INTRODUCTION TO HONORS RESEARCH. The preparation of a detailed proposal of honors research, based on a thorough literature search, in consultation with the professor who will supervise the honors research project in Chemistry 461-462. Prerequisites: Chemistry 351 and consent of the instructor. Corequisite: Chemistry 352. Offered: on demand.

CHEMISTRY 451-452. (2-2)

ADVANCED LABORATORY II. The projects in Advanced Laboratory II are designed to require more student ingenuity than those in Advanced Laboratory I. Projects are drawn from the same fields of chemistry as are those in Advanced Laboratory I. Breakage deposit: $35.00. Prerequisite: Chemistry 352. Corequisite: Chemistry 410 or permission of the instructor. Offered: 451 in the fall semester; 452 in the spring semester.

CHEMISTRY 461. (3)

HONORS ADVANCED LABORATORY.

An extended scholarly project, developed in Chemistry 362, conducted in close consultation with a supervising professor, and ordinarily continuing in Chemistry 462. Prerequisites: Chemistry 352, Chemistry 362, and consent of the instructor. Offered: on demand.

CHEMISTRY 462. (3)

HONORS ADVANCED LABORATORY.

An extended scholarly project, developed in Chemistry 362, initiated in Chemistry 461, and completed in close consultation with a supervising professor. Prerequisites: Chemistry 461 and consent of the instructor. Offered: on demand.

CLASSICS

Professors Arieti, Brinkley, Tucker

Chairman: John L. Brinkley

The requirements for a major in Greek are at least 30 hours, including 12 hours in Greek above the elementary level, of which 6 hours must be in courses at the 300-level or above, and History 301. The other 15 hours may be selected from courses in Greek (above the 200-level), Latin, and Classical Studies; History 302; Fine Arts 110; Philosophy 301; and Political Science 310.

The requirements for a major in Latin are at least 30 hours, including 12 hours in Latin above the elementary level, of which 6 hours must be in courses at the 300-level or above, and History 302. The other 15 hours may be selected from courses in Latin (above the 200-level), Greek, and Classical Studies; History 301; Fine Arts 110; and Philosophy 301.

The requirements for a major in Greek and Latin are at least 36 hours, including at least 12 hours in each language, including 6 in one at the 300-level or above, and History 301 and 302. The additional 6 hours may be selected from courses in the Greek or Latin languages (above the 200-level), courses in Classical Studies, Fine Arts 110, Philosophy 301, and Political Science 310.

The requirements for a major in Classical Studies are at least 30 hours, including at least 6 hours of Greek or Latin above the elementary level. The additional 24 hours may be selected from courses in the Greek and Latin languages (if these are in the language used to satisfy the language portion of this major, they must be above the 200-level); courses in Classical Studies; History 301, 302; Fine Arts 110; Philosophy 301; and Political Science 310. None of the thirty hours taken to satisfy the requirements for the Classical Studies major may be used in the Humanities portion of the distribution requirements.

GREEK

GREEK 101-102. (3-3)

ELEMENTARY GREEK. A foundation course in the vocabulary, forms, and grammar of classical Greek, preparing the student to read standard authors. Emphasis is given to the development of the student's command of English by comparative and contrastive exercises and to the appreciation of Greek cultural values by close study of significant vocabulary. Prerequisite: none. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

GREEK 201-202. (3-3)

INTERMEDIATE GREEK. A continuing study of grammar and vocabulary is integrated with the reading and analysis of unadapted prose and verse. Prerequisites: Greek 101-102. Offered: 201 in the fall semester; 202 in the spring semester.

GREEK 301. (3)

THE GREEK NEW TESTAMENT. Close study of passages from the Synoptic Gospels and Acts, and perhaps some other books. Due attention is given to peculiarities of koiné Greek and to textual problems, especially those with theological implications. Prerequisites: Greek 201-202. Offered: on sufficient demand.

GREEK 302. (3)

GREEK DRAMA. Representative plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, or Aristophanes will be read and discussed as dramatic pieces and in their relation to the origin of tragedy and comedy and the development of the theater. Prerequisites: Greek 201-202. Offered: on sufficient demand.

GREEK 303-304. (3-3)

GREEK HISTORIANS. Selections from the major historians will be read, with emphasis on developing the student's capacity to read Greek prose and on his appreciation of the writers' contributions to Western historiography. Some parallel reading in English is required. Prerequisites: Greek 201-202. It is suggested that the student have had or be enrolled in History 301. Offered: on sufficient demand.

GREEK 305-308. (3 each semester)

ADVANCED READINGS IN GREEK LITERATURE. The reading and discussion of selected works of Greek literature, chosen according to the needs of the class. Among authors that may be selected are Homer, Plato, Plutarch, the lyric poets, and the Athenian orators. Prerequisites: Greek 201-202. Offered: on sufficient demand.

LATIN

LATIN 101-102. (3-3)

ELEMENTARY LATIN. This course is designed for students with no previous experience with Latin. The text is written for adults; the sentences and drill exercises in forms and syntax are based on classical authors. Considerable emphasis is placed on expanding the student's vocabulary and grasp of language structure. Prerequisite: none. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

LATIN 201-202. (3-3)

INTERMEDIATE LATIN. Reading and analysis of selections from Latin prose and verse, and a continuing study of grammar and vocabulary. Prerequisites for 201: Latin 101-102 or equivalent; for 202: Latin 201. Offered: 201 in the fall semester; 202 in the spring semester.

LATIN 301-302. (3-3)

MASTERPIECES OF LATIN LITERATURE. The selection of authors will be at the discretion of the instructor. Prerequisite: Latin 202 or equivalent. Offered: 301 in the fall semester; 302 in the spring semester.

LATIN 401-408. (3 each semester)

ADVANCED READINGS IN LATIN LITERATURE. The courses will be devoted to intensive study of individual authors such as Lucretius, Tacitus, Livy, Ovid, Horace, or to literary genres such as Roman satire, elegiac poetry, epistolography, history. Prerequisites: a third-year Latin course or equivalent. Offered: on sufficient demand.

LATIN 411. (3)

LATIN COMPOSITION AND GRAMMAR.

Prerequisites: a third-year Latin course or equivalent, or permission of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

CLASSICAL STUDIES

Courses offered under the rubric of Classical Studies require no knowledge of Latin or Greek.

CLASSICAL STUDIES 201. (3)

ENGLISH ETYMOLOGY. A study of English words as derived from the classical languages. The purpose of the course is to broaden the student's vocabulary through a study of the historical development of an important element of the English language. No prior knowledge of Greek or Latin is presumed. Not open to freshmen.

CLASSICAL STUDIES 202. (3)

CLASSICAL MYTHOLOGY. A comprehensive survey of Greco-Roman mythology, with the aim of providing the student with a working knowledge of a significant element in Western culture and its creative achievements. Readings and lectures cover both the content of the mythology and its linguistic, archaeological, and anthropological significance. Offered: alternate spring semesters.

CLASSICAL STUDIES 203. (3)

GREEK LITERATURE IN TRANSLATION.

Reading and discussion of major works of classical Greek literature. Literary themes and techniques will be considered, as well as the influence of Greek writings on later literature. No knowledge of Greek is required. Offered: fall semester.

CLASSICAL STUDIES 204. (3)

LATIN LITERATURE IN TRANSLATION.

Reading and discussion of major works of classical Latin literature. Literary themes and techniques will be considered as well as the influence of Latin writings on later literature. No knowledge of Latin is required. Offered: spring semester.

CLASSICAL STUDIES 301. (3)

HUMANISM IN ANTIQUITY. An intellectual history of the ancient world, ranging from Hesiod's Theogony—an account of the genesis of the Greek Gods—to Boethius, the man who undertook to synthesize Plato and Aristotle. Readings include works by major figures, like Herodotus, Plato, and Augustine, as well as some by minor figures, like Minucius Felix and Basil. Emphasis will be placed on such questions as what the ancients meant by "happiness," "human," and "nature," and how their views developed under paganism and Christianity. Prerequisite: Any of the following: Humanities 101, History 301, 302, Latin or Greek at the 200- level or above, Classical Studies 203, 204, or permission of the instructor. Offered in spring semester of alternate years.

HISTORY 301. (3)

GREEK HISTORY. An historical survey of the cultural, political, economic, and social aspects of Greek civilization to the time of the late Roman Empire. This course does not assume a knowledge of Greek and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. Offered: fall semester.

HISTORY 302. (3)

ROMAN HISTORY. A comprehensive survey of the rise and decline of Rome as a world-state and as the matrix of subsequent Western civilization. Primary emphasis is placed on the social, political, economic, and diplomatic forces in the evolution of Roman supremacy in the Mediterranean. Special attention is given to the development of the civil law and the origin of basic Western legal concepts. This course does not assume a knowledge of Latin and will not satisfy any of the language requirements. It carries credit toward a History major. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester.

LINGUISTICS 301. (3)

DESCRIPTIVE LINGUISTICS. An introduction to the techniques, findings, and insights of modern linguistics, "the most scientific of the humanities and the most humane of the sciences." Special attention is given to developing analytical appreciation of contemporary American English, on which most of the class exercises are based. A general course for all those interested in the nature of language. Prerequisite: sophomore or higher standing. Offered: on sufficient demand.

LINGUISTICS 302. (3)

HISTORICAL LINGUISTICS. Thorough study of the comparative method of linguistic reconstruction, and of modern views of the nature of linguistic evolution. Each student is required to do practical, independent work in a language of his competence, which may be English. Prerequisite: Linguistics 301 or English 401. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ECONOMICS

Professors Gibson, Townsend; Associate Professors Carilli^s, Hendley, M. Prell; Assistant Professors Mitias, Thornton.

Chair: David W. Gibson

The requirements for all students majoring in Economics are 27 hours in Economics, to include Economics 301 and 303, and, in addition, Mathematics 121 and 140. Students are expected to take the two required Mathematics courses prior to the junior year and to complete Economics 301 and 303 during the junior year. Beyond these specific courses, the student may choose between concentrations in General Economics and in Management Economics. The General Economics concentration requires the student to take Economics 401 and 402. For the Management Economics concentration, the student must take Economics 221, 222, 421, and 422. Interdisciplinary majors within the social sciences may be developed and pursued with the approval of the departments concerned.

ECONOMICS 101. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO ECONOMICS. A survey of the basic concepts used to analyze economic questions. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

ECONOMICS 103. (3)

MONEY AND BANKING. Analysis of the fractional reserve banking system and its place in financial markets and the American economy. The Federal Reserve System and its relation to the banking system are analyzed. Monetary and fiscal policies are examined in the light of Macroeconomic theory. Prerequisite: Economics 101. May not be taken by a student who has had Economics 303, except with permission of the instructor. Offered: each semester.

ECONOMICS 201. (3)

COMPARATIVE ECONOMIC SYSTEMS.

An examination of the major economic systems with emphasis on implications for resource allocation, income distribution, and economic growth. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 205. (3)

HISTORY OF ECONOMIC THOUGHT.

A survey of the development of economics from Plato and Xenophon through marginalism. Emphasis will be on the works of the central figures in the evolution of the discipline, including Smith, Ricardo, Mill, Marx, and Marshall. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 208. (3)

PUBLIC FINANCE. An analysis of the process of government decision-making and of the effects of governmental budgetary decisions, particularly tax decisions, on individual and business choices. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 210. (3)

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT. A study of fact, theory, and policy in underdeveloped economies. Problems of capital formation, population, agriculture, international trade, foreign aid, etc. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 212. (3)

ENVIRONMENTAL ECONOMICS. This course examines the economic determinants of environmental change and analyzes the principal remedies proposed for the problems of pollution, resource exploitation, and overpopulation. Case studies will be used to illustrate, and will require use of, the concepts of public goods, externalities, benefit-cost analysis, and government regulation. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 213. (3)

ECONOMICS OF THE LAW. Application of economic analysis to the civil law, with primary emphasis upon the common law of property, torts, and contracts. Examination of the effects of legal institutions and precedents on economic choices and study of the economic logic of law. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 214. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO INDUSTRIAL ORGANIZATION AND THE ECONOMICS OF ANTI-TRUST. An examination of the structure, conduct, and performance of different industries, and an analysis of government anti-trust policies designed to alter or maintain existing market structures.

Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 216. (3)

AUSTRIAN ECONOMICS. This course will develop the methodological foundations of the Austrian school. From these foundations the course will investigate the Austrian view on value theory and social costs and benefits, entrepreneurship, competition and monopoly, the socialist calculation debate, capital and interest, money and monetary institutions, business cycle theory, and wages and unemployment. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 220. (3)

CORPORATION FINANCE. The financial organization and management of a business corporation. The course includes a study of methods of obtaining capital, financial policy, mergers, reorganization, and liquidation. Prerequisite: Economics 101; Economics 231 (or equivalent) is recommended but not required. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 221. (3)

MANAGEMENT ACCOUNTING AND ANALYSIS. Study of the sources, organization, and uses of data generated by double-entry accounting. Emphasis will be placed on managerial accounting techniques. Prerequisites: Economics 101 and sophomore standing. Offered: each semester.

ECONOMICS 222. (3)

NATURE, MANAGEMENT, AND ENVIRONMENT OF BUSINESS. An introductory survey of the organization and management of the business enterprise, with an emphasis on the functional areas. Prerequisites: Economics 101 and sophomore standing. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 231. (3)

FINANCIAL ACCOUNTING AND ANALYSIS. A comprehensive introduction to the fundamental principles and procedures of financial accounting. Emphasis will be placed on the description, derivation, and interpretation of the primary financial statements. Economics 231 will not fulfill the accounting requirement for the Management Economics concentration; only Economics 221 will fulfill that requirement. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 260. (3)

INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS. Examination of the basis of international trade, the balance of international payments, and adjustment mechanisms. Application of the theory to current problems of international payments and trade. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 301. (3)

INTERMEDIATE MICROECONOMIC THEORY. A study of the theory of consumer behavior, production, and pricing; comparison of resource allocation in competitive and noncompetitive markets. Prerequisites: Economics 101 and junior standing. Offered: each semester.

ECONOMICS 303. (3)

INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMIC THEORY. Analysis of theories applied to the problems of income determination, unemployment, and inflation in modern industrial economies. Prerequisites: Economics 101 and junior standing. Offered: each semester.

ECONOMICS 306. (3)

ELEMENTS OF ECONOMETRICS. A study of the application of statistical analysis to economic problems with a review of basic statistical techniques followed by extensive empirical econometric work. Prerequisites: Economics 101 and Mathematics 121. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 308. (3)

MATHEMATICAL ECONOMICS. Exposition of the mathematical structure of economic theories with particular attention to static and comparative static analysis, game theory, and unconstrained and constrained optimization models. Prerequisites: Economics 301 and Mathematics 141. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 376. (3)

INTERNSHIP. Internship opportunities are made available to qualified students in the belief that learning which involves both the classroom and the larger world may be especially valuable for the student. Combines work (normally done in the summer before the student's senior year) with ongoing course work and the production of a substantial research paper on a related issue. This paper, a daily journal, and the worksite supervisor's evaluation will serve as the basis for the internship grade. However, the granting of credit for an internship remains at the discretion of the sponsoring faculty member. To qualify, a student must have a grade-point average of at least 2.7 at the time of application and must have taken at least nine hours of Hampden-Sydney Economics courses or the equivalent before the internship begins. May not be included in the 27 hours required for the major.

ECONOMICS 401. (3)

SEMINAR IN ECONOMIC FORECASTING. A capstone course in economics, the seminar combines economic theory and econometric technique for the task of modeling and forecasting trends in both industry-level and aggregate economic activity. Prerequisites: Economics 301 and 303. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 402. (3)

SEMINAR IN PUBLIC POLICY ANALYSIS. A seminar designed primarily for seniors concentrating in General Economics and intended to explore the application of economic analysis to a variety of public-policy issues. Prerequisites: Economics 301 and 401, or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

ECONOMICS 421. (3)

MANAGERIAL ECONOMICS. Application of microeconomic decision tools to managerial problems of the firm. The class time will be divided between a discussion of tools to be used and application of those tools. Prerequisite: Economics 301. Offered: fall semester.

ECONOMICS 422. (3)

SEMINAR IN BUSINESS ISSUES. The purpose of this course is to integrate the student's knowledge of the business system. Discussion of problems, independent investigation, and communication of conclusions by the student are emphasized. Prerequisites: Economics 221, 222, and senior standing, or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

CONCENTRATION IN ECONOMICS WITH MATHEMATICS

The Departments of Economics and Mathematics and Computer Science offer a concentration in Economics with Mathematics for students interested primarily in the quantitative aspects of Economics. The concentration consists of the following courses:

ECONOMICS 101.

ECONOMICS 301, 303.

ECONOMICS 306, 308.

Two elective courses in Economics.

MATHEMATICS 121, 141, 142.

MATHEMATICS 231, 242.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 261.

With the permission of the two departments, a student may substitute within the same discipline for the above courses. A substitution must, however, be consistent with the concentration's objective of a tightly integrated program grounded in the mathematical concepts most widely used in Economics, and exploring the areas of Economics best illustrating the application of quantitative techniques.

Professor Emeritus Simpson; Professors Bagby, S. Colley, Martin, M. M. Saunders, Schiffer¹; Adjunct Associate Professors T. O'Grady and Rhoads; Assistant Professors Hardy², K. Weese

Chair: Lawrence H. Martin, Jr.

The requirements for a major in English are 33 hours, including two semesters each of History of English Literature (211-212), American Literature (221-222), and Shakespeare (333-334); a genre course; a period course; a single-author course other than Shakespeare. In addition, majors must take one course in British History (History 201-202) or Literary Criticism (English 405). At least one course in philosophy and at least two semesters in foreign languages beyond the proficiency requirement are recommended. English courses taken at other institutions and presented for major credit must be approved in writing by the Department of English; for current students this approval must be secured in advance, and for transfer and former students it must be secured at entrance.

ENGLISH 201. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO LITERATURE. This course presents ways of understanding and interpreting literature. It is also an introduction to the main kinds of writing: fiction, poetry, and drama. Students will learn and develop techniques of analysis so that they can find meaning in literature; they will also learn how to write critical interpretations of the works they read. Prerequisite: none. Freshmen and sophomores only. Offered: each semester.

ENGLISH 204. (3)

AMERICAN NATURE WRITING. A study of selected American works which deal with the relationship between human beings and the natural world. The course is an examination of American attitudes toward the uses of nature—as a source of delight, of ethical wisdom, and of revelation in some larger sense—and of the methods by which the individual can prepare himself to receive such benefits. Authors to be considered include Cooper, Emerson, Thoreau, Frost, Cather, Faulkner, and Silko. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 206. (3)

LITERATURE AND YOUTH. A study of the Bildungsroman, a type of novel recounting the youth and young manhood of a character attempting to learn the nature of the world, discover its meaning and pattern, and acquire a philosophy of life. Readings include works by Joyce, Wolfe, Ellison, Hemingway, Updike, Conrad, and others. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 207. (3)

LITERATURE OF WAR. Major literary works concerning war are studied, with special attention to the ways in which war has occasioned great literature and to such recurring themes as suffering and heroism. Reading is concentrated in works of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, but includes works of the ancient, medieval, and Renaissance periods. Emphasis is on novels of Crane, Hemingway, Mailer, Greene, Heller, and Vonnegut. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even years.

ENGLISH 209. (3)

THE SHORT NOVEL. This course will include British, European, American, and South American authors and works. Students will read about fifteen short novels by such authors as Henry James, William Faulkner, Katherine Ann Porter, and Philip Roth or Saul Bellow; Leo Tolstoy, Franz Kafka, Thomas Mann, and Fyodor Dostoevsky; Joseph Conrad and perhaps R. L. Stevenson, E. M. Forster, D. H. Lawrence, and Gabriel García Márquez. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even years.

ENGLISH 211-212. (3-3)

THE HISTORY OF ENGLISH LITERATURE. The first semester surveys major authors, works, and literary types from the beginnings through the eighteenth century, including Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Milton; the second semester continues the history to the present day, including Wordsworth, Tennyson, and Eliot. Appropriate critical approaches other than the historical are employed. Prerequisite: none. Offered: 211 in the fall semester; 212 in the spring semester.

ENGLISH 221-222. (3-3)

AMERICAN LITERATURE. A general study of American literature from colonial times through the Civil War (221) and from the Civil War to the present (222). We focus especially on major figures: Hawthorne, Melville, Emerson, Thoreau, Douglass, and Whitman; Dickinson, Twain, Frost, Stevens, Hughes, Faulkner, Baldwin, and others. Prerequisite: none. Offered: 221 in the fall semester; 222 in the spring semester.

ENGLISH 224. (3)
INTRODUCTION TO AFRICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE. The works of major African-American authors are treated historically and critically, with the aim of understanding what "the American experience" has meant to African-Americans. Poetry (from Dunbar to Rita Dove) and fiction (from Toomer to Morrison) are the main concerns, but some attention is also given to non-fiction prose (from Douglass to Malcolm X). Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 226. (3)
WOMEN AND LITERATURE. A study of gender as a significant force in shaping literature, affecting form, content, and style in works by both men and women worldwide. Themes to be investigated include gender roles, past and present; family relationships; the women's movement as a cultural phenomenon; and male and female literary "voices." Works by various authors will be considered, ranging from Jane Austen, Virginia Woolf, and Alice Walker to Charles Dickens, D. H. Lawrence, and William Styron. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ENGLISH 241. (3)
INTRODUCTION TO CINEMA. Drawing on classic through contemporary masterpieces from American and European cinema, this course first teaches students how to read the filmic image and to appreciate film style. It next addresses narrative technique in film, then introduces some critical approaches to understanding film, such as genre and auteur criticism. Finally, the course examines some films in a cultural studies context. This course does not satisfy the college's literature requirement. Screenings are held at a time different from the class period. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester.

WRITING COURSES

ENGLISH 231. (3)
INTRODUCTORY CREATIVE WRITING: POETRY. A workshop in the craft of writing poetry. The general approach will be to examine selected short works as models and to present copies of student writing to the class for discussion and criticism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester.

ENGLISH 233. (3)
INTRODUCTORY CREATIVE WRITING: FICTION. A workshop in the discipline of writing fiction. Students will study the techniques of short-story writers such as Anton Chekhov and Eudora Welty to use as models in the writing of their own stories. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester.

ENGLISH 235. (3)
THE ART OF THE ESSAY. A workshop in the craft of modern essay writing. Students will examine classic and experimental essays for technique and content. Emphasis will be placed on individual style, but imitation of selected works will be encouraged. Prerequisites: Rhetoric 101-102 and consent of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ENGLISH 236. (3)
ADVANCED CREATIVE WRITING: FICTION. A workshop in the craft of writing fiction. Students move from brief assignments emphasizing the elements of fiction—description, point of view, character, and plot—to the writing of short stories. Prerequisite: English 233 or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

ENGLISH 238. (3)
ADVANCED CREATIVE WRITING: POETRY. A workshop in the craft and art of writing poetry. Classes are a mix of open readings and criticism of student poems, reports, and tutorials. Students are asked to compose a chapbook-length portfolio of their own poetry by the end of the semester. Prerequisite: English 231 or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

PERIOD COURSES

ENGLISH 300. (3)

MEDIEVAL ENGLISH LITERATURE. A study of Old English and Middle English literature (exclusive of Chaucer), surveying major authors and works, important literary genres, and characteristic human values of the English middle ages. Readings will be in modern translation; knowledge of the Old English and Middle English languages is not required. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 301. (3)

LITERATURE OF THE ENGLISH RENAISSANCE. Masterpieces of Tudor and Stuart literature (exclusive of Shakespeare and Milton) will be treated in relation to the historical, cultural, and intellectual milieu of the Renaissance in England, 1485-1660. Readings will include works of poetry, drama, fiction, and prose non-fiction by More, Sidney, Spenser, Marlowe, Donne, Jonson, and others. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even years.

ENGLISH 302. (3)

EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY LITERATURE. A critical study of the major writers of the eighteenth century, particularly Pope, Swift, and Samuel Johnson, and of the central imaginative concerns of the transition from the Renaissance world view to the Romantic and post-Romantic era. There is a concentration on satire, but with some attention to drama, the novel, lyric poetry, and miscellaneous prose. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 303. (3)

THE ENGLISH ROMANTICS. The six major Romantics—Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, and Keats—are read critically. Primary emphasis is on the poetic vision of each writer, with some attention also to the continuing struggle of "the Romantic imagination." Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even years.

ENGLISH 304. (3)

VICTORIAN LITERATURE. This course concentrates on the major Victorian poets—Browning, Tennyson, and Arnold—and samples the minor ones. It examines the prose writings of Darwin, Mill, and Arnold; and it peeks into the prose fiction of some significant Victorian novelists—probably Dickens, Anthony Trollope, and a Brontë. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even years.

GENRE COURSES

ENGLISH 311. (3)

EPIC WRITING IN ENGLISH AND AMERICAN LITERATURE. This study of the epic tradition starts with a brief glance at the classical epic and then focuses on epic writing in English and American literature. Readings may include Beowulf, Morte D'Artur, Paradise Lost, Moby Dick, and selections from heroic poems. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ENGLISH 313. (3)

ENGLISH DRAMA. A survey of English drama, exclusive of Shakespeare. The nature and origins of drama as a literary genre are studied, with attention to the characteristics of tragedy, comedy, and other types. Readings include representative plays from the medieval, Renaissance, Restoration, neoclassical, Romantic, and Victorian periods. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ENGLISH 314. (3)

MODERN DRAMA. American, British, and European plays since 1880 are read. Playwrights may include Ibsen, Strindberg, Chekhov, Shaw, O'Neill, Pirandello, García Lorca, Brecht, Tennessee Williams, and Arthur Miller. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even years.

ENGLISH 316. (3)

MODERN BRITISH AND AMERICAN POETRY. A critical study of major poets of the twentieth century, such as Yeats, Eliot, Frost, Williams, Stevens, Hughes, Levertov, and Ammons. The course is intended less as a historical overview than as a close examination of the poetic worlds of the individual writers. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even years.

ENGLISH 317. (3)

ENGLISH NOVEL. The English novel is studied from its inception with Defoe and Fielding in the eighteenth century to the end of the nineteenth century. Major novelists to be read also include Austen, the Brontë sisters, Dickens, and Hardy. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 318. (3)

MODERN BRITISH AND AMERICAN NOVEL.

Major twentieth-century novelists in English are read, including Conrad, Joyce, D. H. Lawrence, Graham Greene, Hemingway, Faulkner, and Steinbeck. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even years.

ENGLISH 320. (3)

THE SHORT STORY. Readings are drawn from American, British, and European short stories, and from criticism and theory of fiction. Authors may include Poe, Hawthorne, James, Twain, O. Henry, Lardner, Hemingway, and Faulkner; Joyce, Saki, Maugham, Mansfield, D. H. Lawrence, and H. G. Wells; Maupassant, Chekhov, Pushkin, Kafka, García Márquez, and Thomas Mann. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 322. (3)

TOPICS IN CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE.

This course is a study of important novels, or plays, or poems written in recent years. Early contemporary literary movements, such as the theater of the absurd and American metafiction, will be studied in order to lend historical perspective to later works, but emphasis will fall on the literature written from the 1970s to the present. The reading list, which will reflect the cultural diversity of contemporary literature, will evolve as new authors emerge or established figures produce new works worthy of attention. The genre will change periodically. Prerequisite: none.

SINGLE AUTHOR COURSES

ENGLISH 330. (3)

CHAUCEER. The Canterbury Tales, Troilus and Criseyde, and other main poems of Chaucer are studied. Attention is given to the literary and cultural background of Chaucer's works. Most readings are in Middle English, but prior knowledge of the Middle English language is not required. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even years.

ENGLISH 333-334. (3-3)

SHAKESPEARE. The early comedies, histories, and tragedies; the sonnets; and Venus and Adonis are treated in the first semester. The "problem plays," the great tragedies, and the romances are read in the second semester. Both courses stress Shakespeare's plays in performance as well as the development of Shakespeare as a literary artist.

Prerequisite: none. Offered: 333 in the fall semester; 334 in the spring semester.

ENGLISH 335. (3)

MILTON. A study of Milton's poetry, with emphasis upon Paradise Lost, Paradise Regained, and Samson Agonistes as a trilogy. Milton's life and his prose are considered insofar as they contribute to an understanding of his thought and poetic achievement. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even years.

ENGLISH 337. (3)

DICKENS. A study of Dickens's novels and his development as a writer, focusing primarily on the evolution of his style and characterizations, but with some attention also to special topics like Dickens's humor, his social themes, and the serial publication of the novels. At least one of the long novels (e.g., Bleak House) will be read throughout the semester in its serial parts. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 338. (3)

FAULKNER. An early novel, the four great novels of his "second period," several significant short stories, and a number of articles and poems are among the readings from Faulkner's work intended to display his diverse talents, multiple themes, and innovative techniques. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

ENGLISH 339. (3)

HEMINGWAY. The major novels, stories, and essays of Ernest Hemingway are read and critically evaluated. The relationship between Hemingway's personal life and the style, subject matter, and heroic code of his fiction is central, but emphasis is on the fiction, not the life. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

LANGUAGE AND CRITICISM

ENGLISH 401. (3)

HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

A general introduction to the English language as modern linguistics defines and describes the evolutionary forces that have determined its sound- and form-systems, syntax, and vocabulary. Considerable attention is paid to identifying the diagnostic features of the various phases in the development of the language, to the social and other non-linguistic factors in language development, and to the peculiar history of American English and its dialects. Prerequisite: none, but English 211-212 is strongly recommended. Offered: on sufficient demand.

SEE ALSO UNDER CLASSICAL STUDIES: Classical Studies 201, English Etymology; and Linguistics 301 and 302, Descriptive and Historical Linguistics.

LITERARY CRITICISM. A study of critical theories, especially of modern trends in criticism, and an introduction to the practice of critical techniques. Prerequisite: none. Offered: annually.

For a Fine Arts Major without concentration, the remaining hours may come from any of the concentration courses or from the following courses of other departments: English 231, 233, 236, 238, 241, and 322, and Psychology 313.

Students interested in going into arts management may want to consider Economics 101 as the prerequisite for the following helpful courses: Economics 221, 222, or 231; they may also want to consult the chair of the Department of Fine Arts about courses in the Sweet Briar Arts Management Program.

FINE ARTS 101. (1)

MUSIC READING AND SINGING. The purpose of this course is to teach the ability to read music by applying in all class drill and practice the movable-do system of solmization and the English system of chanted and sung rhythmic syllables. Students will practice reading music, in treble and bass clefs, of graded difficulty. Fundamentals of singing will also be studied and applied. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 103. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO MUSIC LITERATURE.

The aim of this course is to develop listening skills, musical understanding, and knowledge of the standard repertoire. It examines music in its historical and cultural contexts through readings, guided listening, audio-visual materials, and lecture demonstrations. No special musical knowledge or ability is required. The course is open to all students. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 105. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO THE VISUAL ARTS. This is an introductory course in art appreciation, involving study and analysis of the various visual arts and their historical and contemporary relationship to society. No special artistic ability is required. The course is open to all students. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 108, 109, 208, 209. (1 each, counting toward graduation); 308, 309, 408, 409 (1 each, not counting toward graduation)

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF CHORAL MUSIC. A sequence of courses involving a thorough study and analysis, leading to performances, of masterworks from the great Western choral tradition. Integral to the course will be study of basic music theory, terminology, sight-singing, and vocal technique, as well as application of foreign languages, history, and other arts as they relate to the specific literature of the semester. Total of 4 credit hours (for 108-109, 208-209) may be applied to graduation. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor; 108 is the prerequisite for 109, 109 for 208, etc. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 110-111. (3-3)

THE HISTORY OF WESTERN ART. An introductory survey of painting, sculpture, and architecture in Europe and America, the course emphasizes the classical tradition and its transformations first (in 110) by Christianity, then (in 111) by the Industrial Revolution and the emergence of modernism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: 110 in the fall semester; 111 in the spring semester.

FINE ARTS 206. (3)

WESTERN ART OF THE 19TH AND 20TH CENTURIES. This course focuses on the painting, sculpture, and architecture of Europe and North America in the modern age, presented in the context of contemporaneous philosophical thought and historical events. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 105, 110, or 111. Offered: spring semester.

FINE ARTS 207. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO THEATER. This course is designed for students interested in understanding plays in the context of theater history and of performance circumstances. Previous theatrical experience is desirable but not necessary. Plays to be read will be drawn from various periods of history and types of drama, from the Greeks to the Theater of the Absurd. Scenes may be performed, with the emphasis upon interpretation rather than mechanics or technique. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 211-212. (3-3)

FUNDAMENTALS OF MUSIC THEORY. These courses are designed to teach the theoretical fundamentals of music as well as to develop elementary music reading, writing, and analytical skills. Classwork regularly involves critical listening, exercises in music reading and writing, and singing. Topics include notation, keys, scales, intervals, harmonic functions, basic counterpoint, basic musical forms, sight-reading, keyboard, melodic-rhythmic dictation, and score study. Fine Arts 212, as an advanced continuation of 211, concentrates on study and analysis of the larger musical forms. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 103 or permission of the instructor. Fine Arts 211 is the normal prerequisite for Fine Arts 212. Offered: 211 in the fall semester; 212 in the spring semester.

FINE ARTS 214. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO PHOTOGRAPHY. This is a studio course, with projects and readings that explore both the history and aesthetics of photography as a fine art. Along with instruction in using a 35mm camera and processing and printing photographs, this course deals with the sharpening of visual perception and emphasizes the creative use of photographic technique. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 215. (3)

BEGINNING DRAWING. This is a studio course, concerned with the development of basic drawing skills in accordance with the concepts of art. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

BEGINNING PAINTING. This is a studio course, intended as an introduction to painting through projects which demonstrate various processes. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 215 or permission of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

FINE ARTS 220. (3)

CRITICAL ISSUES IN THE ARTS. Readings of works by philosophers, critics, and artists ground a study of the value of drama, music, and the visual arts for society. Class discussion and individual research emphasize the classical idea that art should support the social order by teaching the public, the Romantic notion that the arts develop emotional sensibility, and the modern shift toward relativism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

FINE ARTS 302. (3)

TOPICS IN MUSIC HISTORY. This course goes to considerable depth in the selected topic, such as music for the keyboard, chamber music, opera, or the works of a single composer or stylistic period. The course emphasizes analysis and interpretation through several written reports, listening and discussion in class, and outside listening. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 103 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

FINE ARTS 314. (3)

INTERMEDIATE PHOTOGRAPHY. This studio course explores photography as a visual language. Projects help students to develop their capacity for creative thinking and communication. Topics include montage, digital imaging, photographic mixed media, fiber-base printing, and print toning. Students create a self-directed project and develop a portfolio of images. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 214 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

FINE ARTS 315. (3)

INTERMEDIATE DRAWING. This is a studio course which focuses upon identifying style, improving visual memory, using varied drawing materials, developing appropriate images to illuminate or illustrate text, and working from the human figure. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 215. Offered: on sufficient demand.

FINE ARTS 321. (3)

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF THEATRE. The first portion of the course will concentrate on the theory and practice of the most central of all theatre activities, acting, with specific study of the influence of Stanislavsky. The final weeks of the course will, according to the interests of individual students, offer opportunities for studying the theory and practice of directing, (more) acting, lighting, set design, theatre design, and playwriting. Prerequisite: Fine Arts 207 or consent of the instructor. Offered: each semester.

FINE ARTS 407. (3)

THEATRE DESIGN AND TECHNOLOGY.

A study of the history and evolution of design and technology from the Renaissance to the present. Students will work in conjunction with the department's theatre productions to create a working knowledge in such areas as set and light design and stage craft. Each student will also devise his own set designs for prominent plays from the history of theatre. Prerequisites: Fine Arts 207 or 321, and consent of the instructor. Offered: alternate semesters.

FINE ARTS 499. (3)

SENIOR THESIS. This course will involve the student in a project designed specifically to reflect his interest in the arts. In consultation with the faculty of the department, and under the guidance of the appropriate member of the department, the project will be undertaken in the student's senior year, and must include appropriate documentation. Prerequisite: senior status.

HISTORY

Professors Heinemann, Laine^s, Prazniak, Simms; Associate Professors Fitch, Hattox; Adjunct Associate Professor Langlois; Assistant Professor Lehman; Lecturer Pilkington

Chair: Roxann Prazniak

The requirements for a major in History are 33 hours in History courses, including History 101-102 and 499. Of the remaining 24 hours, 9 must be in the field of United States history and 9 in any field outside United States history.

All 300- and 400-level courses are open only to juniors and seniors, or others with the consent of the instructor.

Students are encouraged to develop individualized majors in consultation with a member of the department. Such a major would give a student a thorough foundation in history while offering him the opportunity to pursue topics of interest in related disciplines. Special topics are offered in History 485 and 490 for students with a 3.0 grade-point average in the history major or by special permission of the department.

COLLOQUIUM. This course is devoted to close study of selected secondary studies and primary sources for a particular thematic or chronological topic in Asian, European, or American history. Students are expected to participate regularly in class discussions of assigned readings, to make occasional oral reports on specific topics, and to write a number of analytical essays of short-to-moderate length. Each colloquium is intended to provide the student with a solid grounding in both the history and historiography of a particular era or subject, and also to prepare the capable and interested student to undertake advanced research for a senior thesis (History 500). Normally, two colloquia—one American, one non-American—are offered each semester. Among topics covered in the Asian Colloquium: Communism in China; in the European Colloquium: war and society, Henry VIII and the Reformation, Nazism: historical and religious dimensions; and in the American Colloquium: studies in Revolutionary America, leadership in the twentieth century, and the Vietnam War.

Prerequisites: Students who enroll in a European Colloquium should normally have completed History 101-102; students who enroll in an American Colloquium should normally have completed a 100- or 200-level course covering at least part of the time-frame or subject of the colloquium. Enrollment in a colloquium is limited to 10 students, and preference is given to senior and junior history majors.

HISTORY 500. (3)

SENIOR THESIS. An exercise in research and advanced composition, to be written in the spring semester of the senior year. The thesis will investigate in detail some historical topic of interest to the student. The student will work under the guidance of a member of the history department in selecting his topic, and in researching and writing his essay. Prerequisite: History 499.

HISTORY HONORS

To be eligible for History Departmental Honors, the student must normally have a 3.3 average for his history courses and a 3.0 GPA overall. By the end of his junior year he must have taken at least one 300- or 400-level history course. After taking History 499 by the fall of his senior year and receiving a grade no lower than B+, he enrolls in History 500. The Honors Council and history department must approve the student's proposal for a project resulting in a thesis on which he must receive no less than B+. At the end of the spring semester, he must defend his thesis orally before a committee consisting of two professors from the history department and a third professor chosen from another department by the student with the advice of his advisor and the Honors Council. All three examiners must be satisfied with the student's defense of his thesis in order to warrant his receiving Honors in History.

HONORS

Faculty of the Divisions of Humanities, Natural Sciences, and Social Sciences

Director: Lowell T. Frye

HONORS 101-102. (3-3)

INTRODUCTORY HONORS Consideration of a selected topic designed to introduce students to modes of inquiry and underlying assumptions of various disciplines. Prerequisite: freshman Merit Scholar status; permission of the Honors Council required. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

HONORS 499-500. (6 to 15 each semester)

SENIOR FELLOWSHIP. Students selected for Senior Fellowships undertake, under the guidance of an advisory committee, at least six and at most fifteen hours of independent research during each semester of the senior year (for a year's total of between twelve and thirty hours). The final course grade at the end of each semester and the apportionment of credit hours are determined by the advisory committee, but the advisor will be responsible for submitting final grades in both semesters. Prerequisite: senior status and a grade-point average of at least 3.5; selection for a Senior Fellowship by the President of the College on the recommendation of the Honors Council required. Offered: 499 in the fall semester; 500 in the spring semester.

HUMANITIES

Faculty of the Departments of Classics, English, Fine Arts, History, Modern Languages, Philosophy, and Religion, and the Rhetoric Program

Contact: Lawrence H. Martin, Jr.

The requirements for the Humanities major, including the distribution requirement in the Humanities Division and the foreign-language proficiency requirement, are 60 semester hours of work, as follows:

| Department | Semester Hours |
|--|-----------------------|
| • English (200-level and above) | 12 |
| • Foreign Languages (200-level and above, in two languages, one ancient, one modern) | 18 |
| • Philosophy (301-302) | 6 |
| • Fine Arts (103 or 105 or 110-111 or 206 or 207 or 211-212 or 302) | 6 |
| • History | 9 |
| Ancient | 3 |
| Medieval | 3 |
| Additional | 3 |
| • Advanced English, Foreign Language, Philosophy, Religion, or Independent Study (495) course | 3 |

The Humanities Program consists of courses that bridge traditional departmental divisions and that deal with issues and areas of knowledge of general human concern. Current and recent staff members include the following:

Professors Arieti, Brinkley; Associate Professors Hall, P. Wilson; Adjunct Associate Professor Rhoads

Chair: James A. Arieti

HUMANITIES 101-102. (3-3)

WESTERN TRADITION. Western Tradition is an introductory humanities course in which major thinkers and issues of the Western cultural heritage are studied. Conducted in a seminar format, it deals with the civilization of ancient Greece and Rome, the Biblical tradition, the European Middle Ages, the age of the Renaissance and the Protestant Reformation, and the early modern world. Attention is given to history, philosophy, religion, literature, the arts, and political and economic thought. (History 101-102 is a natural sequel to this course.) Prerequisite: none. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

HUMANITIES 201. (3)

MODERNITY. Humanities 201, a continuation of Humanities 101-102, provides a broad consideration of Western culture from the eighteenth century until recent years. Conducted in a seminar format, it deals with modern European and American intellectual and artistic traditions as they are articulated in philosophy, religion, science, literature, the arts, and political and economic thought. Prerequisites: Humanities 101-102, or permission of the instructor. Offered: each year, given sufficient demand.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES 230. (3)

PARIS IN THE TWENTIES. This course is a study of the literature written in (or about) the great artistic center, Paris, during the flamboyant and creative years from the end of the Great War to the Crash (1918-1929). The primary focus will be modern literature and its cultural background, but attention will also be given to other modern arts—painting, music—and to politics, society, and the way of life in post-war Paris. Readings include works by F. Scott Fitzgerald, Gertrude Stein, Ernest Hemingway, Malcolm Cowley, and others who lived and worked in Paris in the nineteen-twenties. Prerequisite: none. Offered: May Term.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES 375. (3)

LEADERSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE IN CONSTITUTIONAL CONTEXT. Beginning with an examination of the major historical developments that have shaped the place and role of administrative-class officials in this country, this course will provide students with a general introduction to the significant legal and political dimensions of public-sector employment. The general subject of public-service ethics, including such topics as conflict of interest regulations, and the complexities of intergovernmental and inter-branch relations will be reviewed. The first segment of the course will focus on historical, ethical, and political themes, while the second part will be devoted to management-related matters and legal issues. Prerequisites: junior standing and consent of the instructor. Offered: fall semester.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES 376. (3)

PUBLIC SERVICE INTERNSHIP. Internship is to be combined with a research project. The internship and research project will be closely supervised by a faculty member. Internships will be arranged to complement the education provided at Hampden-Sydney. Credit will be awarded only following a public defense of the completed research project. The defense will follow the pattern established for honors papers. Prerequisite: Interdisciplinary Studies 375. Offered: both semesters.

INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES 465. (3)
AN OVERVIEW OF U.S. NATIONAL INTELLIGENCE. This course provides a basic overview of the nature and purpose of U.S. foreign intelligence institutions and activities in support of foreign policy and national security in the closing years of the 20th century. Central themes include the critical need for sound and timely intelligence in the formulation and conduct of U.S. foreign policy; the historical evolution of U.S. intelligence from colonial times to the present; moral and legal constraints imposed upon intelligence in an open, democratic society; and guidelines for preparing for a professional career in intelligence, with emphasis on the value of a broadly based, liberal arts education. Extensive use is made of the case-study approach for illustrative purposes. Each student will be required to prepare and present an intelligence analysis focusing on a selected area of potential threat to U.S. foreign-policy interests. Prerequisite: completion of the core requirements or permission of the instructor.

INTERSCIENCE

Faculty of the Departments of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics and Computer Science, and Physics and Astronomy

Contact: Hans A. Krimm

Students may satisfy the requirements for the Interscience major, as well as the Natural Science portion of the distribution requirements, by following any one of the several courses of study specified below.

BIOLOGY-CHEMISTRY

BIOCHEMISTRY-MOLECULAR BIOLOGY: Three of the following four courses: Biology 311 (Genetics), Biology 332 (Physiology), Chemistry 318 (Medicinal), Chemistry 320 (Biochemistry). Total: 9-10 hours.

BIOLOGY: 101-102, 151-152 (General and Laboratory), 331 (Biochemistry-Molecular), 334 (Advanced Biochemistry), and two courses from the following list: 215 (Cell Biology), 220 (Microbiology), 311 (Genetics), 332 (Physiology), with the last two courses eligible only if not submitted in satisfaction of the Biochemistry-Molecular Biology area requirement above. Total: 16-17 hours.

CHEMISTRY: 110-151-120-152 (Concepts and Laboratory), 210-211-251-252 (Organic and Laboratory), 310 (Physical Chemistry I), Chemistry 351 (Advanced Lab). Total: 21 hours.

OTHER: Physics 131-132, 151-152 (General and Laboratory); Mathematics 141 (Calculus I). Total: 12 hours.

BIOLOGY-PHYSICS

BIOLOGY: 101-102, 151-152 (General and Laboratory), 220 (Microbiology), 311 (Genetics), 331 (Biochemistry-Molecular), 332 (Physiology). Total: 23 hours.

PHYSICS: 103-143 (Digital Electronics), 131-132, 151-152 (General Physics and Laboratory), 222-262 (Electronic Instrumentation and Laboratory), 361 (Microcomputer Interfacing), 412 (Wave Properties and Optics). Total: 22 hours.

OTHER: Chemistry 110-151-120-152 (Concepts and Laboratory); either Chemistry 210-251 (Organic) or Mathematics 141 (Calculus I). Total: 12 hours.

Substitutions in the above courses of study may be made with the approval of department chairs in both areas of concentration. Such substitutions must not lessen the coherence of the course of study.

MATHEMATICS-PHYSICS

MATHEMATICS: 141 (Calculus I), 142 (Calculus II), 231 (Linear Algebra), and two additional courses at the 200-level or above. Total: 18-20 hours.

COMPUTER SCIENCE: 261 (Fundamentals of Computer Science), 262 (Data Structures), 361 (Computer Organization), and 362 (Programming Languages). Total: 12 hours.

PHYSICS: 103-143 (Basic Digital Electronics and Laboratory), either 104-144 (Basic Linear and Laboratory), or 222-262 (Principles of Electronic Instrumentation and Laboratory), 121 (Problems), 131-132, 151-152 (General and Laboratory), and eight additional hours at the 200-level or above. Total: 25 hours.

OTHER INTERSCIENCE PROGRAMS

Other courses of study involving concentrations in Mathematics and the Natural Sciences must include Mathematics 242 and at least six semester hours in Mathematics at the 300- or 400-level. Programs must include at least 52 semester hours in Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, and meet one of the following distribution requirements: (a) 42 hours in Mathematics and Biology combined; or (b) 42 hours in Mathematics and Chemistry combined. The course of study must form a coherent program and must be approved by department chairs in both areas of concentration. The planned course of study shall be presented to the Dean of the Faculty at spring pre-registration of the sophomore year. Later substitutions in the course of study may be made with the approval of both department chairs; such substitutions must not lessen the coherence of the course of study.

MATHEMATICS AND COMPUTER SCIENCE

Professors Bryce, R. Koether, Mayo¹; Associate Professors Berman, Pelland, Rusewicz; Adjunct Associate Professor Cohen; Assistant Professor Valente; Lecturers C. Koether, Webber

Chair: Gerald M. Bryce

A major in Mathematics requires at least 37 hours: Mathematics 141, 142, 231, 242, 431, 441, and 5 electives at or above the 200-level. Among the 37 hours must be one of the following sequences: Mathematics 421-422, 431-432, 441-444, 441-448, or 451-452. Two of the electives may be Computer Science courses. With the approval of the department, one of the five may be a course in another department that makes extensive use of mathematics.

A major in Mathematics and Computer Science requires 44 hours: Mathematics 141, 142, 231, 242, 332, and 431; Computer Science 261, 262, 361, 362, 461, 480; and one elective chosen from the following list: Mathematics 222, 342, 345, 421, 432. In addition, Mathematics 441 is strongly recommended, especially for students considering graduate work in computer science.

A major in Applied Mathematics requires at least 38 hours: Mathematics 121, 141, 142, 231, 242, and 421, and Computer Science 261; one course with mathematical content outside the department, approved by the department; and at least three courses from among Mathematics 222, 243, 331, 342, 343, 345, 422, 441, 444, and Computer Science 262. To prepare for a career in engineering, a student should elect at least Mathematics 243, 343, and Computer Science 262. To prepare for a career in statistics or actuarial work, or to prepare for business school, a student should elect at least Mathematics 222, 331, and 422.

The department recommends that students who intend to teach mathematics complete a major in Mathematics.

Students interested in majoring in Mathematics and Computer Science should consult the department no later than the end of their freshman year.

Students interested in applying mathematics in other disciplines should consider majors in Economics with Mathematics or Interscience-Mathematics.

MATHEMATICS 100. (4)

INTRODUCTION TO THE MATHEMATICAL SCIENCES. Enough elementary functions, algebra, and arithmetic to prepare students for other courses in mathematics and computer science. A student cannot receive credit for Mathematics 100 if he has passed any other college course in mathematics or computer science. Prerequisite: consent of the department. Offered: fall semester.

MATHEMATICS 121. (4)

STATISTICS. Introduction to probability and statistics. Exploratory data analysis. Discrete and continuous random variables, estimation, hypothesis testing. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

MATHEMATICS 130. (4)

FINITE MATHEMATICAL MODELS. A course emphasizing the use of finite mathematics in modeling real-world phenomena. Specific topics will be chosen from among the following: matrix algebra, graph theory, cryptography, Leontief input-output models, linear programming, probability, counting methods, game theory, and Markov chains. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

MATHEMATICS 140. (4)

MATHEMATICS FOR ECONOMICS. A study of differential and integral calculus and its applications. Topics include differentiation of elementary functions in one and several dimensions, integration of polynomials, and constrained and unconstrained optimization in one and several variables. Prerequisite: Economics 101. Students who have any credit at Hampden-Sydney for the study of calculus may not take this course. Offered: each semester.

MATHEMATICS 141. (4)

CALCULUS I. Elementary functions, limits, derivatives, optimization, the definite integral, and the Fundamental Theorem of Calculus. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

MATHEMATICS 142. (4)

CALCULUS II. Functions defined by integrals, inverses, applications and techniques of integration, infinite series. Prerequisite: Mathematics 141 or the equivalent. Offered: each semester.

MATHEMATICS 212. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO THE HISTORY OF MATHEMATICS. A survey, from Babylonian mathematics through Greek mathematics, including some topics from modern mathematics, and illuminating G. Cantor's dictum that the essence of mathematics is its freedom to change. An extensive student project is required. Prerequisite: Mathematics 142 or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 222. (4)

STATISTICAL METHODS. A project-based study of sampling distributions, estimation, and hypothesis testing. Major topics are classical and nonparametric analysis of variance, and regression analysis. Students use a variety of statistical software to produce both individual and group projects. Prerequisite: Mathematics 121 or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

MATHEMATICS 231. (4)

LINEAR ALGEBRA. Matrix arithmetic, vectors, abstract vector spaces, linear transformation, inner products, and Eigenvalues, with some emphasis on algorithms and computing. Prerequisite: Mathematics 142. Offered: spring semester.

MATHEMATICS 242. (4)

CALCULUS III. Plane curves, polar coordinates, vector analysis of curves, infinite series, approximation, partial derivatives, line integrals, and double integrals. Prerequisite: Mathematics 142. Offered: fall semester.

MATHEMATICS 243. (3)

DIFFERENTIAL EQUATIONS. Analytic and numerical solutions of ordinary differential equations. Existence and uniqueness of solutions. Solutions of linear systems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 242 or consent of the instructor. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 331. (4)

OPTIMIZATION. A mathematical introduction to optimization. Linear programming, integer programming, transportation and assignment problems, game theory, nonlinear programming, and decision analysis. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: fall semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 332. (4)

DISCRETE MATHEMATICS FOR COMPUTER SCIENCE. An introduction to the discrete mathematics most useful in computing and computer science. Topics include set theory, mathematical logic, graph theory, and combinatorics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: spring semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 334. (3)

ELEMENTARY NUMBER THEORY. An introduction to the theory of numbers. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 342. (3)

NUMERICAL ANALYSIS. Solutions to problems of analysis by numerical methods and the study of error in numerical processes. Prerequisites: Mathematics 231 and 242. Offered: spring semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 343. (3)

VECTOR ANALYSIS. Line and surface integrals, classical theorems of vector analysis. Prerequisites: Mathematics 231 and 242. Offered: fall semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 345. (3)

APPLIED MATHEMATICS. Mathematical models and topics in advanced mathematics with application to the natural and social sciences. Prerequisites: Mathematics 231 and 242, or consent of the instructor. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 421. (3)

PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS I. Discrete and continuous probability distributions, moment-generating functions, and limit theorems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 422. (3)

PROBABILITY AND STATISTICS II. The theory underlying estimation and hypothesis testing, and its application in one- and multi-sample problems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 421. Offered: spring semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 431-432. (3-3)

ALGEBRAIC STRUCTURES. Groups, rings, fields, linear algebra, and selected topics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: 431 in the fall semester of even years; 432 in the spring semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 441. (3)

INTERMEDIATE ANALYSIS. Further investigation of the calculus of one real variable. Continuity, uniform convergence, differentiation, and integration. Prerequisites: Mathematics 231 and 242. Offered: fall semester.

MATHEMATICS 444. (3)

COMPLEX ANALYSIS. An introduction to the theory of complex functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 441. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 448. (3)

TOPOLOGY. Elementary topological concepts. Prerequisite: Mathematics 441. Offered: spring semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 451. (3)

GEOMETRY. An axiomatic approach to Euclidean geometry and an introduction to non-Euclidean geometries. Prerequisite: Mathematics 231. Offered: fall semester of even years.

MATHEMATICS 452. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO THE FOUNDATIONS OF MATHEMATICS. Mathematical logic: the propositional and predicate calculi. First-order theories (elementary arithmetic, first-order set theory). Foundational problems and philosophies: logical and set-theoretic paradoxes and approaches to their resolutions. Gödel's incompleteness theorems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 451. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

MATHEMATICS 461-462. (3-3)

HONORS IN MATHEMATICS. A scholarly project conducted in close consultation with a supervising professor. Prerequisites: consent of the instructor for 461; 461 and the consent of the instructor for 462. Offered: on demand.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 161. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTING. An overview of computing, with consideration given to its impact upon today's society. Topics may include history, applications, computer organization, programming languages, algorithms, and computability. This course does not count towards the Mathematics and Computer Science major. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 261. (3)

COMPUTER SCIENCE I. Discussion of algorithms, programs, and computers. Extensive work in the preparation, running, debugging, and documenting of programs. Problem-solving is emphasized. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 262. (3)

COMPUTER SCIENCE II. A continuation of Computer Science 261 but with emphasis on language structures and applications of those structures not normally covered in a first course. Programming efficiency, documentation standards, and programming style are emphasized. Prerequisite: Computer Science 261. Offered: spring semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 361. (3)

COMPUTER ORGANIZATION. A machine-level view of computing. Topics may include computer arithmetic and data representation, assembly language programming and the assembly process, machine instruction sets, microprogramming and digital logic. Prerequisite: Computer Science 262. Offered: fall semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 362. (3)

PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES. A study of the design and implementation of programming languages. Concepts such as scope rules, data types and data sharing, control structures, block structure, recursion, storage management, formal specification of syntax and semantics, and interpreters. Prerequisite: Computer Science 361. Offered: spring semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 380. (3)

TOPICS IN COMPUTER SCIENCE. Topics may be chosen from among operating systems, systems programming, object-oriented programming, computer graphics, and artificial intelligence. Prerequisite: Computer Science 361. Offered: on demand.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 461. (3)

THEORY OF COMPUTING. An introduction to theoretical computer science. Abstract models of computers will be used to help investigate the limitations of computing. Topics may include computability, complexity, automata, formal languages and grammars, and the Chomsky hierarchy. Prerequisite: Computer Science 362. Offered: fall semester.

COMPUTER SCIENCE 480. (3)ADVANCED TOPICS IN COMPUTER

SCIENCE. Topics may be chosen from among compiler design, symbolic computation, computational complexity, program verification and correctness, and database theory. Prerequisite: Computer Science 461 or consent of instructor. Offered: spring semester.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Professor Emeritus Silveira; Professor Jagasich; Assistant Professors DeJong, Harms, Imhoff, McRae, Woodard; Visiting Assistant Professors Mejia, J. Saunders; Lecturer R. Prell

Chair: William J. Woodard

The requirements for a major in French, German, or Spanish are 30 hours in the language at the 300- and 400-level, 6 hours of which must be completed at an approved host institution in a foreign country in which the target language is spoken. The major in French must include 301-302, 305-306, three 400-level courses, and one course in English or world literature at the 300- or 400-level. The major in German must include 301-302 and four 400-level courses. The major in Spanish must include 301-302, 303-304, 305, and five courses at the 400-level, one of which must be a course in language rather than literature.

The requirements for a concentration in French, German, or Spanish are 18 hours in the language at the 300- and 400-level, 6 hours of which must be completed at an approved host institution in a foreign country in which the target language is spoken. The concentration in French must include 301-302, 305-306, and one 400-level literature course. The concentration in German must include 301-302, and two 400-level courses. The concentration in Spanish must include 301-302, 303 or 304, 305, and two 400-level courses.

STUDY ABROAD

The Department of Modern Languages encourages and sponsors foreign study and monitors closely the standards and administration of the programs to which it entrusts its students. Approved programs offer supervision, coordination, structure, and compatible cost, and financial aid may be available for approved programs in the event of need. Credit is granted at par with other Hampden-Sydney programs; quality points for majors; hours only for non-majors, though courses overseas must be approved in advance by the department chair and be consonant with Hampden-Sydney's curricular philosophy.

THE PROFICIENCY REQUIREMENT

The foreign-language proficiency requirement is deemed met in a modern language when, in addition to an awareness of appropriate usage in specific cultural contexts, students achieve at a minimum the Intermediate High level in speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing, as defined by the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL). The complete ACTFL guidelines are available from the chair of the Department of Modern Languages. A student will be deemed to have achieved the Intermediate High level of proficiency when he successfully completes 201-202 or, if he places out of 202 with the requisite score on the placement exam, 301, 302, or (in French or Spanish) 305 at the College or in an approved foreign-study program in a country in which the target language is spoken.

MODERN LANGUAGE PLACEMENT POLICY

All students who have not taken a modern language at Hampden-Sydney must take the placement exam in the language in which he wishes to enroll before attending classes. The results of the exam will determine the appropriate level at which students must begin their course of study.

FRENCH 101-102. (3-3)

INTRODUCTION TO FRENCH. A first-year course for students who have little or no experience with the language. The goal is the mastery of the four basic skills: speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Emphasis on the use of French in the classroom. Students are encouraged to converse in French with their instructor and with each other. Students are expected to listen to tapes accompanying their lab- and workbook. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

FRENCH 201-202. (3-3)

INTERMEDIATE FRENCH. Review of basic French grammar and vocabulary; introduction to literary texts (201), and reading of a short novel (202). Prerequisite: French 102 or the requisite score on the placement exam. Offered: 201 in the fall semester; 202 in the spring semester.

FRENCH 301-302. (3-3)

MASTERPIECES OF FRENCH LITERATURE. A survey of French literature from its medieval origins to the present. Excerpts from major texts will be read and discussed in class, with an emphasis on literary genres and principal ideas. Short papers, a research paper, and oral presentations are required. Prerequisites: French 201-202, the requisite score on the placement exam, or permission of the department chair. Offered: 301 in the fall semester; 302 in the spring semester. Required for the major and the concentration.

FRENCH 305-306. (3-3)

ADVANCED COMPOSITION/CONVERSATION. An intensive course in spoken French, as well as in writing skills. Conversation topics will be assigned for each class period. Reading of literary texts and articles in Francophone magazines, oral debates, and short essays are required. A course of practical content designed to lead to foreign study or to supplement career goals. Prerequisites: French 201-202, the requisite score on the placement exam, or permission of the department chair. Offered: 305 in the fall semester; 306 in the spring semester. Required for the major and the concentration.

FRENCH 401. (3)

FRENCH THEATER. A survey of French drama from medieval religious plays to works of the 20th century. Reading of representative plays from major movements. Short papers, a research paper, and oral presentations are required. Prerequisites: French 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

FRENCH 403. (3)

FRENCH POETRY. A study of French poetical forms from the Middle Ages to the 20th Century. Examination of representative poems from major poetic movements in France. Short papers, a research paper, and oral presentations are required. Prerequisites: French 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

FRENCH 404. (3)

FRENCH NOVEL. Reading of major French novels from early texts to the Nouveau Roman. Study of authors and movements. Short papers, a research paper, and oral presentations are required. Prerequisites: French 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

FRENCH 405. (3)

FRANCOPHONE LITERATURE. Introduction to all genres of Francophone literature from Canada, the Caribbean countries, Indochina, and Africa. Short papers, a research paper, and oral presentations are required. Prerequisites: French 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

GERMAN

GERMAN 101-102. (3-3)

INTRODUCTION TO GERMAN. A first-year course for students who have little or no experience with the language. The goal is the mastery of the four basic skills: speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Emphasis on the use of German in the classroom. Students are encouraged to converse in German with their instructor and with each other. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the spring semester.

GERMAN 201-202. (3-3)

INTERMEDIATE GERMAN. A review of grammar. Oral practice based on readings from various types of material. Elements of composition. Students perform plays and report on individual outside reading. Laboratory. Formal essays in German. Prerequisites for 201: 101-102 or equivalent. Prerequisite for 202: 201. Offered: 201 in the fall semester; 202 in the spring semester.

GERMAN 301-302. (3-3)

SURVEY OF GERMAN LITERATURE. The history of German literature from the beginnings to our day, with reading of selected poetry, prose, and drama from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century. Term reports on extensive parallel reading. Prerequisites: 201-202 or equivalent. Required for the major and the concentration.

GERMAN 401. (3)

GERMAN THEATER. Survey of German drama from medieval Fastnachtsspiel and Volksspiel to the Absurde through the Burgersatire and Horspiele, in thematic presentation, through theory and criticism. Extensive reading. Prerequisites: 301-302, or permission of the department chair. Offered: fall semester of even years.

GERMAN 402. (3)

ADVANCED GERMAN COMPOSITION. Intensive grammar review in conjunction with preparation of difficult texts, exploring a novel theme or particular dimension of German literature; vocabulary acquisition and stylistics incorporated in the program. Stylistic approach. Prerequisites: German 301-302, or permission of the department chair. Offered: spring semester of odd years.

GERMAN 403. (3)

GERMAN POETRY. Survey of German poetic forms from Middle Ages to Symbolismus; Sprüch-dichtung, Ballade, and Klassische Poesie through Dichtungstheorie. Extensive reading. Analysis of thematic and metrical variations. Prerequisites: German 301-302, or permission of the department chair. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

GERMAN 404. (3)

GERMAN NOVEL. Seminar course conducted through intensive study of authors and movements; biographic, bibliographic, and critical sources, from the elaboration of early Erzähl-literatur through the Roman zwischen Tradition und Wandlung and Die Geschichtserzählung. Extensive reading. Prerequisites: German 301-302, or permission of the department chair. Offered: spring semester of even years.

RUSSIAN

INTRODUCTION TO RUSSIAN. Basic writing and reading skills. Students master grammatical concepts and drill through dictation, translation, and elementary conversation. Students read simple narrative prose. Offered: on sufficient demand.

RUSSIAN 201-202. (3-3)

INTERMEDIATE RUSSIAN. More difficult grammar and reading coupled with conversation. Vocabulary building and active participation. Basic composition skills. Songs and poetry introduce students to Russian culture and art. Prerequisites for 201: 101-102 or equivalent.

SPANISH

SPANISH 101-102. (3-3)

INTRODUCTION TO SPANISH. A first-year course for students who have little or no experience with the language. Development of the four basic skills: speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Emphasis on the use of Spanish in the classroom. Extensive out-of-class work with videos, computer exercises, tapes, etc. Prerequisite for 101: placement exam; for 102: 101 or placement exam. Offered: 101 in the fall semester; 102 in the fall and spring semesters.

SPANISH 201 (3)

INTERMEDIATE SPANISH I. A continuation of the 101-102 sequence. Continued development of the four basic skills: speaking, listening comprehension, reading, and writing. Emphasis on the use of Spanish in the classroom. Extensive out-of-class work with videos, computer exercises, tapes, etc. Prerequisite: 102 or the requisite score on the placement exam. Offered: both semesters.

SPANISH 202 (3)

INTERMEDIATE SPANISH II. A review of grammar. Emphasis on reading, writing, and oral skills based on a variety of texts, including authentic Hispanic literary texts. Oral presentations. Prerequisite: 201. Offered: both semesters.

SPANISH 301-302. (3-3)

MASTERPIECES OF HISPANIC LITERATURE. A survey course offering an introduction to Peninsular (301) and Latin-American (302) literature. A thematic presentation with complete representative works read. Lectures and reading in Spanish only; student performance both oral and written in Spanish only. Considerable reading. Prerequisites: Spanish 201-202, or permission of the department chair. Offered: 301 in the fall semester; 302 in the spring semester. Required for the major and the concentration. Fulfills the foreign-language proficiency requirement for students who test above the 202-level on the placement exam.

SPANISH 303-304. (3-3)

SPANISH-SPEAKING WORLD. An introduction to the history and culture of Spain (303) and Spanish America (304). An intensive study, through visual, oral, literary, and journalistic sources, of the heritage of Spanish-speaking populations, beginning with the celtiberos of primitive Hispania and leading up to the current democratic state that is modern Spain; beginning with pre-Colombian America and then the conquistadores and leading up to our own chicano community's expression of identity. Lectures and reading, as well as student performance, in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 201-202, or permission of the department chair. Both 303 and 304 are required for the major. Either 303 or 304 is required for the concentration.

SPANISH 305 (3)

ADVANCED COMPOSITION/CONVERSATION. Compositions and classroom conversation based on thematic readings and literary texts.

Intensive vocabulary building and review of grammar when necessary. Prerequisites: Spanish 201-202, or permission of the department chair. Required for the major and the concentration. Fulfills the language requirement for those who test above the 202-level on the placement exam.

SPANISH 400. (3)

ADVANCED SPANISH GRAMMAR. In-depth study of Spanish grammar, concentrating on the verb system and those constructions which are particularly difficult for speakers of English. Students will practice the grammatical concepts through communicative oral and written exercises. Prerequisite: Spanish 305 or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 401. (3)

LATIN-AMERICAN PROSE. A seminar in the evolution of Latin-American narrative and expository forms, including the modern novella of alienation and isolation. Considerable reading. Lectures and texts, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 402. (3)

LATIN-AMERICAN POETRY. A seminar in the evolution of verse forms in Latin-American literature. Lectures and texts, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Considerable reading. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 403. (3)

PENINSULAR GENRES BEFORE THE 18TH CENTURY. A seminar course dealing generically with basic formulas in Hispanic literature until the death of Quevedo, beginning with the Hispano-Judeo-Arabic Jarchas, and including the theater of Lope de Vega and the novel of the pícaro. Considerable reading. Lectures and texts, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 404. (3)

PENINSULAR GENRES OF THE MODERN AGE. A seminar course to complement Spanish 403, continuing to synthesize Hispanic literary modes through the Ilustración, the Afrancesados, the subsequent eruption of romanticismo and into the contemporary period of García Lorca, Camilo José Cela, and Ana María Matute. Considerable reading. Lectures and texts, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 405. (3)

TWENTIETH-CENTURY LATIN AMERICAN THEATER. A seminar which will introduce students to the development of twentieth-century Latin American theater. Representative plays of national, vanguard, and contemporary theater. Class discussions and oral and written student performances in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 406. (3)

THE CHRONICLES OF THE INDIES. A seminar which encourages a critical reading of works dating principally from the 16th century and studies the problems that such texts present. Works by leaders and other members of expeditions, historians, Europeans, mestizos, and indigenous writers. Extensive reading. Lectures and texts, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 407. (3)

THE NOVEL IN THE GOLDEN AGE. This course encourages close reading and textual criticism of prose authors of the Siglo de oro, in particular Cervantes. Extensive reading. Lectures and reading, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 408. (3)

THEATER OF THE GOLDEN AGE. The course encourages close reading and textual criticism of the teatro nacional of Spain, in particular the works of Lope de Vega, Calderón, and their epigones. Considerable reading. Lectures and reading, oral and written student performance in Spanish only. Prerequisites: Spanish 301-302, or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 409. (3)

SPANISH-ENGLISH TRANSLATION. An introduction to the tools and mechanisms of translation from Spanish into English. Intensive investigation of style, word usage, synonyms, and idiomatic expressions. Exercises include translation of newspaper and magazine articles. A final lengthy translation project is required. Prerequisite: Spanish 305 or permission of the department chair.

SPANISH 410. (3)

HISTORY OF THE SPANISH LANGUAGE. This course traces the development of contemporary Spanish from Classical Latin through the various Spanish dialects spoken today in Spain and Latin America. It also serves as an introduction to the terminology and techniques of historical linguistics. Prerequisite: Spanish 305 or permission of the department chair.

Independent study courses numbered 485-490-495 in French, German, or Spanish only may be developed between faculty members and students to examine specific topics, periods, areas, styles, images, themes, or authors not treated in other offerings. Such courses may be taken only by language majors, however, and then only by students holding a grade-point average of at least 3.0. Determination and approval lie with department chair.

PHILOSOPHY

Associate Professors Iverson^F, P. Wilson; Assistant Professor Janowski; Visiting Assistant Professor Papazian

Chair: Vincent A. Iverson

The requirements for a major in Philosophy are Philosophy 201, 202, 301-302, 303, and an additional 15 hours in Philosophy courses. Students may develop a joint program in Philosophy and another area with the approval of the chairs of both departments.

The requirements for a concentration in Philosophy and Religion are 18 hours in each department, specific courses to be chosen in consultation with the departments.

PHILOSOPHY 201. (3)

LOGIC. An introduction to the skills and practice of critical reasoning, including argument analysis and some formal logic. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

PHILOSOPHY 202. (3)

PROBLEMS OF PHILOSOPHY. An introduction to philosophical thinking and argument by consideration of specific philosophical problems, such as the existence of God, freedom and determinism, the nature of moral reasoning, the mind/body relationship, and the claims of ethical relativism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

PHILOSOPHY 301-302. (3-3)

HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY. A study of major Western philosophers from the early Greeks to the late medieval period (301) and from Descartes to Kant (302). Prerequisite: none. Offered: 301 in the fall semester; 302 in the spring semester.

PHILOSOPHY 303. (3)

HISTORY OF CONTEMPORARY

PHILOSOPHY. A study of major Western philosophers from the 19th and 20th centuries. Prerequisite: either Philosophy 301 or 302. Offered: fall semester.

PHILOSOPHY 304. (3)

ETHICS. An examination of the major challenges to normative ethical theory, as well as the major approaches to normative ethical theory, including classical and contemporary sources. Prerequisite: Philosophy 201 or 202. Offered: fall semester.

PHILOSOPHY 306. (3)

SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY. An examination of the major theories of distributive justice, including the libertarian, liberal, and socialist conceptions.

(Consideration of practical problems in light of these alternative conceptions, if time permits.)

Prerequisite: Philosophy 304 strongly recommended. Offered: on occasion.

PHILOSOPHY 307. (3)

PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION. A study of the major issues and men in contemporary reflection on religion. Prerequisite: 3 hours of Philosophy. Offered: fall semester of odd years.

PHILOSOPHY 308. (3)

CONTEMPORARY PHILOSOPHY: EXISTENTIALISM AND PHENOMENOLOGY. A study of the major Continental philosophers. Prerequisite: 3 hours of Philosophy. Offered: spring semester of even years.

PHILOSOPHY 312. (3)

PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE. A consideration of the aims, methods, social dimensions, and limits of science, including the relationship of empirical data to laws, models, theories, and explanation.

Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: fall semesters in alternation with Philosophy 313.

PHILOSOPHY 313. (3)

SCIENCE AND RELIGION. A seminar on the philosophical and religious implications of the Big Bang and biological evolution. Topics for discussion include cosmological arguments for and against God's existence, divine foreknowledge, the concept of design, evolutionary accounts of consciousness and morality, theistic and naturalistic methodologies, and the limits of explanation. Prerequisite: 3 hours of Philosophy. Offered: fall semesters in alternation with Philosophy 312.

PHILOSOPHY 380. (3)

MARX AND THE MARXIST TRADITION. A study of the development of the philosophical ideas of Marx and their continuation in the Marxist traditions. Prerequisite: 3 hours of Philosophy or Political Science. Offered: spring semester of even years.

PHILOSOPHY 401. (3)

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY AND BUSINESS ETHICS. An attempt to integrate an understanding of the institutional structures within which business decisions are made and a grounding in the principles of ethics, and to apply these broad perspectives in analyzing and agonizing over specific business decisions. The objective will be to explore the perspectives of both economics and ethics, in the abstract and also as they are relevant in examining actual cases of business choice. Prerequisites: Economics 101, one 200-level Economics course, Philosophy 202, and at least one course, religious or philosophic, in ethics. This course is to be taken by senior Hobbie Scholars and is open to others with permission of the instructor.

PHYSICS AND ASTRONOMY

Professors Beard, Joyner, Kniffen¹; Associate Professor Cheyne; Assistant Professor Krimm; Visiting Assistant Professor Wallace

Acting Chair: Stanley A. Cheyne

The requirements for a major in Physics are a minimum of 30 hours in Physics, including Physics 251, 252, and at least three additional courses in Physics at the 200- or 300-level. Mathematics 141-142 and one semester of electronics are also required.

Students who desire a rigorous mathematical treatment of the fundamentals of physics and who plan graduate work in physics should include Physics 131, 132, 133, 211, 212, 213, 311, 312, 411.

Students who plan to teach or to pursue careers in business or industry involving applications of physical principles should include Physics 103, 104, 131, 132, 211, 212, 222.

Students who desire Electronics Engineering/Engineering Physics should take Physics 103, 104, 131, 132, 133, 211, 212, 213, 222.

ASTRONOMY 105. (3)
ASTRONOMY OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM. An examination of astronomy, its methods and history, and the origin and development of the solar system. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Astronomy 145. Offered: fall semester.

ASTRONOMY 106. (3)
STELLAR, GALACTIC, AND EXTRAGALACTIC ASTRONOMY. A course designed to complement Astronomy 105, involving the study of objects outside the solar system, including the stars of the Milky Way, other galaxies, and distant quasars. Also included is a study of the Big Bang and subsequent cosmological development of the universe. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Astronomy 146. Offered: spring semester.

ASTRONOMY 125. (3)
LIFE IN THE UNIVERSE. This course concentrates on the astronomical and biological conditions which have made possible the development of life on Earth. Our knowledge of the cosmos is critically examined to estimate the probabilities for life to arise elsewhere. Methods of searching for intelligent extraterrestrial life are reviewed. This is a one-semester course intended for the non-physical-science major. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on sufficient demand.

ASTRONOMY 325. (3)
ASTROPHYSICS. The study of the physics of astronomical processes in order to understand what we can learn from the radiations observed from astronomical objects. Detectors and detection techniques are also examined. Prerequisites: Physics 132 and Mathematics 142. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 103. (3)
BASIC DIGITAL ELECTRONICS. A laboratory-based study of fundamental electronic concepts, digital logic, and microcomputer circuitry. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Physics 143. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 104. (3)
BASIC LINEAR ELECTRONICS. A laboratory-based study of circuits employing transistors and integrated circuits. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Physics 144. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 107. (3)
THE DESCRIPTION AND EXPLANATION OF MOTION. An historical study of the development of the modern understanding of motion, beginning with the earliest attempts to describe and explain the motion of celestial objects. Time will be spent considering the nature of the assumptions made and the methods used, as well as the nature of the results obtained during this development. Prerequisite: proficiency in elementary algebra and geometry. Corequisite: Physics 147. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 108. (3)
METEOROLOGY. An elementary introduction to meteorology, to include properties of the atmosphere and their effects on weather. Measurement of atmospheric properties, weather maps, and weather forecasting will be emphasized. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Physics 148. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 109. (3)
MODERN WEAPONRY. A study of the basic physics of beam weapons, kinetic energy weapons, and nuclear weapons. Potential military applications will be outlined, and the economics of these weapons will be considered. Near-future developments will be assessed, and likely battle management scenarios addressed. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Physics 149. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 110. (3)

ENERGY AND POWER. A survey of present global energy sources and future possibilities, with qualitative economic analysis. The exploration of novel methods of generating power will be emphasized. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Physics 150. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 121-122. (1-1)

PROBLEMS IN GENERAL PHYSICS. A study of selected topics in general physics. Offered: 121 in the fall semester; 122 in the spring semester.

PHYSICS 131. (3)

FUNDAMENTALS OF PHYSICS I. A calculus-based introduction to classical mechanics. Topics include linear kinematics and dynamics, work and energy, momentum, gravitation, rotational kinematics, oscillations, fluids, and mechanical and sound waves. Prerequisite or corequisite: Mathematics 141. Corequisite: Physics 151. Offered: both semesters.

PHYSICS 132. (3)

FUNDAMENTALS OF PHYSICS II. A calculus-based introduction to electromagnetism and modern physics. Electrostatics, the electric field and potential, electric current and circuits, magnetostatics, induction, light and optics, the atomic nature of matter, the structure of the atom, and the nucleus. Prerequisites: Physics 131 and Mathematics 141. Prerequisite or corequisite: Mathematics 142. Corequisite: Physics 152. Offered both semesters.

PHYSICS 133. (3)

FUNDAMENTALS OF PHYSICS III.

Thermodynamics and advanced topics from the first two semesters. Collisions; vector rotational dynamics; flux; Gauss's, Ampere's, and Faraday's Laws; Maxwell's Equations; interference and diffraction; and thermodynamics and kinetic theory. Prerequisite: Physics 132. Corequisite: Physics 153. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 211. (3)

MECHANICS. Particle dynamics is treated with special emphasis on harmonic motion, motion in a central force field, and the two-body problem. Prerequisite: Physics 131. Corequisite: Physics 251. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 212. (3)

ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM I. A study of electrostatics, dielectrics, and magnetostatics.

Prerequisites: Physics 132 and 211. Corequisite: Physics 252. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 213. (3)

ELECTRICITY AND MAGNETISM II. A study of electrodynamics, magnetodynamics, Maxwell's equations, and electromagnetic waves. Prerequisite: Physics 212. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 222. (3)

PRINCIPLES OF ELECTRONIC INSTRUMENTATION. A study of the basic principles of operation of electronic instruments. Prerequisite: none.

Corequisite: Physics 262. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 301-302. (1-1)

PHYSICS SEMINAR I-II. A study of special topics, with emphasis on the preparation and oral presentation of reports. Prerequisites: Physics 131 and 132.

PHYSICS 311. (3)

MODERN PHYSICS. An introduction to modern physics, which includes a study of relativity, atoms, molecules, nuclei, waves, and spectra. Prerequisite: Physics 132. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 312. (3)

QUANTUM MECHANICS. The physical foundations of the quantum theory are studied. Schroedinger's equation is introduced and used to analyze elementary aspects of the atom. Perturbation theory, the variational method, and other approximation methods are introduced. Prerequisites: Mathematics 231 and 242; Physics 211, 212, and 311. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 326. (3)

MATHEMATICAL METHODS FOR PHYSICS.

Selected mathematical techniques most often used in physics will be studied. Power Series, Fourier Series, linear transformations, ordinary and partial differential equations, Eigenvalues, Eigenvectors, complex variables, Legendre Polynomials, spherical harmonics, and Bessel Functions are among the topics to be considered. These techniques will be applied to problems in electricity and magnetism, mechanics, acoustics, and quantum mechanics. Prerequisites: Mathematics 242 and Physics 131 and 132. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 361-362. (4-4)

MICROCOMPUTER INTERFACING. Topics include the acquisition, processing, and transmission of data associated with various laboratory experiments. The techniques include both programming (primarily in assembly language) and the construction and interfacing of electronic circuits. Prerequisite: Physics 103. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 365. (1)

INTRODUCTION TO HONORS RESEARCH.

A detailed proposal for an Honors Research project will be prepared in consultation with the faculty member who will supervise the research. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

PHYSICS 411. (3)

THERMODYNAMICS AND STATISTICAL

PHYSICS. An introduction to kinetic theory and thermodynamics, with a brief survey of statistical mechanics. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 412. (3)

WAVE PROPERTIES AND OPTICS. Geometrical and physical optics. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 421-422. (3-3)

THEORETICAL PHYSICS. Selected topics investigated in depth using sophisticated mathematical techniques, mostly advanced mechanics and electromagnetic field theory. Prerequisites: Physics 211 and 212, Mathematics 231 and 242, and permission of the instructor. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 431. (3)

SUB-ATOMIC PHYSICS. Instructor will choose from among the following topics according to the interests of the students: constituents and models of the nucleus, classification of sub-atomic particles, interactions of sub-atomic particles with matter and fields, structure of sub-atomic particles, conservation laws and symmetries, electromagnetic forces, strong and weak forces, and unification of forces. Prerequisite or corequisite: Physics 312. Offered: on sufficient demand.

LABORATORIES

ASTRONOMY 145. (1)

SOLAR SYSTEM ASTRONOMY LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Astronomy 105. Offered: fall semester.

ASTRONOMY 146. (1)

STELLAR ASTRONOMY LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Astronomy 106. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 143. (1)

DIGITAL ELECTRONICS LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Physics 103. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 144. (1)

LINEAR ELECTRONICS LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Physics 104. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 147. (1)

MOTION LABORATORY. Exercises designed to give first-hand experience with the mode of investigation and the questions under investigation at each stage in the developing understanding of motion. Emphasis is placed on the modern concern with obtaining quantitative information of known precision. Corequisite: Physics 107. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 148. (1)

METEOROLOGY LABORATORY. Corequisite laboratory to accompany Physics 108. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 149. (1)

WEAPONS LABORATORY. Experiments will concentrate on kinetic energy projectiles, radiation properties, laser beam characteristics. Corequisite: Physics 109. Offered: on sufficient demand.

PHYSICS 150. (1)

ENERGY AND POWER LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Physics 110. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 151-152. (1-1)

GENERAL PHYSICS LABORATORY. An experimental examination of a variety of physical phenomena, along with an introduction to laboratory techniques and procedure. Corequisites:

Physics 131-132. Offered: 151 in the spring semester; 152 in the fall semester.

PHYSICS 153. (1)

INTRODUCTORY PHYSICS LABORATORY III.

Elementary experiments in modern physics, electrodynamics, thermodynamics, and optics.

Corequisite: Physics 133. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 251. (1)

INTERMEDIATE LABORATORY I. Laboratory experiments at an intermediate level in various fields of modern and classical physics. Emphasis will be placed on laboratory technique, data reduction, and error analysis. Prerequisites: Physics 131 and 151. Corequisite: Physics 211. Offered: fall semester.

PHYSICS 252. (1)

INTERMEDIATE LABORATORY II. Laboratory experiments at an intermediate level in nuclear physics and other areas of modern physics. Emphasis will be placed on laboratory technique, error analysis, and preparation of laboratory reports. Prerequisites: Physics 211 and 251. Corequisite: Physics 212. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 262. (1)

BASIC ELECTRONICS LABORATORY.

Corequisite laboratory to accompany Physics 222. Offered: spring semester.

PHYSICS 351-352. (1-1)

ADVANCED LABORATORY. A laboratory course designed to acquaint the student with the instruments used in basic physical measurements and with the design of experiments. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: 351 in the fall semester; 352 in the spring semester.

PHYSICS 461. (3)

HONORS ADVANCED LABORATORY. An extended project, developed in Physics 365, conducted in collaboration with a faculty member, ordinarily resulting in publishable research. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

PHYSICS 462. (3)

HONORS ADVANCED LABORATORY. A continuation of Physics 461 for projects found suitable. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

POLITICAL SCIENCE

Professors Barrus¹, D. E. Marion, Pontuso, S. Wilson; Visiting Professor W. Jones; Fulbright Senior Lecturer Skaloud; Associate Professor Eastby; Visiting Assistant Professors Lane and Stacey

Chair: James F. Pontuso

The requirements for a major in Political Science are a minimum of thirty semester hours in Political Science, eighteen to include Political Science 101; 220; 240; 310; and 412, 413, or 470. Students studying Political Science are encouraged to take courses in Classics, Economics, History, and Philosophy. They are strongly encouraged to study abroad either through a May Term course or during a semester of foreign study, preferably in the spring semester of the junior year. Those students interested in foreign affairs or comparative politics are encouraged to undertake a concentration in a modern language.

Students may develop interdisciplinary majors within the social sciences with the approval of the departments concerned.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 101. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

A review of the theory, institutions, and practices of the national government in the United States. The constitutional basis of the federal system, the protection of civil liberties and citizenship, and the role of the people in politics are studied with frequent references to leading Supreme Court decisions and other primary sources. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 102. (3)

PERENNIAL ISSUES AND PROBLEMS OF THE AMERICAN REGIME.

This course examines the enduring problems and issues which reflect and illuminate the distinctive character of democratic states. Among the central topics to be considered are the principles of freedom and equality, federalism, ethics and politics, representation, and the effects of the commercial spirit on republicanism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on an occasional basis.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 103. (3)

VIRGINIA POLITICS. This course studies state government and politics, focusing on the state of Virginia. It examines the structures of government and the processes of politics in the state. It considers the historical and contemporary regime character of Virginia as a particular political community with a particular determination of who rules and for what purposes. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 200. (3)
PUBLIC OPINION, VOTING BEHAVIOR, AND POLITICAL PARTIES. An introduction to democratic politics at its most basic level. This course shows how Americans conduct themselves in their day-to-day political lives. What opinions do they hold and why do they hold them? How are those opinions expressed at the polls? Who seeks public office and how is it sought? Who gets elected and why? The course also introduces students to some of the mathematical models presently studied in the discipline of political science. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: fall semester of even-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 210. (3)
LITERATURE AND POLITICS. This course uses great works of literature to illuminate and give concrete meaning to the fundamental issues of government and politics. Readings are taken from both classical and modern, and Western and non-Western, authors. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 220. (3)
INTRODUCTION TO COMPARATIVE GOVERNMENT. An examination and comparison of ancient and modern regimes, including the ancient polis and modern liberal democratic and totalitarian regimes. The intention is to contrast ancient and modern political principles and forms, and show the range of alternatives available in modernity. The underlying focus is on modern liberalism: its meaning, justification, political forms, problems, and possible alternatives. Attention is given to comparison as a method of political inquiry. Prerequisite: Political Science 101 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 230. (3)
INTRODUCTION TO AMERICAN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION. A survey of selected themes pertaining to the principles and processes of American public administration. Topics examined include the history of American public administration, the role of administrative officials in the formulation and execution of public policy, accountability and responsibility in the public sector, the politics of public budgeting, and administrative discretion and the rule of law. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: fall semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 231. (3)
PUBLIC POLICY. An examination of the formulation and implementation of public policy. Attention will be given to competing approaches to public-policy formulation as well as the relationship of public-policy processes to the governance of society. Selected contemporary issues and problems will be considered to illustrate how policy issues may be framed, evaluated, and implemented. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: spring semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 240-241. (3-3)
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS. A consideration of the relations among sovereign political communities. In the first semester, the perennial issues of war and peace, along with the objectives, strategies, and instruments of foreign policy, are examined. In the second semester, the foreign policies of contemporary major powers are analyzed and compared. Prerequisite for 240: none; for 241: Political Science 240 or permission of the instructor. Offered: 240 in the fall semester; 241 on an occasional basis.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 300. (3)
AMERICAN POLITICAL THOUGHT. A survey of the ideas that have shaped American political life from the 18th century to the present. Emphasis is placed on close reading and critical interpretation of the writings of such thinkers as Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Lincoln, and F. D. Roosevelt, as well as contemporary writers. Prerequisite: none. Offered: every third semester in rotation with Political Science 413 and 414.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 310. (3)
CLASSICAL POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY. An examination of the works of the greatest minds of antiquity: Plato and Aristotle. Emphasis is placed on close reading and critical interpretation of selected primary texts. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 320. (3)
GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS OF WESTERN EUROPE. An examination of the political institutions and processes of Western Europe. Attention will focus on Great Britain, France, and Germany. The underlying theme of the course is the variety and problems of modern regimes. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of the instructor. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 322. (3)
POLITICAL DEVELOPMENT. An analysis of the political institutions and processes of modernizing nations. Particular attention is given to the relationships between economic and social modernization and political change. Case studies are drawn from contemporary modernizing regimes. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of the instructor. Offered: fall semester of even-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 324. (3)
THE TRANSFORMATION OF POST-COMMUNIST SOCIETIES. An examination of the problems and prospects of nations emerging from communist totalitarianism. The course will focus on the history of Eastern European nations before, during, and after the communist era. Special attention will be given to the problems that these nations have encountered in restructuring their economies, creating workable political institutions, reestablishing civic societies, and regaining and rebuilding their traditional cultures. Depending on student demand, there will be an optional trip to an Eastern European city (Prague, Budapest, or Krakow) during spring break. Prerequisite: Political Science 220 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester of even-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 332. (3)
THE PRESIDENCY. An analysis of the American executive. Special attention will be paid to the creation of the American presidency, the historical development of the president's powers, and the role the office plays within the constitutional system. Students will be expected to give class presentations on topics of continuing interest. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: spring semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 333. (3)
THE AMERICAN LEGISLATURE. An investigation and evaluation of Congress. Special attention will be paid to the creation of the legislative branch and the development of its powers, its organization, and its effectiveness. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: spring semester of even-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 340. (3)
AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY. An analysis of the formulation and implementation of foreign policy in the United States. Topics include the relationship between regime principles and foreign policy, the Constitution and foreign policy, the institutions involved in policy-making, the decision-making process, and the role of interest groups and public opinion. Prerequisite: Political Science 101 or 240, or permission of the instructor. Offered: fall semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 412. (3)
MEDIEVAL POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY. This course studies the political consequences of the confrontation between revealed religion and scientific rationalism that is at the core of Western culture, through an examination of the works of medieval Islamic, Jewish, and Christian political philosophers. Readings are from Alfarabi, Averroës, Maimonides, Albo, Aquinas, Dante, Marsilius, and others. Prerequisite: Political Science 310. Offered: spring semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 413. (3)
EARLY MODERN POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY. An examination of the ideas of Machiavelli, Hobbes, Locke, and Rousseau. Emphasis is placed on close reading and critical interpretation of selected primary texts. Prerequisite: none. Offered: every third semester in rotation with Political Science 300 and 414.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 414. (3)
MODERN POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY. A critical examination of Kant, Burke, Mill, Marx, and Nietzsche. Emphasis is placed on close reading and interpretation of selected primary texts. Prerequisite: none. Offered: every third semester in rotation with Political Science 300 and 413.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 430-431. (3-3)
AMERICAN CONSTITUTIONAL LAW. This course examines the major provisions of the American Constitution and their development through judicial interpretation. The first semester considers the nature of the judicial process, the constitutional powers of the separate departments, and the place of the states in the federal system. The second semester examines civil rights and liberties as protected by the original Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and the Fourteenth Amendment. Prerequisite: Political Science 101. Offered: 430 in the fall semester; 431 in the spring semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 440. (3)

INTERNATIONAL LAW. A study of the legal and organizational structure of the international system and of the processes and forms of international order. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 442. (3)

ISSUES OF AMERICAN NATIONAL SECURITY. A selective analysis of foreign policy and national security problems and threats facing the United States during the closing years of the 20th century. Special attention will be given to a review of the formulation of American foreign policy and its implementation. Consideration will also be given to responses to American foreign policy by other nation states. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 443. (3)

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION. This course examines the process of development of international organization. It focuses on the United Nations system as an example of this process, examining its political foundations, its contemporary problems, and its future prospects. The intention is to put the process of international organization development in a coherent historical and theoretical perspective. Prerequisite: Political Science 240 or 340. Offered: spring semester of odd-numbered years.

POLITICAL SCIENCE 470. (3)

SENIOR SEMINAR AND THESIS. In the senior year, Political Science majors will write a thesis-length paper on a topic relating to government or foreign affairs. Under the supervision of the seminar's instructor, students will choose a topic, undertake substantial research on the issue, and write a thirty-page paper. Seminar sessions will be devoted to defining topics, organizing research, discussing problems in research and writing, and giving oral presentations based on work in progress. Political Science majors should plan to be in residence at the College in the fall semester of their senior year when this course is offered. Prerequisite: senior status. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY

Professor Emeritus Ortnier; Professors De Wolfe, Herdegen; Associate Professor D. Weese^s; Assistant Professor Mossler

Chair: G. Daniel Weese

The requirements for a major in Psychology are eleven courses and three laboratories in Psychology, including Psychology 101/151, 102, 210, 211, 401, and 402. In addition, students must take either Psychology 301/351 or 312/352, and either Psychology 304/354 or 315/355. Electives in Psychology may be chosen from the other departmental offerings, including the other laboratory courses. Up to two Sociology courses may be used as Psychology electives. Students are encouraged to complete Psychology 210 and 211 during the sophomore year, and 211 must be completed before the end of the junior year. Students also are strongly encouraged to take at least one 300-level laboratory course before the end of the junior year.

A student may not take Psychology 101 or 102 if previously he has completed a comprehensive, one-semester, introductory-level course in Psychology.

Students may develop interdisciplinary majors within the social and natural sciences with the approval of the departments concerned.

A student who completes the requirements for the major in Psychology and also completes Sociology 201 plus three other courses in Sociology may have entered on his transcript, "Major in Psychology and a Concentration in Sociology."

Students seeking admission to graduate study in psychology are encouraged to take more than the required number of courses in Psychology and to choose their electives from Sociology or Biology.

PSYCHOLOGY 101. (3)

PSYCHOLOGY AS A NATURAL SCIENCE.

Survey of research areas which rely on the experiment for data acquisition (learning, memory, cognition, physiology, sensation and perception, motivation). Examination of the evidence pertaining to important concepts, issues, and topics in those areas of psychology, application of that knowledge in solving individual and societal problems, and the relevance of psychology to everyday life. Prerequisite: none. Corequisite: Psychology 151. Offered: each semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 102. (3)

PSYCHOLOGY AS A SOCIAL SCIENCE.

Survey of research areas which chiefly employ case studies, surveys, and correlational methods (developmental, intelligence, personality, abnormal, psychotherapy, social). Examination of the evidence pertaining to important concepts, issues, and topics in those areas of psychology, application of that knowledge in solving individual and societal problems, and the relevance of psychology to everyday life. Prerequisite: none. Offered: each semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 151. (1)

LABORATORY PRINCIPLES IN PSYCHOLOGY.

Introduction to the scientific method with an emphasis on the development of hypotheses, experimental designs, methods of data collection, statistical analysis, and drawing inferences. Laboratory topics are coordinated with the lecture course. Corequisite: Psychology 101. Offered: each semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 210. (3)

QUANTITATIVE METHODS. An introduction to statistics and methodology employed in psychology and sociology. Both descriptive and inferential techniques are discussed, including non-parametric tests of significance and simple correlation. Fundamental dimensions of social research, structuring of the data-collection process, and forms of data collection are emphasized. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102, or Sociology 201. Offered: each semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 211. (3)

RESEARCH METHODS. An introduction to the basic techniques, methods, and issues in psychological research, with particular emphasis on the experimental method. Topics to be addressed include design and planning of experiments, control of variables in research, behavioral measurement, subject selection, implementation of experiments, data analysis and evaluation, presentation of research results, and ethical issues in psychological research. Prerequisites: Psychology 101, 102, and 210. Offered: each semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 301. (3)

PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY. The role of the nervous system in the control of behavior. An examination of neurophysiology, neurochemistry, neuropharmacology, and neuroanatomy and their relation to motivation, learning and memory, cognition, and mental disorders. Prerequisite: Psychology 101. Corequisite: Psychology 351. Recommended: Psychology 210 and 211; Biology 101-102. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 302. (3)

COGNITIVE PSYCHOLOGY. This course focuses on the study of human memory and mental processes. The information-processing approach is presented and described in some detail. A variety of mental activities are covered, including attention, perception, remembering, using language, reasoning, and problem-solving. Special attention is paid to the application of current research in cognitive psychology to real-life situations. Prerequisite: Psychology 101. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 303. (3)

PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSESSMENT. An overview of the technical problems involved in the construction and evaluation of measuring instruments, and a detailed examination of the more significant tests of ability and personality. Prerequisites: Psychology 101, 102, and 210. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 304. (3)

PSYCHOLOGY OF PERSONALITY. Theoretical approaches and research relevant to the study of personality. Psychoanalytic, trait, field, self, and learning approaches will be compared and evaluated. Prerequisite: Psychology 102. Corequisite: Psychology 354. Recommended: Psychology 210 and 211. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 305. (3)

MOTIVATION. An examination of factors responsible for the instigation, continuation, and cessation of human and animal behavior. Topics include physiological mechanisms of motivation, instinct, acquired motives, the relationship between motivation and learning, emotion, and complex forms of motivation (e.g., achievement, social influence). Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 306. (3)

SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY. The analysis of social motivation, attitude formation and change, group structure and processes, interpersonal perception and attraction, and the psychological impact of the environment. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102, or Sociology 201. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 307. (3)

BEHAVIORAL PHARMACOLOGY. The systematic study of the effects of drugs on behavior, cognitive functioning, and emotions; the interaction of a drug's effect on the nervous system; the biological and psychological makeup of the individual; and the social and physical environment as the determinant of the drug experience. Prerequisite: Psychology 101. Recommended: Biology 101-102 or Psychology 301. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 309. (3)

ABNORMAL PSYCHOLOGY. Causes, descriptions, and treatments of psychopathology are studied from a theoretical perspective and in accordance with the categories of DSM IV. Prerequisites: Psychology 101, 102, and 210. Open only to students majoring in Psychology. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 310. (3)

INDUSTRIAL/ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY. Application of psychological principles to problems in business and industry, and to management. Addresses such topics as personnel selection and organizational theory. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102. Offered: as staff time permits.

PSYCHOLOGY 312. (3)

LEARNING. The theoretical and empirical study of the acquisition, modification, and retention of human and animal behavior. Topics to be addressed include conditioning and instrumental learning, mechanisms of reinforcement, verbal and language learning, memory and forgetting, and the application of principles of learning and memory. Prerequisite: Psychology 101. Corequisite: Psychology 352. Recommended: Psychology 210 and 211. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 313. (3)

SENSATION AND PERCEPTION. An examination of sensory systems and perceptual processes. The senses are considered in terms of their respective physical stimuli, receptor systems, neural structures, and psychophysical data. Topics in perception include attention, feature detection, depth perception, perceptual organization, and perceptual illusions. Prerequisite: Psychology 101 or 102. Recommended: Psychology 301. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 315. (3)

DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY. Normal development of the human individual beginning with the prenatal period and with a special emphasis on childhood and adolescence. Developmental change and crises in middle life and old age will be described in less detail. Prerequisite: Psychology 102. Corequisite: Psychology 355. Recommended: Psychology 210 and 211. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 319. (3)

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF LAW. This course deals with the relationship between psychology and the legal process. Psychological abnormality and the criminal and civil law; the psychology of jury selection and deliberation; the validity of eyewitness testimony; the nature and treatment of criminal offenders; and the psychology of lawyering, negotiation, and conflict-resolution are among its concerns. Some attention will be given to the psychological assumptions that underlie the common law and to the empirical investigation of their validity. Prerequisite: Psychology 101. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

PSYCHOLOGY 351. (1)

LABORATORY IN PHYSIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY. Application of laboratory techniques in physiological research, including dissection, anesthesia, surgery, lesioning, behavioral testing, and histology. Corequisite: Psychology 301. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 352. (1)

LABORATORY FOR LEARNING. Applications of principles of classical and operant conditioning, observational learning, human learning, and memory in laboratory exercises and experiments. Corequisite: Psychology 312. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 354. (1)

LABORATORY FOR PERSONALITY. Exercises involving development and use of instruments to measure personality constructs and types, and the evaluation of those instruments. Corequisite: Psychology 304. Offered: fall semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 355. (1)

LABORATORY FOR DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHOLOGY. Exercises utilizing various research methods involved in the study of developmental processes, such as observational techniques and cross-sectional and longitudinal studies. Corequisite: Psychology 315. Offered: spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 401-402. (3-3)

SENIOR SEMINAR I-II. These two courses comprise the capstone experience for senior majors in Psychology. The first semester will address current issues and trends in the field with presentations and discussion led by different members of the Psychology faculty. The second semester will focus on the history of psychology and its theoretical systems and schools of thought. This study will include psychology's philosophical antecedents through the major schools of structuralism, functionalism, behaviorism, Gestalt psychology, and psychoanalysis. In addition to the seminar meetings, students in 401 will work individually with a member of the Psychology faculty serving as a thesis advisor to develop a proposal for research for their senior thesis. In 402, students will perform actual data collection, write a senior thesis based on that research, and give a public oral presentation on the thesis. Prerequisites: Psychology 210, 211, a 300-level laboratory course, two other 300-level courses, and senior standing. Offered: 401 in the fall semester; 402 in the spring semester.

PSYCHOLOGY 409. (3)

PSYCHOTHERAPY. A study of clinical methods, treatment approaches, and problems; the clinician and research. Prerequisites: Psychology 101, 102, and 309. Offered: spring semester of even numbered years.

PSYCHOLOGY 410. (3)

PRACTICUM/INTERNSHIP IN PSYCHOLOGY. Students spend one day or two half-days a week working under supervision in a state hospital or similar agency. Prerequisite: status as a senior majoring in Psychology. Offered: as staff time permits.

SOCIOLOGY 201. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO SOCIOLOGY. Methods and objectives of sociological research, varying patterns of social organization, the study of society and culture, and introduction to sociological theory. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester.

SOCIOLOGY 302. (3)

SOCIOLOGY OF DEVIANCE. The deviance approach to the problems of contemporary society. Prerequisite: Sociology 201. Offered: every fourth semester in rotation with Sociology 303, 304, and 305.

SOCIOLOGY 303. (3)

SOCIAL STRATIFICATION. The basic theories of social stratification are discussed with emphasis on the origin of stratification systems and on the consequences of stratification, especially the distribution and exercise of power and privilege in American society. Prerequisite: Sociology 201. Offered: every fourth semester in rotation with Sociology 302, 304, and 305.

SOCIOLOGY 304. (3)

RACE AND ETHNIC RELATIONS. This course examines minorities of all kinds from the perspective that differences among various peoples cause each group to look on other groups as strangers. After a study of the principles involved, the following groups will be studied: Northern and Western Europeans; South, Central, and Eastern Europeans; Native Americans; East, Central, and West Asian immigrants; African-Americans; Hispanic immigrants; religious minorities; and women in America. The course concludes with a holistic approach to the American Mosaic. Prerequisite: Sociology 201. Offered: every fourth semester in rotation with Sociology 302, 303, and 305.

SOCIOLOGY 305. (3)

SOCIOLOGY OF RELIGION. A study of the relationship between religion and society. The sociological perspective, viz. that religion may be defined as a communally held system of beliefs and practices oriented to some transcendent, supernatural reality, will predominate. Prerequisite: Sociology 201 or bona fide status as a Religion major. Offered: every fourth semester in rotation with Sociology 302, 303, and 304.

RELIGION

Professors Carney, Norment, Rogers; Associate Professor Hall; Visiting Assistant Professor Trapnell

Chair: Robert G. Rogers

The requirements for a major in Religion are 30 hours in Religion courses, including at least two courses in Biblical studies, two courses in world religions or methodology, and two courses in Christian theology or ethics. At least one course must be at the 400-level. Six hours in Philosophy courses are also recommended for students majoring in Religion; Philosophy 307 and Sociology 305 may be counted toward the required hours for the major.

The requirements for a concentration in Philosophy and Religion are 18 hours in each department, specific courses to be chosen in consultation with the departments.

RELIGION 101. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO RELIGION. A critical inquiry into the meaning of religion and its significance for human life. The course introduces students to the beliefs and practices identified as religious, including the concept of the holy, myth and ritual, rites of passage, sacred personages, death and afterlife, and patterns of personal and social transformation. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester.

RELIGION 102. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO BIBLICAL STUDIES. An introductory study of ancient Jewish and early Christian literature (the Hebrew and Christian scriptures). Consideration will be given to methods of interpretation, historical context and narrative, and literary form, as well as to principal themes and ideas. Prerequisite: none. Not open to students who have taken a 200-level Biblical course. Offered: each semester.

RELIGION 103. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO WORLD RELIGIONS. An introduction to the origins, development, and current meaning of several spiritual traditions. The course is designed to show the diversity of religious traditions, as well as to indicate the common questions that the various traditions address. The course will begin with a consideration of the relation between religion and the human condition as we experience it. In the light of this introduction, several traditions chosen from the Jewish, Christian, Hindu, Buddhist, Confucian, Taoist, Muslim, and Native American will be examined. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester.

RELIGION 151-152. (3-3)

TUTORIAL IN BIBLICAL HEBREW.

Introduction to basic vocabulary and grammar of Biblical Hebrew. Emphasis on (1) learning to read sentences in the Hebrew Old Testament; (2) acquiring a facility in using a Hebrew lexicon and in using the critical notes in the Hebrew text. Prerequisite: none. Offered: on sufficient demand.

RELIGION 201. (3)

JUDAISM. Jewish history and religion, institutions and observances, customs and lore from the Biblical period to the present. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of every second year.

RELIGION 202. (3)

RELIGIONS OF SOUTH ASIA. A study of the religions of South Asia and the historical and cultural context in which they developed. Special attention will be paid to Vedism, Brahminism, Jainism, Buddhism, and Hinduism. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of even-numbered years.

RELIGION 203. (3)

RELIGIONS OF EAST ASIA. A study of Confucianism, Taoism, Shinto, and Buddhism in the context of the history and culture of East Asia. Prerequisite: none. Offered: spring semester of even-numbered years.

RELIGION 204. (3)

ISLAM. A study of the major elements of religious life and practice in the Islamic tradition: Allah, Qur'an, Prophet, worship, law, theology, mysticism. Special attention will be paid to the influence of Islam on the development of European culture, the relation of Islam to the Jewish and Christian traditions, and the contemporary resurgence of Islam. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

RELIGION 211. (3)

THE TORAH. A study of the Five Books of Moses: Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy. Students will consider passages which reflect the ancient life of monarchic and pre-monarchic Israel, but will concentrate on discovering the exilic and post-exilic message of the books as they presently exist. Prerequisite: an introductory-level Religion or Humanities course.

RELIGION 212. (3)

THE HEBREW PROPHETS. An investigation of the rise and development of the prophetic movement in Israel, with particular emphasis upon the relevance of the prophets for their own and later times. Prerequisite: Religion 102, Humanities 101, or permission of the instructor.

RELIGION 221. (3)

THE SYNOPTIC TRADITION. An evaluation of the person and work of Jesus as portrayed in Matthew, Mark, and Luke, with particular attention to the work of contemporary theologians with respect to the "historical Jesus." Prerequisite: Religion 102, Humanities 102, or permission of the instructor.

RELIGION 223. (3)

THEOLOGY OF PAUL. A study of principal theological and ethical ideas and issues in the letters of Paul, undertaken from the perspectives of Biblical and historical theology rather than from those of literary or biographical analysis. Some consideration will be given to the interpreters of Paul—his influence on subsequent theologians such as Martin Luther, Karl Barth, and Reinhold Niebuhr. Prerequisite: Religion 102, Humanities 102, or permission of the instructor. Offered: fall semester of even years.

RELIGION 224. (3)

THE JOHANNINE TRADITION. A study of the New Testament documents commonly associated with this tradition: the Gospel of John (the "Fourth Gospel"), the Letters of John, the Revelation (Apocalypse) of John. Principal attention will be given to the Gospel—its formation, its relation to the Synoptic Gospels, its distinctive theological emphases. Prerequisite: Religion 102, Humanities 102, or permission of the instructor.

RELIGION 301. (3)

RELIGION AND DEATH. A study of the perception and management of death in various religious traditions, with particular reference to New Testament conceptions and the perspectives of contemporary theologians; consideration of certain ethical issues associated with death and dying. Prerequisite: none, but either Religion 101, 102, or 103 is recommended. Offered: intermittently, either semester, or May Term.

RELIGION 302. (3)

THEOLOGY AND LITERATURE. A consideration of the usage of specific Biblical and/or religious themes or motifs in contemporary literature. The emphasis will be on discerning what principles of interpretation are used in giving contemporary expression to specific themes. The specific themes considered vary. Prerequisite: Religion 102 or permission of the instructor. Offered: intermittently, either semester.

RELIGION 303. (3)

RELIGIOUS PLURALISM. This course involves critical reflection on the meaning of religious pluralism in the contemporary world. This process of reflection includes clarification of the significance of "pluralism," its impact on asserting truth claims, and the possibility of one tradition's claim to absolute truth in relation to the truth claims of other traditions. In particular, the course will address the model of interreligious dialogue as a strategy for living with truth claims and religious pluralism. Prerequisite: none, but Religion 103 or another course in world religions is recommended.

RELIGION 305. (3)

AFRICAN CHRISTIANITY. Through common readings and class discussion, the richness and complexity of African Christianity will be explored, emphasis being placed on understanding a variety of theological concerns and issues. Among others, the following will be considered: African particularity and Christian universalism, Christian belief and African nationalism, traditional African customs and Biblical laws, missionaries and indigenous leadership, independent African churches and "main-line" denominations. Prerequisite: none, but Religion 101, 102, or 103 is strongly recommended as background. Offered: fall semester of every second year.

RELIGION 307. (3)

AMERICAN RELIGIOUS THOUGHT. A study of major traditions and the work of creative individuals in the development of American religious thought, principally but not exclusively Christian, with particular attention to the interplay between theology and culture and to significant contemporary trends. Prerequisite: none. Offered: fall semester of odd-numbered years.

RELIGION 309. (3)

CHRISTIAN ETHICS. A study of significant traditional and contemporary emphases in Christian ethical theory, and the application of Christian ethical analysis to selected moral and social issues. Prerequisite: none, but Religion 102 is recommended. Offered: spring semester.

RELIGION 315. (3)

HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN THOUGHT I.

A study of important Christian thinkers and the historical currents in which they worked from the second century to the Reformation. Emphasis will fall on major works which express a diversity of Christian experience, practice, and theology. Prerequisite: none.

RELIGION 316. (3)

HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN THOUGHT II.

A study of important Christian thinkers and the historical currents in which they worked from the Reformation to the present. Although the course will dwell on principal theologians such as Luther, Calvin, Schleiermacher, Ritschl, and Barth, various Puritans, Pietists, Liberals, and social reformers will be studied as well. Prerequisite: none.

RELIGION 317. (3)

CONTEMPORARY CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY.

An introduction to the study of theology, with particular attention to important recent developments and the writings of major 20th-century European and American theologians. Prerequisite: Religion 102, Humanities 101-102, or permission of the instructor. Offered: intermittently, spring semester.

RELIGION 475. (3)

SEMINAR IN CONTEMPORARY THEOLOGICAL ISSUES.

Intensive study of selected issues in the fields of contemporary and/or Biblical theology. Limited enrollment. Open to juniors and seniors (sophomores by permission of the instructor). Prerequisite: Religion 102 or permission of the instructor. Offered: spring semester.

RHETORIC

Professors Bagby, Brinkley, Martin, M. M. Saunders, Schiffer⁺; Adjunct Professor C. Colley; Associate Professors Deis, Frye; Adjunct Associate Professors Cabas, Hingeley, Rhoads, Robbins; Assistant Professors Harms, K. Weese, Woodard; Lecturers M. Jones, D. O. Marion, B. O'Grady, M. H. Saunders, Stephens

Director: Elizabeth J. Deis

RHETORIC 100. (3)

INTRODUCTION TO GRAMMAR AND COMPOSITION. This course emphasizes basic sentence grammar—parts of speech, sentence types, sentence combining, and major errors in sentence construction—and the basic elements of composition—thesis development, paragraphing, and selection and organization of evidence. Students will also develop vocabulary and reading skills. Prerequisite: permission of the Director of the Rhetoric Program.

RHETORIC 101-102. (3-3)

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF GOOD WRITING. In this course students learn and practice the skills they need to write well. The course emphasizes reading, clear thinking, composing, revising, and editing, and in the process prepares students for other courses that demand careful reading, thinking, and writing. The course also provides a foundation of skills necessary to pass the Rhetoric Proficiency Examination. Prerequisite: for Rhetoric 101, none; for Rhetoric 102, Rhetoric 101 or permission of the Director.

RHETORIC 200. (0)

PROFICIENCY TUTORIAL. (No credit—equal to a three-hour course.) This is a tutorial course designed for those students who have not passed the timed Rhetoric Proficiency Examination after three attempts or have completed the equivalent of six semesters of enrollment without passing the examination. During the semester students will review the principles of sound argumentative prose under the tutelage of an instructor and will write three essays of 8-10 pages in length. Receiving a grade of Satisfactory on the three essays will constitute a demonstration of proficiency in writing and so satisfy the College's Rhetoric Proficiency Examination requirement.

RHETORIC 210. (3)

PUBLIC SPEAKING. A study of the art of speaking in public. Students develop their abilities in the following areas: invention and discovery, arrangement, style, memory, and delivery. The course treats the issues and difficulties peculiar to the act of speaking intelligibly, forcefully, and persuasively to an audience. During the course of the semester each student will deliver five speeches. In addition, he will read and analyze several orations in a series of short essays. He will write a mid-term examination that tests his knowledge of the principles of public speaking and his ability to analyze such speeches. Finally, he will write a term paper that analyzes a speech or speeches. His final grade in the course will reflect both his oral and his written work. Prerequisite: none.

CUSHING HALL (1824-1833)

Admissions

As the nation's tenth oldest college, and the oldest for men, Hampden-Sydney offers solid reasons for students to attend: a complete undergraduate research library, talented and caring faculty members, successful job and graduate-school placement, superior facilities, advanced technological capabilities, internship and study-abroad opportunities, a competitive athletic program, and many social and extracurricular activities. On its safe, spacious campus, Hampden-Sydney also provides unequalled encouragement for students to rise to any level they choose. The rigorous academic program, based in the classic liberal arts and protected by a strong Honor Code, emphasizes analytical and communications skills to prepare students for just about any career. At the College men become leaders.

Young men considering Hampden-Sydney will be sent publications about the College, including the student-written Candidate's Guide. All applicants for admission are sent a copy of this Academic Catalogue, the official publication of the College.

Decisions on admissions are made by the Admissions Committee of the Faculty and by the Admissions Office.

QUALIFICATIONS

Prospective students are expected to have mastered a solid, demanding college-preparatory program before entering Hampden-Sydney, including at least four units of English, two units of one foreign language, three units of mathematics, two units of natural science (one of which must be a laboratory course), and one unit of social science. In addition, a third unit of foreign language and a fourth unit of mathematics are recommended. The records of successful applicants often include examples of impressive school and community extra-curricular contributions in addition to their academic preparation.

Hampden-Sydney requires its applicants to submit the results they have achieved on the SAT-I: Reasoning Test, given by the College Entrance Examination Board, or the ACT, given by the American College Testing Program. The College also strongly recommends the submission of scores from three SAT-II: Subject Tests, two of which should be in Writing and Mathematics. The following examination dates are suggested for all candidates:

- Junior year: Preliminary SAT (PSAT/NMSQT) in October; SAT-I: Reasoning Test or ACT in March; SAT-II: Subject Tests in May. Students may choose to take these tests for practice, for Early Admission, for Early Decision, or for Regular Admission.
- Senior year: SAT-I: Reasoning Test in October or November or ACT in October or December; SAT-II: Subject Tests in December or January. Applicants do not have to take these tests again if they are satisfied with the scores they previously attained.

For further information on these tests, candidates are encouraged to contact their secondary-school guidance department or write to College Entrance Examination Board, Princeton, New Jersey 08541 (the Board's code number for Hampden-Sydney College is 5291); or the American College Testing Program, Iowa City, Iowa 52243 (the ACT code number for Hampden-Sydney College is 4356).

APPLICATION CREDENTIALS

In order for an application to Hampden-Sydney College to be considered complete, it must contain an Application for Admission (together with a non-refundable $30.00 application fee), a transcript of grades obtained in secondary school (and any previous colleges for transfer applicants), one teacher recommendation, and the results of the candidate's SAT-I or ACT test. Hampden-Sydney also accepts the Common Application in lieu of its own form and gives equal consideration to both. The College is also a participant in the Peterson's Guide, CollegeLink, and Apply! computerized application forms. A student may also apply electronically at <http://www.hsc.edu>.

Candidates wishing to support their applications with additional personal references may do so up to a recommended maximum of three. The Faculty Admissions Committee, while finding recommendations helpful in the selection process, is not necessarily impressed by sheer volume, which often makes objective evaluation more difficult.

CAMPUS INTERVIEWS

Candidates considering Hampden-Sydney College are strongly encouraged and, in some cases, may be required to visit the campus for a personal interview. Students conduct tours of the campus, and conferences and classes with professors and/or coaches can be arranged. Requests for appointments should be directed to the Admissions Office (800-755-0733). The Office is located on the second floor of Graham Hall and is open year-round from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, and on Saturday from 9:00 a.m. until noon by appointment during the academic year. A guide, with complete instructions for visitors, is forwarded prior to all appointments if sufficient notice is given.

ACCEPTANCE PLANS

Hampden-Sydney has three acceptance plans: Early Admission—the student enters the College after three years of high school; Early Decision—the College mails each candidate his acceptance or deferral notification on December 15 of his senior year; and Regular Admission—the College notifies candidates between March 1 and April 15.

Early Admission Plan

Hampden-Sydney recognizes that some students with records of superior academic achievement and promise may require fewer than the usual four years of secondary school to prepare for college. Under the Early Admission Plan, qualified candidates whose credentials are received by July 1 after their junior year will receive an acceptance or deferral no later than July 31. Availability of space could be a determinant in the College's willingness to consider Early Admission candidates.

Candidates applying under the Early Admission Plan must have earned a high school diploma or present official evidence in writing that a diploma will be forthcoming upon the satisfactory conclusion of the student's freshman year at Hampden-Sydney.

If Early Admission candidates elect to take the college admission tests, they must do so by May of their junior year. Although they must file their applications by July 1, the final date for submission of transcripts, letters of recommendation, and scores is July 15. Candidates must visit Hampden-Sydney for an interview.

Applicants accepted under this plan must send their reservation deposits within three weeks after acceptance. This deposit is not refundable.

Early Decision Plan

The Early Decision Plan is reserved for freshman candidates whose first choice of college is Hampden-Sydney. The candidate may apply to other colleges, but have only his Hampden-Sydney application pending for Early Decision. In return for the benefit of having notification mailed by December 15 (two and a half months before the regular decision-announcement period begins), the candidate agrees to enroll if accepted at Hampden-Sydney, provided his financial aid award is sufficient. The student will then withdraw all other applications and make no subsequent applications. The early decision candidate must file his application by November 15 of his senior year.

Under this plan, no student is denied admission; he will either be admitted or deferred. A deferred candidate will receive thorough, unbiased consideration under the regular admission procedure.

While the deadline for submission of an Early Decision Plan Application is November 15, candidates have until (but not beyond) December 1 to provide the College with required documentation. Applicants wishing to be considered for financial aid should submit the financial form PROFILE™ from the College Scholarship Service, supplied by the College, by November 15. (Exceptions to this deadline will be considered, but must be explained.) The College recognizes that final enrollment of an Early Decision Candidate may depend upon financial considerations. It should be noted that Hampden-Sydney has been able to provide a high percentage of indicated need for early decision entrants.

The early decision candidate must confirm his place in the class by submitting a non-refundable reservation deposit by January 2.

Regular Admission Plan

Candidates choosing the Regular Admission Plan should submit their applications to the College as early as possible in their senior year. Hampden-Sydney maintains an official application deadline of March 1. Applications received after that date will be considered only on a space-available basis.

SUMMARY OF ADMISSION PLAN REQUIREMENTS

| Nature of plan: | Early Admission (after three years of secondary school) | Early Decision (Hampden-Sydney is first choice) | Regular Admission |
|--|--|---|--|
| Application and fee due: | Postmarked on or before July 1 after junior year | Postmarked on or before November 15 of senior year | Postmarked on or before March 1 of senior year* |
| Other credentials due: | By July 15 after junior year | By December 1 of senior year | By March 15 of senior year |
| SAT:I or ACT tests taken: | Before May of junior year | In junior year | Before February of senior year |
| Notification of decision sent to applicant: | By July 31 after junior year | Mailed on December 15 of senior year | Between March 1 and April 15 of senior year |
| Reservation deposit due: | Within three weeks | January 2 | May 1 |

* Freshman candidates considering applying after March 1 should contact the Admissions Office to determine the availability of space.

Students are notified of the Faculty Admissions Committee's decision between March 1 and April 15. Accepted applicants are expected to confirm their places in the incoming class by May 1.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Transfer Students may not enter as seniors, since they must complete at least four semesters of full-time study (or the equivalent) at Hampden-Sydney to satisfy degree requirements. They may enter, however, in either the fall or the spring semester of other years.

Besides the required secondary-school credentials, transfer students should provide official transcripts of all undergraduate studies already undertaken, along with a letter of recommendation from a dean or other appropriate official. While academic work completed at the college level is a more current indicator of a student's potential success at Hampden-Sydney, the Admissions Committee will also consider the secondary-school record and test scores. Personal interviews are strongly encouraged.

Qualified transfer students desiring to enter in the fall semester should apply by July 1. Those interested in second-semester admission should apply by December 1.

Hampden-Sydney normally offers junior-year standing to students holding an A.A. degree in liberal arts subject matter from an accredited community or junior college. A 3.0 (B) or higher grade-point average is usually required for automatic junior-year standing. Up to, but not exceeding, 60 credit hours may be given for course work similar to that offered by Hampden-Sydney for students applying under this category.

A student from another institution must have earned a grade of C or better in all courses which he presents for transfer. Credit will normally be awarded only for those courses equivalent to courses offered at Hampden-Sydney College.

A transfer student must meet all of Hampden-Sydney's proficiency and distribution requirements, either as a result of his previous college work or after matriculation at Hampden-Sydney. The Registrar or a member of the Admissions staff will be happy to review a student's transcript and advise him concerning transfer credits and the College's requirements.

The College normally denies admission to a transfer applicant if he is ineligible to return to the college from which he wishes to transfer, or if his previous college work fails to show promise of success at Hampden-Sydney.

Transfer students who expect to receive six credit hours for composition courses taken elsewhere must take and pass the Rhetoric Proficiency

ADVANCED PLACEMENT

A student who achieves a score of four or five on an advanced placement examination of the College Board will receive up to eight hours of academic credit and exemption from corresponding proficiency and distribution requirements. Exemptions from requirements for the academic major will be determined by the appropriate department. (see chart left). Granting of credit or placement for a score of three will be at the discretion of the department. A student who chooses to take a course for which he has been granted advanced placement will not receive additional credit.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Hampden-Sydney is committed to the recruitment of foreign students. Special application forms are available from the Admissions Office for:

- non-U.S. citizens living abroad;
- non-resident aliens temporarily living in the United States;
- permanent residents of the United States (unless their last two years of education were completed in the U.S.);
- U.S. citizens with foreign diplomas or degrees.

Applicants seeking to begin studies in the fall semester should submit applications and supporting credentials by March 1. Those seeking admission for the spring semester should submit materials by December 1. All documents written in languages other than English must be accompanied by certified English translations. The Admissions Office will not process applications until all supporting documents have been received.

Students from abroad are eligible for admission if they have completed, with good grades, the academic (classical) secondary-school program offered in their country. All applicants who speak or write English as a second language are required to take the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language). Test results should be sent to Hampden-Sydney. Information concerning this test may be obtained by writing to TOEFL, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, NJ 08540.

INTERNATIONAL BACCALAUREATE

A student who achieves a score of six or seven on an International Baccalaureate Examination will receive three to six hours of academic credit and/or exemption from the corresponding proficiency and distribution requirements. Granting of credit or placement for a score of five will be at the discretion of the department. A student who chooses to take a course for which he has been granted international baccalaureate credit will not receive additional credit.

TRANSPORTATION TO THE CAMPUS

Prospective students arriving by mass transit in the three metropolitan centers serving Hampden-Sydney (Lynchburg, Richmond, and Charlottesville) can make arrangements through the Admissions Office for personalized transportation to the College. A student must call the Admissions Office (800) 755-0733, at least one week in advance of his visit, with information on where and when he will be arriving. The charge for each trip is $35.00 (round trips would, therefore, be double). Payment to the driver takes place at the time of the trip.

MEDICAL INFORMATION

The College does not require medical information prior to admission; however, following his acceptance each student must complete a medical questionnaire and physical examination form. That form must be returned to the Student Health Service before matriculation.

EXPLANATION OF FEES

The Comprehensive Fee covers tuition, materials required in laboratory courses, medical care at the Student Health Service, excess accident and hospitalization insurance for intercollegiate sports participants, admission to athletic events held on the campus, student publications, and other activities. The fee does not cover breakage of College property or the purchase of expendable materials for laboratory courses.

The Student Activities Fee provides support to student activities and organizations. Funds are distributed by the Student Finance Board and College Activities Committee. This fee is charged 50% for each semester and is non-refundable.

Room Rent in College housing covers cost of occupancy and utilities. The cost is dependent on the residence to which the student is assigned. Each student is responsible to the College for the condition of his room and is expected to report any damage to College property to the Associate Dean of Students. He must pay the costs of repair or replacement and, depending on the circumstances, may suffer disciplinary action.

Board. All students—except day students, those residing off campus, those residing in private homes on campus, and married students living with their spouses—are required to board in the Commons. If a student has a serious medical problem relating to diet, he may request that the College waive the boarding requirement. He must submit a specific diet recommended by his physician to the Dean of Students, who will consult with the food service manager. If the food service cannot reasonably meet the dietary requirements, the Dean of Students may waive the board requirement if the student can meet his dietary needs in an otherwise satisfactory manner.

The Telecommunications Fee provides state-of-the-art telephone, voice mail, cable television, FM radio, and data connections. In the future, data capabilities will be extended to all student rooms. This fee is charged 50% for each semester and is non-refundable.

The Course Overload Fee is assessed when students, who by special permission of the Executive Committee of the faculty, are taking more than 19 hours of course work in a given semester.

Part-Time (fewer than 12 hours) and Special (normally no more than 7 hours) Students pay a per-credit-hour fee for courses taken at the College. See the descriptions in the Academic Program section. Fees are $498 per credit hour for the first 11 hours. Students carrying at least 12 hours each semester are considered full-time.

The Late Enrollment Fee is assessed when a student fails to matriculate on the day scheduled. This fee may be excused by the Dean of Students if the reason for late matriculation is beyond the student's control. Students are required to call the Dean of Students' Office if they are unable to matriculate on the scheduled day.

The Graduation Fee is payable by January 1 of the senior year to cover the cost of the diploma and cap and gown for Commencement functions.

The Late Payment Fee is assessed if an account is not paid by the due date. (See below under Payment of Fees.)

Study Abroad. All students going abroad are assessed a fee for mandatory health insurance.

PAYMENT OF FEES

Fifty percent of all charges is payable by August 1; the balance (50%) is due by January 1. If an account is not paid by the due date, a late payment fee is assessed. The College regards the student's account as delinquent unless arrangements satisfactory to the Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer have previously been made. A student whose account is delinquent is not entitled to board, room, registration, admission to classes, or issue of transcripts.

In unusual circumstances an extended deferment may be granted by the Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer. However, such deferment involves interest charges on the balance outstanding.

Checks should be made payable to Hampden-Sydney College and mailed to the Business Office, P.O. Box 127, Hampden-Sydney, VA 23943; (804) 223-6216.

RETURN OF FEES

Hampden-Sydney College complies with all federal regulations governing recipients of federal Title IV funds. Specific information regarding College refund policies is available in the Office of Financial Aid. Where federal regulations do not supersede, the following institutional policies apply:

For voluntary withdrawals before matriculation, written notice must be presented to the Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer by the matriculation date. If written notice is received by the deadline, the comprehensive fee, room rent, and board paid by the student or for the student's account from private resources (not including grant or loan funds from federal, state, or College financial-aid programs) will be refunded, less the $300 advance deposit required of all newly accepted students.

For voluntary withdrawals after matriculation, 80% of the comprehensive fee paid by the student or for the student's account from private resources (not including grant or loan funds from federal, state, or College financial-aid programs), less the $300 advance deposit required of all newly accepted students, will be refunded to those who deliver written notification of their withdrawal to the Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer during the period between the date of matriculation up to and including the seventh calendar day after the first day of classes. During the period from the eighth calendar day after the first day of classes up to and including the twenty-eighth calendar day after the first day of classes, a refund of 40% of the comprehensive fee will be made. After that date no refunds of tuition and fees will be made except for medical reasons as noted below. The date of withdrawal shall be the date on which written notice is delivered to the Vice President for Business Affairs and Treasurer.

A pro-rata refund of unused board is allowed if withdrawal occurs earlier than two weeks before the end of the semester.

After matriculation there is no refund of room rent, activities fee, or telecommunications fee. There is no refund of the comprehensive fee, room rent, or board for students who are suspended or expelled for disciplinary reasons.

For students whose withdrawal is certified as necessary by the College physician, a refund of the comprehensive fee will be made until the middle of the semester.

SCHOLARSHIP PAYMENTS

Disbursements of institutional grants and loan funds and federal and state grants and loan funds are made in equal amounts each semester.

OBLIGATIONS OF GRADUATING SENIORS

A graduating senior who has any outstanding financial obligations to the College (unpaid fees, disciplinary or library fine, bookstore bill, lost library book charge, etc.), or who has not attended his required Perkins, Stafford, Booker-Stebbin, or Teaching Loan exit interview with the Financial Aid or Business Office, will not receive his diploma at Commencement. He will be allowed to march in the Commencement exercises and will receive a facsimile of a diploma, but the diploma will be held in the Business Office until all obligations have been met. Final semester grades and transcripts will also be held until obligations have been met.

Seniors will be reminded of this policy well in advance of Commencement. In addition, approximately two weeks before Commencement seniors with outstanding obligations will be sent a notice specifying any obligations to be met; preparation of the notice will be coordinated by the Business Office, in cooperation with other offices of the College.

It will be the responsibility of each senior to make sure that all obligations are met in a timely manner. The deadline for payment of financial obligations will be noon on the Friday preceding Commencement.

INSURANCE ON PERSONAL POSSESSIONS

College insurance does not cover losses of personal property (including motor vehicles) of students as a result of fire, theft, damage, etc. Therefore, parents, guardians, or students are urged to consider a floater on their insurance policy to cover such possessions.

HEALTH INSURANCE

All students are encouraged to have primary health insurance coverage. Students must check their present policy to ensure that they are covered currently and that coverage will continue concurrently with their attendance at Hampden-Sydney College. Students are responsible for all medical expenses except for those services received at the Student Health Service without charge.

Please note that no student may participate in any intercollegiate athletic program until valid and collectible primary health and accident insurance is verified. Proof of adequate insurance coverage must be provided by all students prior to participation on any intercollegiate team. This primary health and accident policy must remain in force during the entire period the student is participating in intercollegiate sports activities. Lapse of coverage will disallow participation in intercollegiate sports until the policy has been reinstated. Hampden-Sydney College does carry a supplemental, standard accident insurance policy for its intercollegiate athletes. However, please note that this supplemental accident policy is for accidents only, not illnesses or aggravated or other injuries which are not a direct result of an accident. For additional information concerning this coverage, contact the Head Athletic Trainer (804-223-6257).

FINANCIAL AID

Hampden-Sydney College offers financial aid to students who can make the most of the education that the College offers. Both academic achievement and promise, as well as financial need, are considered in the initial award of College funds. Similarly, financial aid for returning students is based upon both academic performance and demonstrated need.

Entering students who wish to be considered for financial aid should complete two applications—the PROFILE™ from the College Scholarship Service to apply for College grants and scholarships and the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to apply for federal grants, loans, and work-study awards. Students may complete the PROFILE™ beginning as early as September; the FAFSA cannot be completed until after January 1. March 1 is Hampden-Sydney's priority filing deadline for both PROFILE™ and FAFSA for applicants under the Regular Admission plan. Applicants for admission under the Early Decision plan are urged to complete PROFILE™ prior to November 15. Students may obtain PROFILE™ and FAFSA applications from the Admissions Office.

Virginia residents attending the College for the first time must also complete a separate application for the Virginia Tuition Assistance Grant (TAG) program. TAG, based on residency, not need, is available to bona fide residents of Virginia who attend an eligible private college or university in the Commonwealth. A TAG application is mailed from the College's Admissions Office to each accepted Virginia freshman applicant upon receipt of the deposit confirming intent to enroll. Completed TAG applications must be returned to the Office of Financial Aid before July 31.

Financial-aid awards, including Merit Scholarships (below), are reviewed at the end of each semester and may be withdrawn if a recipient's citizenship or academic work does not meet the standards of the College.

Detailed information regarding financial-aid policy is available from the Office of Financial Aid (804-223-6119).

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS

In addition to the regular financial-aid program, Hampden-Sydney offers several scholarships, awarded without regard to financial need, which recognize outstanding academic and extracurricular achievement.

All applicants for admission to the College are automatically considered for Merit Scholarships by the staff of the Admissions Office and then by the members of the Honors Council. Applicants meeting the academic, leadership, and personal qualifications for Merit Scholarships are invited to visit Hampden-Sydney, at the College's expense, for interviews by the Honors Council, held from December through early April. The Honors Council then decides on offers of Merit Scholarships.

Each Merit Scholar receives a grant to cover a portion of his tuition, fees, and financial need as determined by the College. He is also a participant in the College's Honors Program, which gives students unusual latitude for intellectual challenge and independent study, for broadening their perspective and contemplating their formal academic pursuits. Merit Scholars participate in special courses that enhance curricular breadth and in extracurricular activities, such as educational and cultural events in Richmond and other nearby communities. They may participate in symposia at other colleges in the region or in the annual conventions of the Virginia Collegiate Honors Council. On campus they receive invitations to meals with visiting dignitaries and to special colloquia; they also may arrange symposia for participation by honors students at other colleges in the state.

Additional information on Merit Scholarships is available from the Office of Financial Aid (804-223-6119).

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships of varying amounts are available for participants in ROTC. Army ROTC Scholarships are not related to family income and are awarded strictly on merit. If an applicant wins and accepts a scholarship, the student must become part of the ROTC program at Longwood College.

Tuition and educational fees are paid at a flat rate. Flight fees are not paid. There are three levels of annual payment: $12,800 (Tier I), $8,000 (Tier II), and $5,000 (Tier III). All applicants are considered for each level. Additionally, the benefit package includes an annual allotment of $450 for textbooks and classroom supplies.

A tax-free subsistence allowance of up to $1500 per year is paid to each contracted cadet. This allowance is paid at the rate of $150 per month for up to ten months per year.

For more information contact the Department of Military Science at Longwood College, Farmville, VA 23909; (804) 395-2134.

ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

Hampden-Sydney College recognizes the importance and the generosity of the contributions of alumni, parents, and friends to the general scholarship endowment. Each of the endowed scholarships listed below produces significant income which supplements the College's financial-aid program and is, therefore, individually designated.

THE COLONEL AND MRS. GEORGE E. ADAMSON SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1946 by Colonel Adamson of Washington, D.C.

THE DANIEL POPE ALLEN SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1988 by Dr. Mary Virginia Allen in memory of her brother, Daniel Pope Allen '25. The scholarship is used to assist worthy students with preference given to those planning to enter the Christian ministry.

THE EDWARD W., WILLIAM D., MARY A., AND SUSAN R. ALLEN SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1990 by a gift from Mr. W. Dudley Allen, Jr. '43, of Wilsons, Virginia, in memory of his family. Awards are based on financial need with preference given to residents of Dinwiddie or Amelia County, Virginia.

THE WILLIAM T. AND VIRGINIA R. ALLEN SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1985 by a gift from East Coast Oil Corporation of Richmond, Virginia, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Allen. This scholarship is administered by the Honors Council as part of the College's Merit Awards. It is one of the endowments which fund the Madison Scholarships, named in honor of President James Madison, a Charter trustee of the College. These scholarships are reserved for the outstanding member of each entering class.

THE FRANCES PRICE ANDREWS SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1986 by Lester E. Andrews '36 in memory of his wife; and by their sons and daughters-in-law, Lester E. Andrews, Jr., and Diane Moss Andrews; and William D. Andrews and Katheryn Hargrove Andrews. Preference is given to students from Southside Virginia, primarily those from Prince Edward and the adjoining counties of Appomattox, Amelia, Buckingham, Charlotte, Cumberland, and Lunenburg.

THE GEORGE SLOAN ARNOLD SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1979 by George Sloan Arnold of Romney, West Virginia. The fund is in memory of Henry Bell Gilkeson and Robert William Gilkeson, the father and brother of Mr. Arnold's wife, Laura. Henry Bell Gilkeson was a member of the Hampden-Sydney class of 1873, and Robert William Gilkeson was a member of the class of 1907. The income from the fund is used to award scholarships to worthy students who demonstrate financial need and academic excellence. Preference is given to qualified students first from Hampshire County, West Virginia, and second from West Virginia.

THE PAUL TULANE AND ESTHER THOMAS ATKINSON SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1964 by the late Mr. Carlyle Gee '26 of Greensboro, North Carolina, as a memorial to Mr. Atkinson. Additional gifts by Mrs. Atkinson fully endowed this scholarship. The Atkinsons played large roles in the 20th-century life of Hampden-Sydney. Mr. Atkinson '07 was Treasurer from 1919 to 1957, and Mrs. Atkinson was the founder and curator (1968-1994) of the museum which is named in her honor.

THE DONALD PYLE BAGWELL, SR., SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 by the Bagwell family in memory of Mr. Donald Pyle Bagwell, Sr. '35. Awards are based on financial need with preference given to residents of Halifax County, Virginia.

THE FRANK CLEVELAND AND LENA REEKES BEDINGER SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1977 by a gift from Frank C. Bedinger '05 of Boydton, Virginia, and supplemented by gifts from family members, Frank C. Bedinger, Jr. '37, and Dr. & Mrs. William C. Finch '29. The scholarship is awarded to pre-law students on the basis of superior academic achievement, outstanding leadership abilities, the promise of potential usefulness, and evidence of financial need. Where no financial need exists, the award is $750. The scholarship is administered by the Honors Council as part of the College's Merit Awards.

THE BELL ATLANTIC-VIRGINIA, INC., SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1992 by gifts from C&P Telephone Company of Virginia.

THE RAYMOND B. AND DOROTHY ROUSE BOTTOM SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1981 by Dorothy Rouse Bottom of Hampton, Virginia, in memory of her husband. This scholarship is awarded to students who demonstrate financial need with preference given to students from the Peninsula area of Virginia.

THE JAMES BAKER BOWERS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 from the estate of James B. Bowers, Jr. '26, in memory of his father, James Baker Bowers, President of Owens, Minor & Bodeker, Incorporated, and the following family members: his brother, George S. Bowers '31; his grandfather, Dr. George B. Steel; his two uncles, Dr. Charles L. Steel and Dr. Frank R. Steel; and his great-great-grandfather, Dr. John William Fletcher. The scholarship is awarded to students pursuing their studies in the life sciences.

THE LOUISE STEEL BOWERS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 from the estate of James B. Bowers, Jr. '26, in memory of his mother, Louise Steel Bowers. This scholarship is awarded to students who set outstanding examples of good citizenship and service.

THE ERNEST JACKSON BRIGHTWELL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1981 by a bequest from Mr. Brightwell '37. Preference is given to graduates of Highland Springs High School, Henrico County, Virginia.

THE LEWIS O. BROWN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1973 by Mr. Brown's widow, Mrs. Mary Patsel Brown of Roanoke, Virginia. Roanoke students are given preference.

THE JOSIAH BUNTING III AND DIANA CUNNINGHAM BUNTING SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1986 by gifts from trustees, alumni, parents, and friends. The fund honors the Buntings and their accomplishments during Mr. Bunting's presidency of the College from 1977 to 1987. This scholarship is administered by the Honors Council as part of the College's Merit Awards. It is one of the endowments which fund the Madison Scholarships, named in honor of President James Madison, a Charter trustee of the College. These scholarships are reserved for the outstanding member of each entering class.

THE CENTEL FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1990 by the Centel Foundation of Chicago, Illinois, to recognize the contributions of Wilson B. Garnett, a native of Prince Edward County, to the Centel Corporation. Preference in award is given to students from Prince Edward County.

THE CENTRAL FIDELITY BANKS SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 by Central Fidelity Banks, Inc., Richmond. Preference in award of the Central Fidelity Banks Scholarship is given to students from Virginia who are economics majors.

THE ALEXANDER BERKELEY CARRINGTON, JR., SCHOLARSHIP was established by a bequest from Mrs. A. B. (Ruth S.) Carrington, Jr., whose husband, class of 1915, was a trustee of the College 1929-1962. Award is made to worthy students.

THE WILLIAM CARROLL CHEWNING, JR., MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1975 by Mr. and Mrs. William Carroll Chewning '41, in memory of their son, a member of the class of 1967, and by other family members and friends. Preference is given to students with financial need who show promise in the field of mathematics.

THE W. RANDOLPH CHITWOOD, SR. '41, M.D., SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1993 by Ruth Anne Chitwood in memory of her husband. Awards are based on financial need and preference is given to students from Southwest Virginia who are preparing to attend medical school.

THE AYLETT B. COLEMAN, SR., SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 by Mr. Aylett B. Coleman III of Roanoke, Virginia, in memory of his grandfather, Aylett B. Coleman, Sr., class of 1888. This scholarship is awarded to residents of Virginia who demonstrate financial need.

THE H. HAWES COLEMAN AND FRANCES FORD COLEMAN SCHOLARSHIP was established by Lt. Col. H. Hawes Coleman '25 in memory of his wife Frances Ford Coleman. Preference is given to students from Virginia and from Louisville, Kentucky.

THE C. BARRIE COOK SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1988 by Dr. C. Barrie Cook '45 of Fairfax, Virginia. Recipients are selected on the basis of their need of financial assistance and the promise of future service and usefulness to their community, and not necessarily on the basis of academic excellence. Preference is given to those who are planning careers which will be beneficial to others and to society in general.

THE CRAIGIE INCORPORATED SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1985 by a gift of the Officers and Employees of Craigie Incorporated, Investment Bankers, Richmond, Virginia. The scholarship is awarded to a deserving student at the discretion of the College.

THE THOMAS EDWARD CRAWLEY SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1995 in memory of Thomas Edward Crawley, Hampden-Sydney Class of 1941, who served the College for five decades as student, teacher, scholar, administrator, and musician. The scholarship is awarded, based on need and merit, to students of superior academic achievement who show promise of developing the kind of well-rounded life that Professor Crawley lived in his love for scholarship, music, art, and gardening.

THE CROCKETT-FLANNAGAN-WEAVER SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1994 by gifts from trustees, alumni, and friends. The fund honors Hampden-Sydney Alumni Dr. Charles L. (Buck) Crockett '42, William H. (Ham) Flannagan, Sr. '40, and Dr. Edgar N. Weaver, Sr. '39, for their contributions to the medical profession. This scholarship is awarded to students with financial need. Preference is given to those students who have demonstrated an intention to pursue a career in a medically related field.

Students should apply directly to The Norfolk Foundation, 406 Royster Building, Norfolk, Virginia 23510.

THE EDMUND MADISON CHITWOOD, JR., MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1985 by Dr. and Mrs. W. Randolph Chitwood, Jr. '68, and Dr. W. Randolph Chitwood, Sr. '41, in memory of their uncle and brother, Dr. Edmund Madison Chitwood, Jr. '43. This fund assists pre-medical students with financial need.

THE NELSON W. COE III MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1969 by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Coe in memory of Mr. Coe's brother, Nelson W. Coe III '59. Preference is given to students from either Westminster Presbyterian Church in Alexandria, Virginia, or Heritage United Presbyterian Church in Fairfax County, Virginia.

THE H. SPENCER EDMUNDS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1950 by the Second Presbyterian Church, Roanoke, Virginia, as a ministerial scholarship in memory of its former pastor, the Reverend Mr. H. Spencer Edmunds.

THE WILLIAM FITZGERALD MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS were established in 1968 by St. Giles Presbyterian Church, Richmond, Virginia. The scholarships are awarded to worthy upper-classmen with financial need who plan to enter church-related vocations.

THE GEORGE C. "CHIP" FREEMAN III MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS were established in 1974 in memory of George C. "Chip" Freeman III '76 by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Freeman, Jr. '52, and his brother, Douglas M. Freeman, and are funded by the George C. Freeman III Memorial Trust. The scholarship is administered by the Honors Council as part of the College's Merit Awards.

THE McGUIRE-BOYD SCHOLARSHIP has been funded through annual gifts since 1965 by Mr. James Nalle Boyd '58 and Mr. John Peyton McGuire Boyd '64 of Richmond, Virginia, in memory of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Boyd. The scholarship is administered by the Honors Council as part of the College's Merit Awards.

THE MISSIONARY EMERGENCY FUND SCHOLARSHIPS are funded by annual grants from The Missionary Emergency Fund to support students preparing for ministerial study.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SCHOLARSHIPS. In recognition of the historic and continuing ties between Hampden-Sydney and the Presbyterian Church, the Synod of the Virginias provides funds each year to be used for financial assistance to Presbyterians. The Church thereby supports the College in blending sound scholarship with the principles and practices of the Christian faith.

THE C. E. RICHARDSON BENEVOLENT FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIPS for students from the Pulaski area have been funded since 1985 through annual gifts from The C. E. Richardson Benevolent Foundation.

THE GLENN W. SMALL, JR., ANNUAL SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1985 by the Reverend Glenn W. Small, Jr. '63, and has been supplemented by gifts from his mother, Mrs. Glenn W. Small, Sr., and others. Preference is given to a deserving African-American student from the state of Georgia, and alternatively, to an African-American student from outside the state of Georgia. In the event that there are no African-American students who fit the criteria, the scholarship is then awarded to a student from Georgia. While financial need and academic merit are considerations when awarding the scholarship, they are not requirements.

THE ALGERNON SYDNEY SULLIVAN SCHOLARSHIPS have been provided by annual grants from the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Foundation of New York since 1936 in memory of Algernon Sydney Sullivan, founder and first president of the New York Southern Society.

THE LEONARD WESLEY TOPPING, SR., AND RUTH EVELYN WRIGHT TOPPING SCHOLARSHIP was established in 1991 by the Reverend Leonard Wesley Topping, Sr. '30, and his wife, Ruth Evelyn Wright Topping, of Charlotte, North Carolina. The scholarship is awarded to students who demonstrate financial need.

TROPHIES AND AWARDS PRESENTED AT GRADUATION

THE GAMMON CUP

Given annually in memory of Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, Class of 1905, pastor of College Church 1917-1923, and President of the College 1939-1955, to the member of the graduating class who has best served the College. Character, scholarship, and athletic ability are considered.

1997 Recipient: Cory M. Williams '97

THE ALGERNON SYDNEY SULLIVAN MEDALLION

Given annually in honor of its first president, Algernon Sydney Sullivan, by the New York Southern Society. This award is given to a member of the graduating class distinguished for excellence of character and generous service to his fellows. Other recipients may be chosen from those friends of the College who have been conspicuously helpful to the institution in its effort to encourage and preserve a high standard of morals.

1997 Recipients: Michael C. Patrick '97
John Neuner IV '97
Robert W. King Jr. '52

THE ANNA CARRINGTON HARRISON AWARD

Given annually to the junior or senior who has shown the most constructive leadership during the school year. The Harrison Award was established through the generosity of Mr. Frederick Nash Harrison of Richmond, Virginia, in memory of his mother.

1997 Recipient: Stephen T. Spraker '97

THE SAMUEL S. JONES PHI BETA KAPPA AWARD

Given by the Eta of Virginia Chapter in recognition of intellectual excellence. The award is made possible by the generosity of the alumnus, Class of 1943, whose name it bears.

1997 Recipient: Adam T. Talaber '97

THE CABELL AWARD

Given annually to "a Hampden-Sydney faculty member in recognition of outstanding classroom contribution to the education of Christian young men." The Cabell Award was created by the Robert G. Cabell III and Maude Morgan Cabell Foundation to assist the College in attracting and keeping professors of high ability and integrity.

1997 Recipient: Dr. Gerald M. Bryce

THE ROBERT THRUSTON HUBARD IV AWARD

Given annually in memory of Robert Thruston Hubard IV, a member of the Class of 1935 and a professor of political science from 1946 until 1982, to that member of the faculty or staff most distinguished for active devotion and service to the College and her ideals.

1997 Recipient: Candice J. Dowdy

THE THOMAS EDWARD CRAWLEY AWARD

Given in memory of Thomas Edward Crawley, Class of 1941, who served the College as teacher, scholar, musician, and dean from 1946 until 1984, to that professor most distinguished for devoted service to the ideals of Hampden-Sydney and the education of her sons.

1997 Recipient: James M. Schiffer

THE FUQUA TEACHING AWARDS

A distinguished former member of the Hampden-Sydney College Board of Trustees, Mr. J. B. Fuqua established the Fuqua Teaching Awards to recognize annually five superior classroom teachers. The winners are selected by the members of the previous two graduating classes at Hampden-Sydney College.

1997 Recipients: Dr. Victor N. Cabas Jr.
Dr. David W. Gibson
Dr. Amos L. Laine
Dr. Kenneth D. Lehman
Dr. James Y. Simms

THE SENIOR CLASS AWARD

Given by the Senior Class at Commencement to a member of the College's faculty, administration, or staff who in the eyes of the Class members has contributed during their four years most significantly to the College, her students, and the community.

1997 Recipient: Dr. Ralph S. Hattox
